UNC Material Better, Coach Tells Alumni

The University of North Carolina's football team next fall will have better material but less experience than the 1967 team, Bill Dooley, told a group of Carolina Supporters at a steak supper at the Henderson Country Club on last Friday night.

The supper, promoted by Dawson Alston of Warrenton, a member of the Educational Foundation, Inc., was attended by 50-odd persons from Warren, Vance, Granville, Franklin and Halifax counties, North Carolina, and Brunswick County, Va.

Dooley, introduced by Marshall Cooper of Henderson, divided his short talk into three sections and answered questions about the team and several of its members following his talk. Pointing out that the University of North Carolina had had only three winning seasons in 19 years, Dooley said that it can be definitely said that North Carolina is still in the rebuilding stage. There is no way, he said, to rebuild a football team in one year. He said that while the team of 1967 did not have the material to make a great football team, he was proud of the effort given by the players in every game. The players, losing game after game, which would have demoralized a lesser team, never lost heart. They gave their best, Dooley said, and a coach has no right to ask more.

Dooley said that he is well pleased with the results of this year's recruiting efforts and that several fine prospects have signed with the University. A great aid in recruiting he said is the beauty of the campus of the University of North Carolina, its high academic standing and the prestige of the school.

The 1968 football team will have better material, but half the players will be sophomores and thus the team will lack experience. State, Wake Forest and Clemson, he said, are more fortunate in this respect, as they not only lost few players but have a large number of players who had been "red shirted" (held over for another year's eligibility). State, he said, has 37 of those players. North Carolina, he said, was so short of material last year that it was unable to "red shirt" any of its players.

The loyalty of the alumni and the support of the Educational Foundation are both amazing and highly gratifying in the face of so many losing seasons, Dooley said. He said that North Carolina has much going for it in a loyal alumni body, a prestigious school, a beautiful campus, and that it will only be a matter of time until North Carolina will again be a football power. He said that it is highly gratifying that so many of the players recruited are North Carolina and Virginia boys.

Dooley said that he was glad to see Gordon Hathcock of Warrenton among those present and praised the character and ability of Gordon Hathcock, Jr., as a University football player before his untimely death.

Dawson Alston served as master of ceremonies and following Dooley's talk, introduced Ernie Williams, executive secretary of the Educational Foundation, Inc., who expressed his gratitude for the fine recruiting season enjoyed by the University, in basketball as well as football.

Present at the meeting from the University, but not speaking, was Jim Carmody, a defense line coach and recruiter in this section.

Following the talks, a drawing for a football autographed by many of the great players of the University was held. This was won by Jimmy Crawford of Oxford.

Among those attending the dinner from Warrenton were Dawson Alston, Tom Burton, Jim Beckwith, Bigall Jones, Hugh Holt, Al Williams, Gordon Hathcock, A. C. Blalock, John Mitchell, W. A. Miles, Allen Tucker, Monroe Gardner and Charles M. White, III. Attending from Hollister were Carlton Qualls, Jimmy Qualls and Jacky Crawley.

Warren DAR Chapter Meets At Colonial Lodge

(Omitted last week)

The Warren County Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met at Colonial Lodge on Saturday, May 4, with Mesdames W. R. Woodall, Clyde Rodwell, H. R. Geddie, Charles Johnson, Raymond Harris, G. D. Horne and J. Milton Stokes as hostesses. Beautiful red roses and other spring flowers were used as decorations. Following a three-course luncheon, the meeting was called to order by the regent, Mrs. J. E. Rooker, Jr.

After the opening exercises, including the DAR ritual, led by Mrs. J. M. Stokes, the DAR Hymn was sung with Mrs. Charles Johnson as accompanist. Reports were made by Miss Mary Frances Rodwell, secretary pro-tem; Mrs. C. P. Allen, treasurer; Mrs. W. R. Woodall, chairman for Crossnore School, and Mrs. J. M. Stokes, Good Citizens chairman.

The chapter voted to change the annual dues from $5.00 to $7.00, and Mrs. Woodall gratefully acknowledged Mrs. Graham Boyd's gift of men's clothing for Crossnore. Mrs. Stokes said that the 1968-69 Good Citizens would be selected in May and their names announced at a later date.

Mrs. Graham stressed the importance of "Junior Memberships"—young women, ages 18-35—and a motion was made and carried that the names of prospective junior members, and other young women, interested in promoting the Historical, Educational and Patriotic (HEP) purposes of the National Society, be given to the chapter regent before June 1.

The chapter voted to sponsor a bake sale in October.

The three-aid program was presented by Mrs. Arthur Williams, Mrs. Allen Tucker and Mrs. Graham.

Mrs. Williams, reading an article on National Defense, used a Feb. 1968 reprint from "Navy—the Magazine of Sea Power." The "Pueblo Affair" was the subject and a quote from the editorial said in part: "North Korea's seizure of the USS Pueblo and its 83-man crew, in international waters off the port of Wonsan last month, is a sad and humiliating event . . . one central fact is clear and admitted . . . no help was sped to the lightly armed Pueblo . . . failure to react rapidly has hurt America's prestige and reputation."

