

Warren County School Bus Shortly After Accident

Warren School Bus Flips Down Embankment, 17 Hurt

A Warren County school bus overturned twice as it plunged down a 30-foot embankment 12 miles south of Warrenton on Monday. None of the 17 students aboard was seriously injured, although all were taken to Warren General Hospital for examination and treatment.

Trooper W. C. Palmer of Warrenton said the wreck occurred on Rural Paved Road 1620, also known as the Lickskillet Road, about 4:10 p. m.

The youngsters, all of whom had either Rt. 2, Warrenton or Rt. 2, Henderson addresses, were trapped in the overturned bus for about 20 minutes until rescue personnel arrived on the scene.

"They were very, very lucky." Trooper Palmer said. He said the wreck occurred after the driver took his eyes off the road. went onto the shoulder and attempted to pull the bus back onto the road but was unable to do so. The bus travelled for about 182 feet before coming to rest.

The driver, Roy Anthony Alston, 17, was charged with reckless driving. Warren school officials said the bus, No. 74, originated at Warren County High School, but also picked up students at John Graham Middle School, so students from both schools were on board.

Hospital Administrator Lynn Orfgen said all students received minor injuries, and the last student was released from the hospital by 7:05 p. m. Monday. He said a few X-rays were taken and most injuries appeared to be minor bruises and abrasions. He said the hospital appreciated the help of members of the county ambulance service and the sheriff's department in the emergency Trooper Palmer said approximately $800 damage was caused to the bus. There were no eye-witnesses to the crash, although deer hunters in the area reported hearing the noise of the accident.

The passengers were identified as Dannette Colbert, 17; Steven Alston, 17; Angela Foster, 16; Darin Williams, 17; Evelyn Williams, 15; Eric Foster, 16; Ivory Foster, 14; Sylvester Fields, 14; Yolanda Alston, 12; Tonya Williams, 14; Carlos Fields, 16; Anthony Spencer, 17; Gary Lee Williams, 16; Doris Fields, 15; Trudy Elliot, 14; and was re-elected chairman of the Warren County Board of Commissioners at its reorganization meeting here on Monday morning, and Clyde Edwards was reelected vice chairman.

Harris Is Named To New Term As Board Chairman

The re-election of the chairman and vice chair-

Hobgood Slated To Preside Here

Judge Robert H. Hobgood of Louisburg is scheduled to preside over a criminal session of Warren County Superior Court which is to convene here on Monday morning.

A wide range of cases, headed by traffic violations, is on schedule as court officials work the 82 cases listed on the calen-

A total of 65 Warren County residents have been selected for jury duty during the term.

was the first order of business, and the election of these two officers was conducted by County Attorney Charles T. Johnson, who was re-elected as county attorney following the resumption of the chair by Harris and the approval of the minutes. Susan W. Whitley was re-appointed tax collector, and Roberta King, Audrey Ayscue, and Kaye Hall were re-elected deputy tax collectors.

Designated depositories for county funds were re-named. They are People's Bank and Trust Company of Norlina, Branch Bank and Trust Company, First Citizens Bank and Trust Company and Sun Savings and Loan Association, all of Warren-

The board then listed persons who are authorized to sign checks on Warren County Funds as Walter J. "Jack" Harris man of the county board follows: Susan W. Whitley, county finance officer; Roberta W. King, assistant county finance officer; Walter J. Harris, chairman of the Warren County Board of Commissioners: Clyde R. Edwards, vice chairman, board of county commissioners; J. H. Hundley, clerk of board of commissioners; Mrs. Mary F. Rodwell, deputy clerk to the board of county commissioners.

Glen Newsome, county manager, announced that since the county is now writing checks for the Health Department, that it was not necessary to authorize any officials of this department to write checks. He also said that Willoughby Harris was chairman of the Warren County Industrial Commission and that Betty Jean Capps is vice chairman. The commission officials write and sign their own

(Continued on page 11)

Checks were awarded winners in the Christmas parade competition on Friday morning during a brief ceremony at First Citizens Bank here. Shown during the presentation, from left, are Brad Carroll, president of the sponsoring Warren County Chamber of Commerce; Jeff King, chairman of the Warren County Jaycees float committee and second place winner; Bonnie Andrews, representing the third place winner, the Afton-Elberon Fire Department Ladies Auxiliary; Pat Charrier of the Roanoke-Wildwood Fire Department Ladies Auxiliary and Dale Oberg, assistant fire chief of the department, which was first place winner; and Walter Gardner, parade chairman.

Commissioners Agree

3 Voting Machines Will Be Purchased

Board of Commissioners in regular meeting here Monday morning agreed to buy three voting machines under a lease purchase agreem, ent at a total cost of $12,500, divided into four annual payments of $4,775. The vote was unanimous with all members present.

Bids will have to be advertised before the first payment is made, County Attorney Charles Johnson Discussions about the purchase of the voting machines has been under way for several months between the commissioners and the Warren County Board of Elections, and Monday morning following a letter from Mrs. Janice R. Crump, chairman of the board of elections, and the appearance of Mrs. Coleman, Miriam executive secretary, before the commissioners, an agreement for the county to buy three tabulators through a purchase lease plan was made.

