Saturday, Oct. 26, Is Last Day For Citizens To Register In Warren

Saturday, Oct. 26, is the final day for registering for the General Election of Nov. 5, Paul Lancaster, chairman of the Warren County Board of Elections, pointed out yesterday.

The following Saturday, Nov. 2, will be challenge day. Warren County has called for a new registration and Lancaster pointed out that those who do not register or re-register will be unable to vote in the General Election. The county has discarded the old registration books and has adopted a new loose-leaf system.

Lancaster said yesterday that around 3700 persons had already registered, but the Board of Elections had hoped that around 6,000 persons would place their names on the registration books. He said that citizens may register at the homes of the registrars prior to Saturday, Oct. 26, at 5 o'clock, but that time no more names would be placed on the registration books.

The regular polling places used in the Primary will be used in the General Election with two exceptions. Lancaster said that the polling place in Smith Creek Precinct would be moved to Paynter's Store at Oline, and that the polling place in River Precinct would be changed from the old Littleton Observer office to the Littleton Florist's Shop.

All registrars, he said, will be the same with one exception. Eugene Wilson has resigned as West Warrenton registrar and Harry Williams, Sr., has been named as his successor. The polling places and registrars are as follows:

River—Mrs. Rebbe Reid.
Sixpound—Mrs. Edna Harris.

Hawtree—Luther Stegall.
Nubush—Morris Fleming, Jr.
Smith Creek—M. F. Hayes.
Shocco—W. L. Fuller.
Sandy Creek—L. A. Ayscue.
Jenkins—J. M. Overby.
West Warrenton—Harry Williams, Sr.
Fork—Harry Williams, Jr.
Roanoke—L. W. Kidd.
Norlina—Mrs. Julia Stokes.
East Warrenton—Leonard Rudd.
Fishing Creek—Mrs. Hazel B. Harris.

Jaycees Urge Warren Citizens To Register

The Warren County Chapter of the Junior Chamber of Commerce this week urged all eligible citizens to register Saturday, Oct. 26, as this will be the last day that the registration books will be open for the Nov. 5 general election. The following Saturday will be challenge day.

Franklin D. Daniel, Jaycee president, pointed out that Warren County has a new registration this year and that those who fail to have their names placed on the registration books will be unable to vote in an extremely important election. In a democracy, he said, our liberties must be protected through the ballot box.

Mrs. Clyde Whitford, executive secretary, announced that a 9-day X-ray survey would be held at the Health Department, beginning on Nov. 5 and continuing through Nov. 8, for follow-up on all contacts, arrested TB patients and people with other chest diseases. On Nov. 12 through Nov. 15 X-rays will be available to the general public.

Mrs. Whitford also reported two new far advanced cases of TB were admitted to the Eastern North Carolina Sanatorium last week.

The funds of the TB Association are received from the people of Warren County through the Christmas Seal sale.

Plans for the opening of the 62nd Christmas Seal Sale were discussed. The official opening date will be Nov. 12.

Private Businessmen's Club Planned For Henderson

A private club for business and professional men of the Henderson area is expected to open in Henderson about Nov. 15, Peyton B. Rogers of Warrenton, executive secretary of the club said yesterday.

The new club will be located in the building formerly occupied by the Little Giant on the Norlina Highway and will consist of a main ball room, a main dining room, and several small rooms for games and recreation.

Rogers said the club will fill a need in the Henderson social life as well as help attract to the Henderson area new industries whose executives are interested in social activities and facilities in this area. The club is expected to attract bankers, attorneys, doctors, educators, business and insurance executives, city employees, real estate brokers, and many others. Membership will be open to men outside the Henderson area.

Rogers said plans for opening the Henderson club were formulated after businessmen interested visited similar clubs in Raleigh, Durham, Richmond, Va., and Charlotte. Surveys have shown there is a need for such a club in Henderson and everyone he has approached has been highly enthusiastic, Rogers said.

The club will probably accept around 300 members whose applications for membership will be voted on by the board of directors. Cost for membership has not yet been determined, but Rogers said initiation fees and dues will be substantially less than the average civic club.

Daylight Time To End Oct. 27

Daylight time which has been observed over most of the country since the last Sunday of April will officially end on the last Sunday this month, Oct. 27.

At that time, clocks will be turned back an hour at 2 a. m., and the hour lost when clocks were turned forward an hour Sunday, April 28, will be returned. Whereas an hour of sleep was lost last April, it will be added the last Sunday in this month.

Daylight time was enacted by Congress, but with the provision that any State could exempt itself if so desired. Nearly all States went along. Many already were observing daylight time during the late spring and summer and early autumn months. Any State refusing to go along had to act through its Legislature, and the North Carolina Legislature did not vote on the proposal at all. That placed the State under daylight time.

