

Strengths, Weaknesses At School Discussed

Strengths and weaknesses at South Warren Elementary School were examined Monday night during a meeting of the Warren County Board of Education.

Principal Lucious Hawkins stated both improvement and pressing needs of the school during the April meeting of the board. Each month a different principal is asked to appear and inform board members of conditions at his school.

"Some very interesting and exciting things have been happening at South Warren," Hawkins told the board. He said discipline in the school "is superb."

Currently the school has an enrollment of 227, but Hawkins expressed concern over signs of decreasing enrollment. The school now employs nine classroom teachers.

"We have one of the finest staffs in the county," Hawkins told board members, and he praised the school secretary, custodial persons and cafeteria staff.

While he described morale as high at the school, he said the school is handicapped by having no music teacher and no school nurses. He said the school needs a full-time librarian.

"We need more funds for travel, and more media equipment," Hawkins said as he read off a list of needs for board members. He praised the work of the PTA and said parent involvement at the school was good.

In other action Monday night, the board:

—Heard a report from Rosiland Gilliam regarding the conclusion of a three-year ESEA Title IVc project. The program provided service to four-year-olds and dealt with parents of children in grades K-2.

—Approved the use of Mariam Boyd School for an Eva Clayton rally. Mrs. Clayton is seeking election as a member of the Warren County Board of Commissioners.

—Heard a request from Allen Hawks that the Senior Citizens Coordinating Council be allowed to use the vacant trades building at Hawkins School as a nutrition site and senior citizens center. Hawks told the board that the request was contingent upon receipt of $12,000 in state and county money for renovation of the building. Board members Harold Harris and Henry Pitchford were appointed to represent the further negotiations.

—Denied a request from Ms. Dianne Palmer that her son, Delton, be permitted to enroll in kindergarten at Mariam Boyd in 1982-83, although Ms. Palmer lives in the Vaughan attendance area.

—Approved a request from Mrs. Ellen Loyd that her daughter, Treva, be permitted to continue attending the first grade at Mariam Boyd, although Mrs. Loyd has recently moved into the South Warren attendance area.

—Approved a request from G. W. Koonce that his daughter, a kindergarten student, be allowed to attend Vance County schools.

Warren Scouts

Awarded Honors

Cub Scouts from Warren, Vance, and Granville counties competed in the Great Northern District Pinewood Derby at Henderson Mall on Saturday. Trophies and other prizes were awarded to the scouts entering their wooden cars in three areas of competition - speed, originality, and beauty.

The annual event requires that each scout start out with a kit that contains a block of wood and four wheels. The construction of the car is up to the boy. The scouts can carve, paint and otherwise design their cars any way they want. The boys' fathers are allowed to help them.

The Cub Scouts first entered their cars in competition with other members of their own pack, and the top winners competed Saturday in the district competition at Henderson Mall. About 25 Cub Scouts participated in the Pinewood Derby.

Winners are grouped by category of competition and are listed in order of first, second and third-place, as follows:

Speed—Andrew Holtzman, Pack 675, sponsored by Norlina Ruritani Club, Jason Boyd, and Chris Pendergrass.

Originality —Waylon Medlin, Pack 675 sponsored by Norlina Ruritani Club, Eric Gupton and Brian Ramsey.

Beauty—Scott Finch, Pack 600, sponsored by Plank Chapel United Methodist Church.

Trophies were donated by Henderson Fruit and Produce, and prizes were presented by the Cinema, Radio Shack, Rainbow Ice Cream, and Fast Break, all from Henderson Mall Merchants Association.

Bloodmobile

(Continued from page 1) 5:30 p. m. According to Lioness President Alice Robertson, the county's goal for the fiscal year ending June 30 is 250 pints. To date, only 48 pints have been donated.

The Lioness Club hopes to sponsor the Bloodmobile as a community service project three or four times each year, and urges citizens to participate in this life-saving program.

