The Warren County Board of Education, meeting Thursday night for its July meeting, agreed to attempt to make the auditorium-cafeteria wing at John Graham Middle School "safe but not useable" as it carefully began appropriating funds for capital outlay improvements.

The money to be spent on the John Graham wing is expected to be considerably less than board members would have had to spend had that portion of the building been put in condition for use. Board members have been advised that putting the wing into useable condition could cost $100,000.

In a related spending decision, the board earmarked $4,500 to make improvements to the old shop building which last year served as a cafeteria for John Graham faculty and student body, and is expected to do so again in the 1983-84 school year.

The board authorized Supt. Mike Williams to see if half the exterior lighting project at Warren County High School — expected to cost $25,000 in its entirety — could be financed immediately.

The board voted to spend $2,750 for a computer which would be shared with the Exceptional Children's Program, gave its endorsement to spending funds for materials for summer workers who will build bookcases and sidewalks at Warren County High School, and agreed to transfer money from an unspent fencing fund at the high school in order to erect fencing at the John Graham Middle School football field.

The board also heard a report from Superintendent Williams regarding the 1983-84 annual test scores, heard a report regarding the trimester scheduling plan at Warren County High School, approved six routine amendments to the 1982-83 budget and adopted a policy statement involving the philosophy, purpose and continuing objectives of the school system.

Local Rotarians To Greet Governor

William E. Skelton, president of Rotary International, will speak twice in northeastern Carolina next week when he visits Durham on Monday, July 25, and Roanoke Rapids on Thursday, July 28. Hundreds of Rotarians from District 771 are planning to attend the two meetings to welcome their organization's leader.

Members of the Warrenton Rotary Club plan to attend. District Governor Barrie Davis of Zebulon said that District 771, one of 408 Rotary districts around the world, is honored to host the visitor in both communities.

Dean emeritus of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in Blacksburg, Va., Skelton serves as volunteer president of the worldwide organization with more than 20,000 clubs and 920,000 members in 157 countries.

Skelton has selected one theme for his presidential theme: "Share Rotary — Serve People." During his travels, he is urging Rotarians to continue expanding their service to youth, the elderly, the disabled, and others in their communities.

He also encourages clubs to support the Rotary Foundation program and other humanitarian activities which provide vital assistance and help generate understanding and good will among people worldwide.

Rotary clubs in all countries give financial help to the Rotary Foundation, which annually supports more than $20 million in international educational and humanitarian projects. In addition, more than 6,000 international youth exchanges are supported by Rotary districts and clubs each year.

Born in Dinwiddie County, Va., Skelton has earned degrees from both Virginia Polytechnic Institute and Cornell University.

Allen Is Winner Of Bass Tourney

The Warren County Bass Club held its July tournament on Kerr Lake with Robert V. Allen taking first place. Second place was won by Larry J. Collier.

An excellent meal was enjoyed after the tournament at the Lake Gaston home of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Booker. Mr. and Mrs. William Floyd were also supper hosts.

The next fishing event for the Warren County Bass Club is scheduled for August 13 on the B. Everett Jordan Lake.