The editorial, written in great detail, also said: "But this is only one facet of the debacle off Wonsan—another, the drainage of our strength at home and around the world is too high a risk for national security . . . steps, needed to rebuild our conventional military strength—side Vietnam means more ships, more aircraft, more guns and more men."

Mrs. Williams then read the closing sentence of the editorial: "To speed the process along, we hope the preparedness sub-committee will hold exhaustive hearings on the Pueblo affair when the proper time comes."

Mrs. Williams then called attention to an article in "The National Defender" (April 1968) which said, "The Vietnam War will be brought to an end far sooner if the U. S. applied economic sanctions against countries and individuals supplying North Vietnam with means of war . . . it should be done now."

The second part of the program, presented by Mrs. Allen Tucker, was an interesting article on the Hezekiah Alexander House, erected in 1774 in Mecklenburg County, N. C., and now being restored by the Charlotte DAR Chapters. Hezekiah Alexander, she said, was one of the prime agitators in the movement for independence. One of his brothers acted as secretary of the committee which drew up the resolutions and six of the 27 men who signed it bore the name of Alexander. Some 14 months later, Thomas Jefferson of Virginia used the same words in the Declaration of Independence of July 1776.

The third part of the program was a report by Mrs. Graham of the 77th Continental Congress, or national meeting, held on April 15-19 in Washington, D. C., with some 4000 DAR members in attendance. "Election Year," she said, made it an exciting occasion.

Elected as President General was Mrs. Edwin F. Seimes of Delaware, a woman of many talents and business ability. As Vice President General, she was chairman of "Building and Grounds Committee" when "Constitution Hall," one of the world's great, large auditoriums for music, was remodeled, redecorated and air-conditioned at a cost of $315,000 of which $170,000 was paid in 15 months.

Mrs. Graham reported that the 26 rooms at the headquarters of the Society, which are named for and maintained by State DAR Societies, now include the Wisconsin Room, representing the life of 300 years ago. On April 14, the National Society sponsored an interesting presentation of nine pieces of the Harding Administration glassware to the Executive Mansion by the Harding Memorial Association of Ohio. It was Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, Mrs. Graham said, who was first President General and who helped to start the White House china and crystal collection—of which the nine pieces will now be a part.

DAR membership, Mrs. Graham said, is now at a new all-time high—188,093 with one-third young women under 35—the Junior Members.

Elected as National Good Citizen was Sue Ellen Iddings of Raleigh, who won the $1,000 award. The second annual History Scholarship of $8,000 was given to a high school senior, Thomas Carl Crumpler. Fourteen resolutions were presented and passed at the National meeting, including one on lawlessness and the nuclear proliferation treaty (both dangerous to U. S. security, Mrs. Graham said.)

Speakers for the meeting included Pennsylvania Superior Court Judge J. Sydney Hofman who told the Daughters to "increase your horizons of understanding people"; to redouble their efforts to keep democracy alive, and to increase their membership 10% percent to work as a force against insidious influences in our country today that would like to change our form of government.

Another speaker, Mrs. Graham said, was a retired foreign service officer, Richard Sanger, who told the DAR women, "You have a great role to play in this period of civil disturbance." He said they should watch (1) disintegration of the elite, as leaders drop out of government because they do not approve of policies; (2) desertion of intellectuals as writers, professors and students oppose the way things are going; (3) breakdown in law and order and in public safety, and (4) insurgency to the zealous work of communist organizers and agitators. Mr. Sanger, she reported, did not anticipate the overthrow of the U. S. government, nor "the breaking off of a section of the Nation," but said "The period of violence (insurgency) will continue."

Before the Continental Congress adjourned its 1968 sessions, medals of honor were presented to the outgoing President General, Mrs. William H. Sullivan of New York, and to Miss Mary Rose Hall, editor of the Society publication, "The DAR Magazine."

District UDC Meeting To Be Held At Raleigh

District Eight of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will hold its next annual meeting in Raleigh.

This was decided at the district's annual meeting recently held at Spring Hope when the members voted to accept the invitation of Mrs. B. Moore Parker to meet with the Johnston-Pettigrew Chapter in Raleigh next year.

The Spring Hope meeting called attention to the 50th birthday of the organization and a festive air was lent to the occasion by many of the members wearing ante-bellum costumes.

Over 80 persons were registered for the event which made the Spring Hope gathering the second largest district meeting for the UDC this year.

The presentation of a Cross of Military Service to Lynn Williams Korean War veteran from Justice in Franklin County, and memorials for deceased members of the host chapter highlighted the Saturday meeting.

The Cross of Military Service is awarded only to those veterans who have served with distinction and who are lineal descendants of a veteran of the War Between the States.

Among reports given were those from Mrs. Alton Batts of Wilson, historian, who said that 75 papers for new members had been processed this year; and from Mrs. B. G. Morgan who stated that the Cross of Military Service has been approved for 30 persons this time.

The state president, Mrs. Seippel, in her address to the group, cited many of this region and people.

Mrs. Douglas Duke of Norlina gave her report for the Warren County Chapter and Miss Pam Powell and Miss Livvie Overby gave the report for the Warren County Chapter of the Children of the Confederacy. They were accompanied to Spring Hope by Mrs. V. T. Lamm.
