

'Jailings' Slated For This Area

The Warren County Unit of the American Cancer Society will hold a Jail-a-Thon on Thursday, May 10, and Friday, May 11, on Warren County's courthouse square in Warrenton, according to Eva Holtzman, publicity chairman for the event.

"For $25, you can have your boss or a good friend 'arrested,' and then in order to get out of jail, that person must raise a 'bond' of $50," Mrs. Holtzman explained.

All proceeds go to the American Cancer Society.

Further details on the Jail-a-Thon will be published in later issues of The Warren Record.

Stewart Given

Help Locally

Carl J. Stewart, Jr., Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, has received the endorsement of the Warren County Political Action Committee.

Stewart, former North Carolina House speaker, expressed his pleasure with the endorsement, one of four announced this week, and said "endorsements play a critical role in the decision making process."

Principal Gets

Campaign Role

Walter D. Sweeney, a Warren County principal, has been named to the Educators for Bob Jordan Committee. He is one of more than 100 educators who will support and advise Senator Bob Jordan in his Democratic campaign for Lt. Governor.

"Improving education is the number one issue this campaign year," said Jordan, "and people with experience and commitment like Walter will help us to make it happen."

Friends gathered Sunday afternoon at Norlina Baptist Church fellowship hall to pay tribute to Leon and Mary Lee Pridgen. Pridgen, owner and operator of Pridgen's Market and Grocery in Norlina since 1947, retired last Saturday. The Pridgens are shown above trying out new rocking chairs presented to them at the reception hosted by friends and Mrs. Nancy Thompson, an employee of the market. About 100 people attended. The market has been sold to Herbert and Nell Moseley of Norlina. (Staff Photo)

Signup Will Continue In Warren Through May 4

The signup under the 1984 Wheat Program reopened on April 16 and will continue through May 4, according to Thomas E. Watson, Warren County ASCS executive director.

The reopening of the program came after Congress passed the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1984 which made changes in the 1984 Wheat Program and other programs for 1985.

Watson cited a few of the changes as follows:

—The previously required 30 percent unpaid wheat acreage reduction has been replaced with a combination of paid diversion for 10 percent of a farm's acreage base and a 20 percent unpaid acreage reduction requirement.

The diversion payment rate is $2.70 per bushel. Participants may request 50 percent of the diversion payment in advance.

—The target price for wheat has been changed from $4.45 per bushel to $4.28 per bushel.

—Acreage which is designated as acreage conservation reserve under the Wheat Price Support and Production Adjustment Program which was devoted to wheat prior to January 12, 1984, may be hayed or grazed, so long as the haying is completed before the established disposition date or the wheat reaches soft dough stage. There is no deadline for grazing; however, grazing must be sufficient to prevent the wheat from reaching maturity and cannot be grazed to such an extent that the acreage is not protected from wind or water erosion.

—The 1984 Wheat Payment-in-Kind (PIK) Program has been revised to increase the rate of payment from 75 percent to 85 percent of a farm program (Continued on page 11)

Special Week Held For Public Health

As a part of Warren County's observance of Public Health Week, Warren County Health Director Joe Lennon and Mrs. Bertha Forte, a member of the Warren County Board of Health,

Presidential Candidate To Visit Here Thursday

By KAY HORNER
Staff Writer

Democratic presidential hopeful Jesse Jackson is expected to make a campaign swing through Warren County tomorrow (Thursday), according to Frank W. Ballance, Jr. of Warrenton, state representative and Jackson's campaign manager for the Second Congressional District.

The tentative schedule calls for Jackson to have lunch at Warren County High School around 12:30 p. m. Although no formal rally has been planned, Rep. Ballance said he hoped the school gymnasium or theater could be used for Jackson to address supporters.

Jackson is due to arrive in North Carolina today (Wednesday) for a rally in Greensboro. He will fly to Raleigh tomorrow morning for an 8 a. m. appearance at Raleigh-Durham Airport and will then travel by motorcade to Oxford for a 10:30 rally at First Baptist Church to be followed by an 11:30 rally at Shiloh Baptist Church in Henderson.

According to Rep. Ballance, Jackson will conclude his appearances in this area with a rally at Ebenezer Baptist Church in Rocky Mount.

Tecumseh Brayboy is Jackson's Warren County campaign manager.

Indians Planning Pow Wow

The Haliwa-Saponi Indian Tribe will hold its 19th annual Pow Wow Friday and Saturday at the original site of the Haliwa School near Hollister.

A general Pow Wow dance will be held Friday night with the main event to be held Saturday, April 21, beginning at 11 a. m.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be William Lynn Engles, commissioner with the Administration for Native Americans in the U. S. Department of Health and Human Services.

