Area Students Win Association Seats

Fourteen area students have been selected by their classmates as representatives in the Student Government Association at Vance-Granville Community College. Students in each curriculum program elected representatives to the SGA Senate, Social Committee and Intramural Council.

Area students elected to the SGA Senate are Edward Conn, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Conn, Warrenton, representing the Criminal Justice Technology Program; Garland Alston, a resident of Warrenton, College Transfer Program; and Francine Alston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Alston, Norlina, General Office Technology.

Students from the area serving on the Social Committee include: Doris Cooper, daughter of Annie C. Robinson, Warrenton, representing the Special Education Associate Program; Carolyn Jones, daughter of James C. Jones, Norlina, General Office Technology; Frank Gustkey, a resident of Wise, Electrical Installation; John Banks, son of Annie Banks, Macon, Welding; and Patsy Rooker, daughter of J. Thomas Burton, Norlina, Accounting.

Members from the area selected to serve on the Intramural Council include: Leonard Hill, son of Mrs. Lorraine Davis, Warrenton, representing the Electronics Servicing Program; Gene Ranes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ranes, Warrenton, Criminal Justice Technology; Doreatha Townes, daughter of Mrs. Alliebeth Townes, Manson, General Office Technology; Ricky Lynch, son of Revis Lynch,

The SGA is the voice of students attending VGCC. Through the organization, students can promote and supervise organizations and activities and maintain an atmosphere of free discussion, inquiry and self-expression.

The Student Senate formulates and adopts rules and standards pertaining to student conduct and student affairs. The group also approves funds for SGA activities.

Representatives of the Social Committee plan social activities, and those in the Intramural Council plan intramural competition.

TODAY'S LIFE-STYLE calls for a home decorating style that's easy-care and casual.

There's good news for people who like to keep up-to-date in both style and savings. The trend today in home decor is inexpensive, casual and easy-care.

This means that small changes, such as mood lighting and a few plants, may make all the difference in your home. If you're interested in more, you'll probably be pleased to know that today's casual furniture is multi-functional, takes less space, less money and less time for cleaning than in the past.

According to one decorating expert, Dave Farrar, national home furnishings coordinator for Montgomery Ward, today's home atmosphere satisfies the individual tastes of the persons living in that atmosphere. Now that more people are entertaining at home, homes are becoming more entertaining, and popular pieces include lots of earthtone colors and exposed wood surfaces. Fabrics are often of natural fibers and in natural colors.

Modular pit groups are particularly popular. They can serve as sofas, sleeping units and relaxation areas for casual conversation. Wall units become bookshelves, bars, desks and storage areas all at the same time.

In the bedroom, casual furnishings may take a romantic turn through the use of batik-like floral prints, a bed dressed with comforters, wicker furniture and hardy indoor-outdoor carpeting in earth colors.

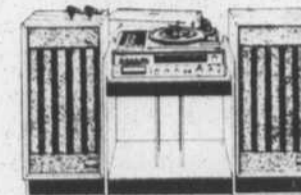

All this helps a home have an unrestricted, easy-to-relax-in atmosphere that's both warm and welcoming.