The cast of "Let Me Out of Here" practices for Friday night's performance to be given at Warren Academy Gymnasium. The play, to be shown along with "The Other Side," will begin at 8 o'clock. Shown during the practice session are, left to right, Amy Dickerson, Janice Coleman, Daryl Killian, Byron Matthews, Karl Daeke, Jennifer Harris, Roger Alford and Virginia Davis. (Staff Photo)

The new Warren County High School will be formally dedicated during activities at the school on Sunday, April 25, from 2 p. m. until 5 p. m. At 2 p. m. a ribbon cutting will take place at the front entrance. From 2:15 until 3:00 a program will be held in the school's theatre featuring guest speaker Dudley Flood. From 3:00 until 5:00, the school will be open for visitation with refreshments being served in the cafeteria. (Community Schools Photo)

Cancer Crusade Progressing Well

The Warren County Cancer Crusade is progressing toward its goal of $3,600, Mrs. Mary D. Williams, Crusade chairman, reported this week.

Mrs. Williams said crusaders are taking the fight against cancer into all communities of Warren County.

Mrs. Williams said she will receive crusader's reports each Friday afternoon from 2 until 4 o'clock at the Community Center in Warrenton. On any other day, she said, the reports can be left with Mrs. Louise Burnette, center librarian.

Candidates

Wallace Brown, in answer to a question, said that his health is good, and that while it is true that he resigned from the Highway Patrol because of physical disabilities, he had resigned to avoid a back operation, but found that he had to take it two years later, and as a result is in excellent health.

Dorsey Capps said that he was appointed deputy when Jim Hundley was sheriff, and when Hundley was succeeded by Clarence Davis in 1965, that Sheriff Davis named him as his chief deputy and he has retained that appointment until the present.

Northern Vaughan

Club Has Meeting

Northern Vaughan 4-H Club held its regular monthly meeting at the Ashley Grove Baptist Church in Vaughan on Tuesday evening, April 13.

Miss Margaret Woods, home economist with the Warren County Extension Service, gave the educational program. Miss Woods discussed energy-saving ideas in the home, and carried out exercises and games with the members to emphasize the importance of energy-saving ideas.

During the business session, the club members and leaders planned for a summer trip to King's Dominion. The club has been selling doughnuts to aid in its planned trip.

Nine members and two leaders were present at the meeting. Kennedy Richardson, president, presided.

Refreshments were served by the leaders following adjournment.

Milk of Human Kindness

Food science and technology researchers say they have made important progress in efforts to process and store human milk which could ultimately benefit seriously ill or premature infants. The Texas A & M scientists are developing a process to preserve mother's milk without losing its health-giving properties.

Swarms Of Insects Descend On Warren

By RUSSELL C. KING Associate Agricultural Extension Agent
Have you been bugged this week? If you have not, you must not have gone outside. Swarms of black insects with red leg markings have descended on Warren County. These insects are called March Flies or Love Bugs. They go by the scientific name of Biblio-femoratus. Normally, these insects come out in late March and April. They have only one generation and normally feed on decaying vegetation. Sometimes they will feed on grass and some ornamentals, but they usually do not create a great deal of damage.

The March Fly has a great deal of oil in its body, and it can cause stains on automobile surfaces. It does not sting or bite and is considered beneficial. Even through the March Fly moves slowly, birds will not feed on it. It is thought that birds do not like the taste of these insects.

Evaders Cost Us All

(Continued from page 2) businessmen. The Monitor goes on to point out that taxpayers' anger is not the only reason for rising income-tax evasion. Other causes are frequent changes in the complex U. S. tax code, "slap-on-the-wrist" penalties in some publicized cases of tax fraud, and "a general increase in taxpayer sophistication" associated with Americans' rising incomes pushing them into higher tax brackets.

What may we conclude from all this? At least two important points: (1) It is crucial that President Reagan and Congress do all they can to make the U. S. Tax Code fair to all Americans during these perilous economic times; and (2) The Federal Government had better get its fiscal house in order soon before the public loses all confidence that its tax dollars are being invested for the good of many rather than for the benefit of a selected few.

We ought to be proud to pay taxes in this free land for services and public works that make life better for present and future generations. But unless our leaders in Washington by their actions can reverse a swelling tide of cynicism and outright disgust over paying taxes, we may be sowing seeds of destruction for American society as we've known it.