There will be Indian dancing, crowning of the new princess and a pony parade.

Refreshments will be for sale and there will be spaces available for camping.

W. R. Richardson is chief of the tribe.

For further information, call (919) 586-4017 or 586-6242.

MISS AYCOCK

MISS BANKS

For Girls State Trip

Representatives Are Chosen Here

Two high school girls from Warren County have been selected to represent the American Legion Auxiliary at the 45th annual session of Tar Heel Girls State to be held at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro during the week of June 10-16.

Selected to participate in this year's program from Warren Academy is Jane Elizabeth Aycock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claiborne Aycock of Warrenton. Representing Warren County High School will be Brigitte Renee Banks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Perkinson of Macon.

Girls State is a school of government which provides citizenship training for girls of high school age. They, as citizens, will learn the rights and privileges and also realize the definite duties and responsibilities which must be assumed by them in the near future. They will also become more mindful of the contributions women can and should make to government activities.

The Girls State program is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary whose goal is to instill in the youth of America a love of God and country.

Miss Aycock is vice president of her class and a member of the Student Council. She was a member of the basketball and softball teams and a member of the Monogram Club. She attends the Warrenton Presbyterian Church and is a member of the Youth Council.

Miss Banks is a member of the yearbook staff, the Student Council and is a varsity cheerleader. She attends Warren Plains Baptist Church where she is a member of the Youth Group.

Delegates Are Chosen On Saturday

Delegates to the Warren County Democratic Convention met at the county courthouse Saturday and elected the following delegates to the district and state conventions:

James Andrews, Elizabeth Baskerville, Selby Benton, Dolly Burwell, W. Clinton Capps, Maurice Crump, Elmer Harris, W. J. Harris, Lloyd Hawkins, Charles Hayes, Oscar Meek, Ruby Perkinson and Sandra Rivers.

The delegates also elected members to the House and Senate executive committees as follows:

District 7 House, Dolly Burwell and Richard Hunter; District 22 House, Marvin Rooker and Maurice Crump; District 2 Senate, Bernice Nicholson and Elaine Coleman; District 10 Senate, James Sprull and Frances King.

T. T. Clayton and Oscar Meek were elected to the executive committee of the Ninth Judicial District.

Keynote speaker for the convention was Warrenton Attorney and State Representative Frank W. Ballance, Jr. who spoke on the 1984 legislative redistricting.

Mrs. Anna Butler, Democratic chairperson for Warren County, estimated that between 80 and 90 delegates were in attendance at the convention. A total of 105 delegates had been elected to represent county citizens at the convention.

These four students were proclaimed winners in the fifth annual Warren County Schools Spelling Bee held Tuesday night of last week at North Warren Elementary School. From left to right are Trezeleene Kearney, third place winner; Beverly Richardson and Wakoda Richardson, named first place winners after efforts to break the tie were unsuccessful; and Steve Odom, second place winner. The top three winners are all students at Hawkins Elementary School. Beverly Richardson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Richardson, Wakoda Richardson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie R. Richardson, and Odom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Odom. Miss Kearney, daughter of Mrs. Louvenia Kearney, is a student at North Warren. The spelling bee was coordinated by Rosiland Gilliam, elementary supervisor for Warren County Schools.

attended a Public Health Week luncheon April 6 at the Woman's Club in Raleigh. Governor Hunt proclaimed last week, April 8-14, Public Health Week in North Carolina. Keynote speaker for the Raleigh luncheon was Joe Beck, director of the Environmental Health Program of the School of Nursing and Health Services at Western Carolina University, who spoke on "Promoting Health Through a Safe Environment."

"Public health departments do many services for the public that are now accepted as routine," Lennon said in an interview last week. "The public and private drinking water safety program, vaccines and immunization programs for measles and polio, and the food service program that includes grading of restaurants, nursing homes, and hospitals for proper food handling are just a few."

Lennon said the food service program is one aspect of the local health department's efforts to prevent illness.

According to Marty (Continued on page 11)

Dr. William E. Byrd, a rheumatologist from Halifax County who services Warren County's arthritis clinic each month, was guest of honor at a reception last Wednesday at the county Health Department. The reception, held during National Health Week, was to introduce Dr. Byrd to area physicians and county agencies in order to increase utilization of the arthritis clinic. Dr. Byrd (above, left) is shown at the reception with (left to right) Joe Lennon, Warren County health director; Julian Farrar, Warren County Social Services director; and Dr. Cosmos George, Warrenton physician. (Staff Photo)