Assault Charges Brought

A 25-year-old black woman of the Drewry community, released from Dix Hill on Wednesday of last week in order that she might stand trial in Warren District Court on a charge of larceny of an automobile, is being held in a Vance County jail on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

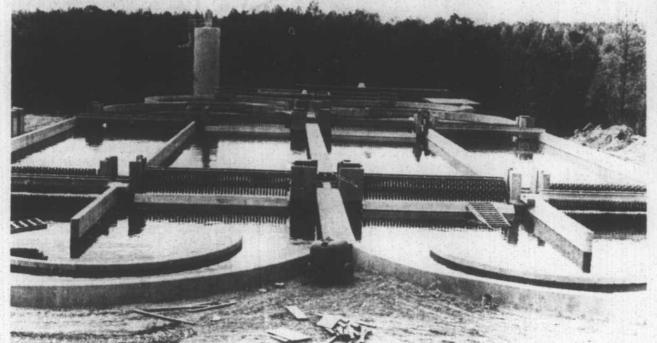

Clementine Russell had been sent to Dix Hill where she was kept for two weeks to ascertain if she was sane enough to stand trial. When relatives, plaintiffs in the action, refused to press charges, she was released, and taken by Deputy Sheriff Capps to Henderson where he attempted to have her committed to Butner. But the Mental Health Department in Henderson would not sign the commitment papers, and she was released Capps said.

On Saturday afternoon Clementine Russell walked into the White Store at Drewry in Vance County and struck Millard Paschall, Jr., over the head with a soda bottle and stabbed him in the face with the broken bottle. He was taken to Chapel Hill Memorial Hospital.

Later in the afternoon she went to the yard at the home of Michael Evans in Warren County where she assaulted him with a pocketknife, cutting him in the neck and forehead. Evans was taken to Warren General Hospital.

Following the assault on Evans, his assailant was arrested by Deputy Dorsey Capps and taken to Henderson and placed in Vance County jail. Following her trial in Vance County, she will be brought to Warren County to stand trial on the Evans assault.

Deputy Capps said that in releasing Ms. Russell on Wednesday of last week that officials at Dix Hill had notified Warren authorities that while Clementine Russell was sane enough to stand trial, she was dangerous to self and

Labor Problem Cited At Meet

Leaf-falling time has arrived and already the town's leaf-raking crew is busy gathering and hauling away leaves from Warrenton homes, Eddie Clayton, street committee chairman, told the Warrenton Town Commissioners at their regular meeting on Monday night.

Clayton and County Administrator Pete Vaughan agreed that the town equipment appears to be in good shape, but the problem is a shortage of labor. Two suggestions were made to reduce this problem. One was that citizens who are gardeners use the leaves in compost piles; the other is that citizens, where feasible, place the leaves in bags and place them at the street curbings. It was pointed out that such bags could be bought at cost at the town municipal build-a short meeting of the board turned into an hour and a half session when J. T. Fleming appeared with his lawyer, Julius Banzet. Jr., seeking clarification of a town ordinance, and Banzet afterwards appeared on his own behalf to complain of damage afflicted upon him because of a faulty sewage main.

Several months ago in an effort to reduce the number of pool rooms on Main Street, the commissioners passed a law forbidding any more pool rooms to be opened on Main Street. Fleming has a three-year lease on the old Warrenton Theatre building which permits him to operate a theatre and-or auditorium and other "indoor entertainment."

Fleming said he wanted to install video game machines in the lobby of the building, explaining that these are not gambling machines, that their use is good, clean fun for all ages of children and adults, that no beer or other intoxicating beverages would be served, and that an adult would always dreds of dollars of damage be present to see that good behavior is maintained. He said that before he ordered these machines he wanted to be sure that nothing in the pool room ordinance would be in conflict with the operation of the video games.

After some discussion, Town Attorney Charles Johnson said that the pool room audience appeared to be a little vague, and suggested that the easiest way for Fleming was to appeal to the Town Board of Adjustments for a variance. Both Fleming and his lawyer agreed to this procedure.

Banzet, said his reasons for appearing before the board were both professional and personal. He has been before the board one or more times to complain of damage to his home caused by a blocked-sewer main that caused backed up sewage to overflow his basement rooms, shower and furnace room, running into hunand a great deal of inconvenience. He said on the previous Friday sewage had again backed into a part of his furnace room, but had receded before any more damage occurred. He said he was seeking relief before any more damage resulted. Bill Neal, superintendent of the Warrenton Water Department, explained to the commissioners that an eight-inch terra cotta pipe had been crushed and clogged until only about two inches of space remained and sewage would catch on broken pieces of the main and clog the line. He said that whenever he tried to ream out the line, his reamer would bring back broken pieces of terra cotta pipe. He said that homes on the opposite of the street were higher than Banzet's basement and that overflow from the blocked main would flow into the Banzet

Bids Being Sought On New Bleachers For Use At School

Options Discussed By Board

Members of the Warren County Board of Education have decided to seek bids on new bleachers for the Warren County High School before making a decision on whether to buy new or used bleachers.

