Section III-5 fees-change amount collected to 10.00.

Maps of proposed amendments and other details are on file in the office of The Register of Deeds.

Other Business

Following endorsement of changes in the zoning ordinances, the commissioners held a short business session during which the following items were transacted.

The commissioners adopted a resolution approving the issuance of $1,150,000 in Industrial Revenue Bonds to Interco, Inc. The funds will be used for the rehabilitation of Soultech at Soul City and its equipment.

The contract for the purchase of a Chevrolet 4-door Capri, for County Manager Glenn Newsome was awarded to Boyd Chevrolet Company of Henderson, the lowest of three bidders. Its bid was for $9695, base bid and optional bid of $10,050.25. The optional bid included automatic door locks and windows.

Other Bidders

Other bidders were

Rose Chevrolet Company of Louisburg with a base bid of $9,818.88 and optional bid of $10,180.13; and Randy Currin Chevrolet of Warrenton with a base bid of $10,187.03 and optional bid of $10,548.88.

The construction of two sections of road work in Warren County, as submitted by S. R. Ross, Highway District Engineer, was accepted by the board, as follows:

1. Grade, drain and stabilize SR 1336, Coon Myrick Road, from SR 1357 to dead end; .08 mile, $50,000.

2. Grade, drain and stabilize SR 1126 and SR 1127, Vicksboro-Southernland Road, part 1 from Shocco Creek to the Vance County line, .08 miles, $50,000.

The bridge over Shocco Creek will be replaced with a pipe, and this cost will be borne by the Bridge Department. Ross said approximately $128,715 is available for this work from unused contingency funds and left over from completed work.

The last item on the agenda was the matter of Soul City water rates adjustments. County Manager Glenn Newsome said that on Tuesday of last week, he and County Attorney Charles Johnson met with Attorney Floyd B. McKissick and Charles Worth of Soul City. In an amicable meeting, Newsome said, it was agreed that prior to any adjustment record a billing history of customers should be made. He said that it is hoped that this could be done by the end of the month.

Also present at the meeting were Chairman Jack Harris and V. R. "Pete" Vaughan, administrator for the Town of Warrenton.

The commissioners voted to table the matter until its December meeting.

Prior to adjournment Chairman Jack Harris, expressed his pleasure with serving for the past seven years with retiring commissioners Herbert Harris and Clyde Edwards, and asked that he be permitted to introduce a resolution expressing this pleasure and the board's thanks for the fine and loyal service rendered the county by these two commissioners. Harris's motion was seconded by Commissioner George Shearin, and approved by Commissioner Bill Skinner, the three re-elected commissioners.

Clothing 'Speaks' Louder Than Words

Perhaps you've never thought about it before, but clothing plays an important role in our first impression of others. By the same token, if you meet someone just briefly, you will be judged primarily on your appearance.

Therefore, you'll want clothing to speak well for you, believes Dr. Judieth Mock, extension clothing specialist at North Carolina State University.

When selecting garments, you may do well to remember that clothing performs seven roles, the specialist adds.

For example, a pleasing appearance is especially important at certain stages in life. Feeling that you look attractive can give a feeling of self-confidence.

Clothes can permit a person to use her imagination in selecting harmonious colors, textures, line and accessories that display that person's degree of creativity. Self expression or desire of creativity is the main reason for the increased number of homesewers.

Clothes can be a means of establishing one's identity by expressing one's choice in the style of clothes. This is often referred to as "style" of dress. Clothes should satisfy a person's inner picture of himself. Color, fabric and style can be used to create the desired appearance.

Clothing is a means of helping a person to be independent and to make decisions such as: What shall I make? What pattern, fabric and color should I choose?

Teaching a child to dress himself is an early way to teach a child independence. He learns coordination and gains a sense of achievement.

Dressing like others gives a sense of belonging. This conformity is important in various stages of life as with elementary school children and teenagers. This feeling of group identity can influence how relaxed a child feels with other children.

Many persons view clothing as a status symbol. However, there is not so great a degree of "class" distinction made today, as in the past, because lower priced fashion items, with a style and fabric similar to higher priced ones, are on almost every rack.
