Tax Listing Changed Favored By Jones

A change in the method of listing taxes is favored by W. Peete Jones, chairman of the Warren County Board of Commissioners.

Jones told the commissioners at their regular meeting here Monday that instead of having taxes listed during January each year in each township he would have all taxes listed at Warrenton during the months of January, February and March. This, he said, would provide for more uniform listing, be more convenient to taxpayers, and would save the county money.

The chairman's remarks were triggered by the appearance of Lowell Harris of Grove Hill before the board to ask for more privacy for those listing their taxes and more comfortable surroundings for the listtakers. He said that he thought those listing are entitled to privacy and that privacy would result in more efficient listing. As for the listtakers, he said a hard chair could become mighty hard before the end of a day's work.

Mr. Harris was also critical of certain highway construction practices in his neighborhood. He said he feels it inexcusable for the state to have hard-surfaced the road to Reedy Creek Baptist Church and failed to continue it for some two-miles further in order to avoid a missing link.

Mr. Harris was one of several who appeared before the board in regard to improvements for their roads. Among these were Mrs. Mable Branch and Mrs. Viola Spruill, with Mrs. Branch acting as spokesman. They wanted the Grove Hill to Embro road, a distance of three miles, re-stabilized. She said that the gravel placed on the road by the state was all gone.

Rosa Russell wanted her road pulled for a short distance. She said her road was not a part of the state system, but that she would get the gravel if the state would just pull the road up for her. Chairman Jones said he would see County Supervisor Beddingfield in her behalf.

The State has agreed to add the Jeannie Perry Road below Inez to the county system, but had to hold up the work when one property owner refused to give the right-of-way, but agreed to sell it for $1000. The state wanted to know what action was being taken. Chairman Jones said he would talk to the owner about it. The land belonged to Ernest Boyd Harris.

County Manager Charles Hayes told the commissioners that Mrs. Walter Bender had telephoned him that morning about the condition of the road leading to her place. He said she was incensed over the treatment she alleged she has received from the State Highway Commission.

County Extension Chairman L. B. Hardage and Agricultural Extension Agent L. C. Cooper appeared before the board at the beginning of the session to make their monthly reports.

Frank Twitty, Dog Warden, reported that he picked up 98 dogs during January; killed 86, sold 4, gave away 4, and had 4 on hand. He reported that he travelled 2106.1 miles and his cost of operation was $752.66.

A. P. Rodwell, Jr., Tax Collector, reported that he collected $167,740.97 in January, making total collections for 1975-76 in the amount of $738,144.80 being 84.8% of collections.

Manager Hayes reported that work on revaluation appears to be on schedule.

Mrs. Jimmie Elams was instructed to sell a surplus sofa at the Warren County Health Department.

Manager Hayes gave a brief report on the fiscal condition of the county at the end of six months operation.

The North Carolina Division of Health Services strongly supports local needs assessment hearings on programs under the supervision of the department the board was informed.

Among these services are Division of Social Services, Division of Mental Health Services, Division of Services for the Blind, Regional Personnel Services, Family Planning Programs, Title XX Programs, other Human Service Programs, Division of Health Services, Division of Youth Services (former Juvenile Corrections), Division of Vocational Rehabilitation Services, Office for Children (including Developmentally Disabled), Aging Programs, and United Ways.

Robert L. Lichtenhan, chairman of the Regional Coordination Council, in a letter to County Manager Hayes pointed out that such local hearings would provide an opportunity for a degree of local detail and input which may be precluded at the larger regional hearings to be held to be conducted by the Department of Human Resources later this spring. These hearings should provide considerable usable information to county government, as well as to other local or state agencies and we encourage your favorable response to holding county hearings.

When Hayes submitted this information to the commissioners they expressed themselves as being in favor of public hearings, but said they favored combined hearings instead of a large number of individual hearings.

Frank Ballance, chairman of the Warren County Election Board appeared before the commissioners in regard to the remuneration of the board's executive secretary. Ballance said that the state requires a salary of $20 a day, but that he would prefer a salary of $300 a month, with fringe benefits, such as Blue Cross, Blue Shield, a retirement fund.

Ballance also said that he feels that the County should adopt a Hiring Policy, and that notice of vacancies to be filled should be advertised by the board prior to any hiring. "Often," he said, "positions are filled before the public knows they are vacant."

The commissioners took no immediate action on either request.

Students To Collect For Goodwill Co.

Warren County students will participate in a discard collection February 11-18 to collect donations of useable clothing, shoes, toys, and small appliances for Goodwill Industries.

The discards make available vocational training and jobs for the handicapped persons, who clean, repair and sell the items in the Goodwill Stores. Much of the money received from sales of the merchandise goes to the handicapped as wages.

Students, with the help of parents, will be filling Goodwill bags. Articles gathering dust in the attic of homes of citizens of this area will be helping a disabled person to get a new lease on life by giving him a means of vocational therapy, a spokesman for Goodwill Industries, a charitable, non-profit agency, said.
