

Pedestrian Is Killed On Sunday

Warren County recorded its second traffic fatality of 1980 early Sunday morning when a pedestrian was struck and killed in the Liberia Community.

The victim was identified as Al Smith Powell, 31, of Rt. 3, Warrenton, who was struck about 2 a. m. Sunday on N. C. 43 some five miles south of Warrenton. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Warren General Hospital.

Trooper B. R. Pope said Powell walked in front of a northbound auto driven by Calvin Ray Massenburg, 26, of Rt. 1, Nashville. No charges were preferred.

Massenburg told Pope that he tried to stop for Powell, but was unable to do so. Damage to the car was placed at $200. The car was owned by David Lee Richardson of Rt. 2, Whitakers.

Loss Heavy
Damages totalling $8,000 had been reported in a single-car accident reported at 9 p. m. Saturday. Trooper Pope said.

A 1980 Monza operated by Darnell Keith Bullock, 23, of Rt. 2, Macon, skidded on slick pavement and went out of control on a rural paved road a mile and one-half south of Macon, Pope said.

Bullock was unhurt as his car left the road, struck a ditch bank and overturned. He was charged with exceeding a safe speed. Bullock was alone at the time of the wreck, Pope said.

Annual Indian Pow-Wow Scheduled This Weekend

The Haliwa-Saponi Tribe will hold its 15th Annual Pow-Wow on April 18-19, at the original site of the Haliwa Indian School near Hollister. Chief W. R. Richardson will be Master of Ceremonies.

The Main Event will be held on Saturday, April 19, beginning at 11 a. m. The guest speaker will be Thomas (Tom) Oxendine, Public Information Officer, Bureau of Indian Affairs, Washington, D. C.

Chief Oxendine, a member of the Lumbee Tribe, was born on Dec. 22, 1922. He is a member of the National Congress of American Indians, a member of the National Aviation Club, and a member of the National Press Club.

He was educated at Cherokee Indian Normal High School at Pembroke, and attended Pembroke State College for Indians (now Pembroke University.) He received his AB degree from Pembroke State College, where he majored in Social Science, and a minor in Physical Education in 1948. In 1949-1950 he attended the University of Southern California at Los Angeles, Calif., where he completed additional undergraduate physical education courses. He attended Pembroke State College in 1950 where he completed courses required for teaching certification; and graduated from Armed Forces Information School in 1966.

He served in the United States Navy from 1942-1947 as Naval Aviator in World War II; faculty member and coach at Pembroke High School from Sept. 1950 to April 1951. He was a Navy Jet Fighter Pilot in various squadrons from April 1951 to Jan. 1960, and held various other commands with the Navy from 1960 to June 1970. He was Public Information Officer, Bureau of Indian Affairs, from Nov. 1970 until the present.

McGowan Named To Replace Ed White As Town Officer

The Warrenton Board of Town Commissioners at its regular meeting Monday night approved the employment of Mac McGowan, a former local police officer, to replace Officer Ed White who resigned effective April 17 after serving with the Warrenton Police Department for 10 years.

All commissioners were present except Commissioner Charles M. White, III, who was a patient in a hospital.

The Board in voting to accept the resignation of Officer White instructed the Town Administrator to

Candidates To Gather Friday

The Warren County Democratic Executive Committee and the Warren County Democratic Women will co-sponsor a "Meet the Candidates Dinner" on Friday, April 18, at 7 p. m. at the Mariam Boyd School in Warrenton.

Tickets are $5 each and may be purchased from any precinct chairman or from Anna Butler, tickets chairman. A barbecue and Brunswick stew plate will be served, with proceeds going to the Warren County Democratic Party.

"This dinner is always an exciting occasion," Mrs. Butler said, "and provides the only opportunity many of our voters will have to meet state and local candidates prior to the May Primary."

Voter Info Released

A total of 7,960 Warren County voters are now eligible to take part in local elections, a spokesman for the Warren County Board of Elections said this week.

The breakdown of county voters eligible to participate was put together after the close of registration books on April 8.

There are now 3,645 white voters and 4,110 black voters in Warren County. Another 205 are labeled Indian or other racial groups.

Shown in the breakdown are 7,390 Democrats, 512 Republicans, 57 unaffiliated and one Libertarian. There are now 4,297 registered females and 3,663 registered males.

In addition to Indian Dancing, Chief Richardson said yesterday, the program will include crowning the New Princess, Pony Parade, Crafts and Trader Booth, $20 restricted to Indians, refreshments for sale, and plenty of space for camping.

A Pow-Wow Movie Special, "Flap," will be presented on Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

Chief Richardson said that the public is invited to attend all the events.

Ready For Commissioners

Budget Requests Completed By Local Education Board

The Warren County Board of Education will ask county commissioners for $971,683 in current expenses to help operate the Warren County schools during the 1980-81 year.

This was decided Monday night as members of the Board of Education met in regular session at the administration building. The Board has until May 1 to give budget request figures to commissioners.

Inflation and requests for a significant salary increase for all employees are responsible for this portion of the over-all budget increasing this year, Superintendent of Schools Mike Williams told board members.

