

Two Are Injured In Wreck Reported Near Littleton

A near head-on collision last Thursday between two automobiles on a rural road near Littleton injured the drivers of both vehicles, according to N. C. Highway Patrol reports.

Trooper C. E. Lockley reported that Raymond Alston, 71, of Rt. 1, Littleton, and Ricky M. Fleming, 21, of Rt. 1, Roanoke Rapids were taken by ambulance to Halifax Memorial Hospital.

On Monday, Fleming was listed in stable condition. Alston was also listed in stable condition in the hospital's intensive care unit.

According to the Highway Patrol, the mishap occurred when a station wagon driven by Fleming veered across the center line of S.R. 1509 less than a mile south of Littleton.

The vehicle, according to Trooper Lockley, was apparently traveling at an excessive rate of speed at the time.

Following the impact, Alston's car came to rest blocking both lanes of travel. Fleming's car stopped in the yard of a residence off the east shoulder of the road.

Fleming told the Highway Patrol that the accelerator on his car malfunctioned, causing him to lose control of the vehicle.

Damage to Fleming's car was estimated at $1,200 and $1,000 damage was reported to Alston's vehicle.

A Warren County School bus was also involved in a traffic accident last week.

Trooper Lockley reported that the accident occurred Wednesday afternoon on S.R. 1116 about seven miles south of Warrenton when a car made a wide turn from an unpaved road and entered the path of the bus which was traveling south on the rural paved road.

The bus was driven by Evonia Richardson of Rt. 1, Hollister and the car was driven by Daniel W. Meador of Rt. 3, Warrenton.

Meador was charged with a safe movement violation.

Lockley estimated damage to Meador's car at $600, with $400 to the school bus owned by the county Board of Education.

In weekend accidents, a Hickory man received multiple injuries when his car overturned off I-85 about seven miles north of Norlina, according to Highway Patrol reports.

Carroll Russel Craig, 24, was admitted to Maria Parham Hospital in Henderson for observation, but a hospital spokesman said Craig signed himself out later in the day.

According to Trooper T. S. Wright, Craig was heading north on I-85 when he fell asleep behind the wheel of the car. He ran off the left side of the road, then crossed back to the right and struck a ditch. Following the impact, his car slid sideways along the ditch bank and overturned, Trooper

Wright said.

The accident occurred about 9:45 a.m.

Craig was charged with speeding and with failure to have an operator's license, the trooper said.

Damages to Craig's car were estimated at $1,200.

A deer was blamed for a one-car accident Friday around 9 p. m. 11 miles south of Warrenton.

Trooper C. E. Lockley reported that Clarence Rosco Cheek, 21, of Warrenton was west-bound on S.R. 1620 when a deer bolted into the path of his car.

Cheek attempted to avoid the animal by driving along the right shoulder of the road, but the auto hit the deer anyway. Trooper Lockley said.

No charges were filed. Damages to Cheek's car were estimated at $1,000.

500 Mile Fence
In Namibia's Etosha National Park, the world's largest corral holds an estimated 80,000 mammals within a 500-mile-long wire fence, National Geographic reports. While blocking some migration routes, it also helps prevent animals from being shot for straying into surrounding farms.

Steve Medlin, center, who has been transferred from Warrenton to Roanoke Rapids by his employer, Branch Banking & Trust Company, is presented an engraved plaque of appreciation by George (Pepi) Perkinson during a meeting of the Warrenton Rotary Club last week. Medlin, BB&T executive here for several years until his reassignment, had served as president of the local Rotary Club since this summer. At left is new president Sam Padgett. Perkinson is now serving as vice president of the organization, having succeeded Padgett. (Staff Photo)

Vance Doctors To Practice Here

Two Henderson physicians will be practicing in Warrenton two days of each week beginning today, according to Frank Hinson, administrator of Warren General Hospital.

Drs. J. P. Green and James E. Kinney will be engaged in the practice of general medicine on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons from 2 to 5 p. m. in offices on the hospital grounds, Hinson said.

Hinson also reported that three physicians associated with HealthCo in Soul City last week were granted privileges at the hospital by the hospital board of trustees.

Dr. Ronald Gore, a pediatrician, and Dr. Cynthia Krishna, a general practitioner, have been granted staff privileges, and Dr. George Pettus, a podiatrist, has been granted courtesy privileges.