That decision came Monday night after the board had spent considerable time trying to determine in which direction to go in the purchase of the seating equipment for the new gymnasium at the consolidated high school.

The question of new bleachers was prompted by an October 5 decision of the Warren Board of County Commissioners to appropriate an additional $25,000 to the school system for the purchase of gymnasium bleachers at Warren County High School provided the funds are available from county revenues.

Superintendent Mike Williams told the school board that he was aware of at least two options available to the board should the funds become avail-

The first is the purchase of used bleachers. He said Morehead High School in Eden has available for purchase one bank of used bleachers. The bleachers are approximately 20 years old and are in good condition, except for the finish, which has been worn and chipped by use. He said the understructure is sound and functions well, and the seat and foot boards are in good condi-

"This bank of bleachers is 90 feet long and 13 rows high and will seat 780 persons," Williams said. 'The purchase price is estimated at a maximum of $16,400 but could be as low as $14,800 depending upon the amount of labor required for moving and installation."

The superintendent said the bleachers are available immediately and could be in place within four to six weeks.

On the other hand, he said, new bleachers could not be expected to be available in time for the basketball season. He said new bleachers are available from a number of companies operating in North Carolina, and that cost estimates from these companies range from $30-$35 per seat for wood bleachers. "Based on sales representatives' estimates, the cost of one bank of new bleachers (90 feet long and 13 rows high with a seating capacity of 780 persons) will range form $23,400 to $27,300," Williams told the board. He said firm pricing could only be secured by developing specifications and taking bids. Bleachers manufactured of metal or fiberglass are available at a lower cost but are less desirable in terms of maintenance and operational

Williams said it was felt that it would be in the best interest of the new school (Continued orpo son)

Sadat Sent Letter To Local Girl

An eight-year-old Warrenton girl had more than a passing interest in the funeral Saturday of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, for among her souvenirs is a personal letter from the slain leader

In February of 1980 Kara Michelle Henderson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Henderson, Jr., of Warrenton, saw a children's Sunday morning television program about the Great Sphinx which told of the repair work needed to restore the Egyptian landmark. She decided to send a dollar to help in the restoration, and she penned a letter to the Egyptian Embassy in Washington, enclosing her contribution.

Shortly thereafter, Kara, now a third-grade student at Mariam Boyd School, received a letter from the Egyptian ambassador, thanking her, and telling her that he was sending the donation and her letter to President Sadat.

Then in early May, 1980, Kara received the following letter:

'My dear child KARA, "I was pleased to receive your kind letter conveying a splendid gesture and a keen interest in preserving the Sphinx which is one of the greatest Ancient Egypt monuments. "Once again, I wish to thank you my dear child Kara for your genuine feelings towards Egypt and its Ancient Civilisations which contributed much to the rise of the following world civilisations. "With all kindest regards and best wishes for a better tomorrow

Lawmen Probe Two Break-Ins

Police reported breakins at the office of the Macon Wood Yard and the Hawkins Elementary School during the weekend.

The office of the Macon Wood Yard was entered through the front door following the removal of a pane of glass which was found on a cot near the entrance, according to Deputy Harold Seaman who was investigating the incident for the Sheriff's Department.

Deputy Seaman said nothing of value was reported missing from the wood yard office. Warrenton police are still investigating a weekend break-in of Hawkins Elementary School. Officer James McGowan said the point of entry was not evident and that no damage was done to the building. A drink machine and a snack machine were reported to have been broken into, but no 1 oney is believed to have been

Wood Stove Is Reported Stolen

A wood stove was reported stolen from a new logging company at Inez, owned by Glen Coleman, Jr. of Rt. 3, Warrenton, on Saturday.

Deputies Dorsey Capps and Harold Seaman investigated the theft. They found that a black Long wood stove had been removed from the rear entrance of the building through a door that evidently had not been locked. Capps surmised that it was loaded on a truck and taken away.

He said the stove had never been used and was valued at $900. Capps said that whom ever took the stove must have been familiar with the building as nothing but the stove was taken. He said the investigation is continuing.