Last year the school board asked for $697,683 in current expenses, and received $664,563.

New items appearing in this year's current expense budget are two music teachers for the elementary grades, an increase in teacher supplements from $150 to $200, an increase in the number of locally paid teachers to compensate for an anticipated reduction in the allotment of state-paid teachers, and an increase in principal's supplements.

Other new items include the employment of the principal for the new high school for six months prior to the opening of school, making all school secretary positions for 12 months, providing a part-time clerical assistant for the two schools with junior high grades and providing funds to reward schools that make significant contributions to the energy conservation program. All told, new budget items in this section amount to $104,000.

Commissioners will also be asked to provide $357,682 in capital outlay funds. Last year the board asked for $243,730, and only received $70,000, according to a report submitted to board members by Superintendent Williams.

In other action taken Monday night, the board:

Approved a request from Mrs. Bennie P. Collier that her daughter, Stacey, be allowed to enroll in kindergarten at Mariam Boyd School this fall provided there is space available.

Acknowledged the retirements of Mabel Algood, cafeteria worker at Mariam Boyd; John L. Manson, custodian at Norlina; Mildred Hinton, custodian at Norlina; and Mary D. Williams, teacher at Vaughan Elementary School.

Accepted the resignations of Christy H. Bolton, a clerical assistant at Norlina and Downey Pointer, a teacher at Norlina.

Approved the employment of Barbara P. Alston, cafeteria worker at Mariam Boyd and Nancy Craig, aide at Mariam Boyd.

Approved a request that Bessie Hicks be granted permission to continue teaching at Norlina beyond the suggested mandatory age for retirement.

Volunteer Hospital Workers Observe First Anniversary

The volunteer services organization, which has provided visitor control at Warren General Hospital for the past year, celebrated its first birthday last Saturday.

Some 50 of the organization's 90 volunteer participants gathered at the Fellowship Hall of the Warrenton Baptist Church to recognize the event and plan for a second year of service.

A luncheon, complete with birthday cake, was a part of the anniversary observance. Following the luncheon and preceding a business meeting, Marion Hull, volunteer coordinator, accepted an engraved plaque recognizing the organization's contribution of 3500 volunteer hours to the hospital.

Presenting the plaque, Hospital Administrator George Fleming emphasized that he was acting on behalf of a deeply appreciative hospital staff. "Visitor control services you provide are beneficial to our patients and to each hospital department in making the job easier," he said. "This is the staff's way of saying, 'Thank you!'"

At its business meeting, the volunteer organization decided to continue with its present leadership. Mrs. Hull will continue to coordinate volunteer services and provide interface with hospital administration.

Talking about the group's brief history and accomplishments, Mrs. Hull cited the extensive organizational efforts of Margo Lennon, Virginia Andersen and Hatie Bowers in pulling the group together.

"Early on," Mrs. Hull said, "the volunteers elected to identify themselves with distinctive pink smocks"

House Speaker

Pays Visit Here

House speaker Carl Stewart was in Warrenton Tuesday afternoon in the interest of his candidacy for Lieutenant Governor of North Carolina.

He was accompanied to Warrenton by Charles Blackburn of Henderson and R. L. Adams, members of his campaign staff.

Norlina Lay Witness Mission Will Be Led By J. D. Teachey

Joseph (J. D.) Teachey, Jr., of Wallace, along with a team of men, women and young people from all over North Carolina, will lead the Norlina United Methodist Lay Witness Mission, "Rally Around Jesus," on April 18-20. Visitors are invited to participate in the important event, a church spokesman said yesterday.

Mr. Teachey is a member of the Wallace United Methodist Church and has served his church in many capacities, including Sunday school teacher, chairman of the Council on Ministries, lay leader and chairman of evangelism. He is certified as a lay speaker and a lay evangelist and is a member of the National Association of United Methodist Evangelists.

He is currently serving on the N. C. Conference Board of Evangelism and is on the board of directors of Creative Puppet Ministries, Inc. He is a certified church growth consultant and is the coordinator of lay witness missions for the N. C. Conference. He has traveled across the nation to lay witness missions, revivals and Holy Spirit seminars.

The weekend of activity will begin at 6:30 p. m. Friday with a covered dish supper in the church Fellowship Hall, followed by a 7:30 p. m. evening program.

On Saturday at 9:30 a. m.

youth and intermediate groups will meet at the church and at 10 a. m. coffee groups will meet in the homes of Mrs. Marian Hege, Mrs. Ethel White, Mrs. Margaret Mayfield, Mrs. Melba Barker and Mrs. Shirley Hawks. Persons are invited to attend the group meeting in their neighborhood. At noon a luncheon for men and women will be held at the Roost Restaurant, while a cookout for youth and lunch in the Fellowship Hall for the intermediate group are planned. At 7:30 p. m. the evening program will be held in the Fellowship Hall.

On Sunday at 9:45 a. m. witnesses will go to Sunday school classes and at 11 a. m. a worship service will be held at which time Mr. Teachey will speak. At 7 p. m. an evaluation-celebration session of lay witness mission will be held by all church members.

The church spokesman said a nursery will be provided for each session.