While many people opposed the innovation apparently a majority were favorable, which reflected in the refusal of the lawmakers to act.

Rescue Squad Endorses No Candidate

The Warren County Rescue Squad has not endorsed any candidate for support in the Nov. 5 election, Capt. W. A. (Bill) Reid said yesterday.

The squad was organized to be of service to the general public and has to depend on the public for much of their finances through such projects as the food booth at the fair, Reid said. For this reason it would leave a bad taste with the general public for the organization to endorse any specific candidate.

Reid's statement was in reply to an article in the Oct. 13 Sunday edition of The News and Observer which left the impression that the squad had pledged its support to Jim Gardner, Republican candidate for Governor, who had dinner at the squad's food booth in the Littleton Fair Grounds.

Reid said that it is quite possible that an individual member of the squad made such a remark to the effect that he was supporting Gardner. He said that Jack Childs, staff writer of The News and Observer, phrased his article to imply that the entire squad was supporting Gardner. He said that members of the squad feel that the incident was very unfortunate, giving them adverse publicity.

Minutes of the Rescue Squad note that the squad has not and will not endorse any one political candidate.

Capt. Reid told the squad at its Monday night meeting, when he brought the matter to the members attention, that the organization certainly had not become such a dictatorial organization as to tell its members for whom they should vote.

"This is a decision which each citizen has his own right to make," he said.

Warrenton Man Elected President Of Vicore

Charles Winston Shearin, a former resident of Warrenton, has recently been elected president of Vicore, Inc., a company headquartered in Washington, D. C., whose line of business is teaching improved reading techniques.

The name "Vicore" is derived from the first letters of "visual conceptual reading," a key phrase in the technique of reading which Vicore teaches to students and teachers in public and private schools, to government and military personnel, and to businessmen.

Although Vicore's work of teaching improved reading and study methods had been concentrated in the Washington metropolitan area, it has also offered its courses in Chicago, Miami, Philadelphia, and other major cities. Vicore has expanded its operation through forming a subsidiary non-profit corporation that will be occupied exclusively with research in the development of reading skills. The company anticipates expanding into Canada in January of next year.

Shearin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy V. Shearin of Warrenton and a graduate of John Graham High School. He received his Bachelor of Science degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where he was a member of the mathematics honorary Pi Mu Epsilon. Shearin was awarded National Science Foundation grants for advanced study at The American University of Maryland. He received a master's degree in education from The American University.

SHEARIN

After serving for four years on the mathematics faculty of Hammond High School in Alexandria, Shearin was invited in 1966 to join the teaching honorarium Phi Delta Kappa. He was also selected by the Washington Academy of Sciences as a recipient of its Outstanding Teacher Award for 1966.

Shearin is married to the former Miss Virginia Lucas of Martinsville, Va. They reside in Springfield, Va., where Mrs. Shearin teaches Spanish at West Springfield High School.

Water And Sewer Lines Are Needed

The Town of Warrenton will apply for a 50 percent-of-cost grant to extend water mains and sewer lines to an industrial park a short distance north of the town.

A group of business men and county and town officials met with the town commissioners and Charles Edwards, N. C. coordinator for the Economic Development Commission, and William E. Davis of Huntington, W. Va., midwestern director of EDC, at the town hall on Tuesday morning to discuss the needs for a federal grant and to prepare papers for filing the request.

Also present was John Edwards, engineer for the Town of Warrenton, who will work up a cost sheet for the project.

Half the cost of the project will be borne jointly by county and town, it was reported at the meeting.

Frank W. Reams, industrial director for Warren County, told the EDC officials of the need for extending water and sewer lines to the park if Warrenton and Warren County is to receive needed industry. He said that the county has received some excellent prospects for industry near the town. If they are to come here, he said, they must have a site with water and sewage.

Reams also pointed out the advantages that Warren County has to offer industry because of its excellent transportation facilities. The park site, he pointed out, is on the railroad, and lies between Interstate Highway Nos. 85 and 95.

Davis pointed out that if many other industries should be located here that it would be necessary to erect a second water tank in the northern part of town to provide pressure and fire protection. However, it is not expected that a grant will be asked for a second tank at this time as local officials feel that the present storage facilities are ample at the present time. Warrenton has a 150,000-gallon elevated tank plus a 100,000-gallon reservoir.

Mayor W. A. Miles presided over the meeting. Among those present other than the commissioners were General C. T. Bowers, Attorneys Charles Johnson, Frank Banzet and Jules Banzet, Selby Benton, president of the Bute Development Commission, and Monroe Gardner, a director of the commission; Palmer King of the Health Department, Pett B. Boyd, president of the Citizens Bank, and Bignall Jones, representing The Warren Record.
