King Addresses

Norlina Ruritan

The Norlina Ruritan Club held its regular meeting recently at the Woman's Club in Norlina and had a delicious barbecue supper.

The meeting was called to order by President Daniel. After a short business session and introduction of guests, Steve Daniel introduced Russell King, agricultural agent for Warren County.

King chose as his subject the dangers of the various poisons that we come into contact with, some more dangerous than others, as indicated by the labels. It was emphasized that labels and directions should be read carefully and followed fully to prevent serious injury or even death.

It was suggested that if you or any member of your family has received an accidental dose of poison, contact the poison hotline number at Duke University, as they can give immediate instructions on what to do.

Most injuries are to children, and it was recommended that care be used in the handling of any chemicals.

HAVING A BALL...Youngsters really have a ball taking a plunge into a pool of thousands of hollow plastic balls at Busch Gardens in Williamsburg, Va.

GO FLY A KITE. BUT BE CAREFUL.

Flying kites is a lot of fun. But look out for overhead wires if it's a rainy day. If the kite string is wet and the kite hits an uninsulated wire, you could get quite a shock.

You should use the same caution when you're climbing on the roof of your house. Never touch overhead wires with a ladder.

As Granny always says, "it's better to be safe than sorry."
