Beach-Bound? Take Along A Terry

It's that time of year when sandy white beaches and the soothing sound of the surf are no longer idle winter dreams but delightful summer realities.

If you plan to be a summer '70 siren, rest assured. While you were dreaming of a whole summer of sun days, sportswear designers were working to make those dreams come true in style. What they've come up with is enough to make any career girl leave her typewriter and head for the beach.

This year you can leave your beach towel at home, unless you want to sit on it. Summer's most smashing sportswear looks are decked out in carefree cotton terry—a fabric known for its ability to soak up moisture as well as fashion.

The newest terris shape up in bold stripes and luscious solids for pull-on flare-leg pants, scooter skirts, short shorts, breezy midriffs, and classic tank tops. In lighter weights and soft, fine textures, they have a new-found style and zip that make getting dry after a swim a luxurious experience.

Designers see the new cotton terry fashions as part of the whole new approach to soft casual clothes for every hour of the day. Some predict they'll be worn away from the beach for twilight and evening hours as well as day.

So be advised: if you want to vacation in style, take along a terry.

STYLISH SANDPIPER—Cotton terry shapes a brief midriff top and long flare-leg pants for the fashionable beach-comber. Ideal for luxurious lounging on the sand after a swim, the outfit comes in white, navy, yellow, blue, red, or driftwood. It's by White Stag.

THE NEWEST—Pairing up with a scooped midriff top are "girl shorts"—versatile pull-ons that are shorts in front and a skirt in back. In multi-colored stripes of cotton terry, both are by White Stag.

SEASIDE STRIPES—Bright multi-color stripes give added zing to the classic tank top and short shorts in carefree cotton terry. Styled by White Stag, the outfit lets midriffs soak up the sun in high fashion.