Mrs. Crump in her letter, offering three options, favored the purchase of three tabulators and one programmer at a total cost $17,480. commissioners, following a discussion with Mrs. Coleman, decided to purchase only the three tabulators at a total cost of $12,500 and have Nash County program the ballots, which will cost from 3 to 7 cents each. Mrs. Coleman said that the sales company had agreed to handle the first programming, instruction

Mrs. Coleman said it is planned to use one of the three tabulators at West Warrenton precinct with a registration of 1134 and one at Norlina precinct which has a registration of 818 registered voters, the third largest precinct in the county. East Warrenton precinct has a registration of 887 voters, Mrs. Coleman said. The third tabulator will be used as a back up machine. Mrs. Coleman recalled a recent election at the West Warrenton precinct when the polls opened at 6:30 a.m. and closed at 7:30 p.m. and it required until 10 a.m. the following day to count the ballots. With a tabulator only a few buttons need to be pushed and the results will be known. She said the savings in labor and time would pay the costs of the voting machines, and also eliminate tallying mistakes of over-tired

Mrs. Venetta Grant appeared before the commissioners with a request that they establish the Warren County Block Grant Advisory Committee advise

Blazettes Fete

Their Spouses

The Warrenton Rural Fire Department Ladies Auxiliary ("Blazettes") entertained their husbands and guests at a covered dish supper at their meeting on December 6 at the firehouse.

Husbands were given gag gifts and fun was had handling of federal block grants, and read a letter stating the need for such a committee.

Chairman Harris thanked her for her interest and promised that the commissioners would advisement. He said that the board had not yet received instructions from the state on the handling of such grants, but is sure that the board would like to have imput from our citizens.

manager, announced that sales and use tax collections for the month of October totalled $42,858.70. He said the Oct. collection was the highest ever reported for Warren

Mrs. Mamie Richardson, left, a Norlina notary public, administers the oath of office to new Norlina Mayor Kenneth Davis. Witnessing the ceremony on Monday night is Mrs. Davis. Davis succeeds E. L. (Bill) Perry, who has served for the past ten years.

Commissioners Vote To Appeal PCB Decision

minute executive session on last Wednesday night following around an hour of pleas from some 200 persons gathered in the Warrenton Court House to continue the fight against building a PCB landfill in the county, announced that

Warren County they had instructed their The State bought 140 Commissioners in a 15 attorney to appeal the acres in the Afton recent decision of Federal District Judge Earl Britt.

> The announcement of the decision to appeal the dismissal of suits to prevent the storage of PCB in Warren County was met with cheers by the audience.

New Shoe Repair Shop Coming To Warrenton

By KAY HORNER A new shoe repair shop will be opening in Warrenton shortly after the first of the year. Cedric Tant, owner and operator of Tant's Shoe Repair, will be relocating from Littleton and hopes to be open for business by the second week in January. No newcomer to the area, the Tant family has operated a repair shop in Littleton for the past 44 years. Tant's father, George Oliver Tant, started the business. After his death five year ago, Cedric and his mother, Ruby Tant, continued to service the area with shoe repair. "The decision to leave Littleton was difficult," Tant said. "But I've been living in Warrenton for the past seven years, and the commuting is not easy."

Tant's mother is retiring at the end of the year, although she plans to work part-time when needed. Tant's wife, the former Diane Pennell of Warrenton, will be learning various aspects of the business, especially the bookkeeping.

In addition to shoe repair, the Tants welcome any type of repair work dealing with leather belts, bags, zippers and the like - and they also plan to have a good line of shoes for sale, including dress shoes and Western boots. They will also stock a wide variety of shoe and leather supplies. Tant said that business was picking up now after a slight decline in recent years. "Of course, we've always had a good business and even handle orders from as far away as Maryland," Tant said. "Customers who grew up here and then moved away often send their shoes to us for repair."

Tant's business will be located on North Main Street between Odom Motor Service and Citizens Insurance and Bonding Co.

community of Warren County but was not able to proceed with PCB storage because of two lawsuits opposing the landfill. A group of Warren County residents also had filed suit in an effort to block the landfill, and Britt also dismissed their suit. In addition he dismissed an ordinance that would have prevented the storage of PCB in the county.

Britt's ruling cleared the way for the state to begin construction of a landfill to contain the soil laden with PCBs that were dumped along 210 miles of North Carolina roads in 1978 in 15 counties.

When announced that on the following Monday it would order contracts for bids drawn up to build the landfill, the commissioner called a public hearing on Wednesday night to determine whether the commissioners had public support in efforts to appeal Judge Britt's decision. The crowd that filled the auditorium of the courthouse left little doubt of such support.

The meeting Wednesday night brought forth the same fervor and mostly (Continued on page 11)

Facts Were In Error

The Warren Record's information upon which an account of a fire at the Marshall Wilson home at Bethlehem was based, was in error in three respects. The fire originated from a faulty furnace, and not from a stove. Marshail Wilson, Sr., was not asleep in his own room, but was awake in his daughter's room and had broken a window in that room when Boyd Lynch twice entered the burning house in a successful rescue effort. Although Wilson had broken a window pane, he was unable to break the storm window which was later broken by Lynch. Mrs. Kathy Wilson, who telephoned the corrections last Thursday, said that her father-in-law had returned from the Louisburg hospital and was all right. She said that he owed his life to Lynch.