Garden Club

Members Meet

Mrs. Mary Jordan served as hostess for a recent meeting of the Town'n Country Garden Club, with Mrs. Sophie Hawkins presiding, and opening the session with the reading of the Club Collect. Minutes of the March meeting were read and approved, after which discussions began.

The first order of business concerned the Norfolk Azalea Festival, with facts pertaining to the trip presented by Mrs. Geneva Fitts, and discussed by the group. A satisfactory decision was then made.

A discussion followed pertinent to the visit to the Hundley Crysanthemum Greenhouses in Norlina. All agreed that the visit had been very interesting, informative, and enjoyable. It was discovered that the growing of chrysanthemums in a controlled environment requires work, expertise and joy in performing the activity. Mr. and Mrs. Hundley explained in detail the factors involved in this enterprise, and each member was presented a single beautiful mum at the end of the tour. The group expressed thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Hundley.

Mrs. Hawkins reported on the flower of the month, the sweet pea, which is one of the special flowers for the month of April. It belongs to the same family as the kind of pea that we eat. The flowers resemble miniature sunbonnets or butterflies, and originated as Italian wild flowers. The plants may be dwarf, which grow only a few inches high, or climbing, which grow along strings or trellises. They need rich, well-drained soil, and plenty of sunshine. Each member was given seeds by Mrs. Hawkins.

"The Gardener's Self-Examination" ended the discussions, followed by the social hour, at which time refreshments were served by the hostess.

Eagles

The largest known gathering of bald eagles takes place each fall in southeast Alaska when more than 3,000 of them descend on a short stretch of the Chilkat River to snatch up its unusually late salmon run, National Geographic reports.

Methodist Women Pay Visit To Inez

Approximately 160 United Methodist women from the Raleigh District toured the Inez community of Warren County Monday as a part of their annual visit to historical places of interest.

The visitors arrived at Shady Grove United Methodist Church early in the afternoon and were met by Mrs. Patsy Coleman and Charles Davis.

They continued their tour with visits to Myrtle Lawn, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Williams; Cherry Hill, the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson and Edgar Thorne; Lake o' the Woods, the home of Mrs. George W. Davis; and Shady Hill, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Williams, Jr.

At Shady Hill, Mrs. Williams, president of Shady Grove United Methodist Women, gave an informal reception for the group.

During the morning, the visitors were the guests of the Louisburg United Methodist Women and Louisburg College.

In Louisburg, the women visited Green Hill, one of the 10 original Methodist shrines now listed in the National Register of Historic Homes. Green Hill is also where the first North Carolina Methodist Conference was held.

Warrentonians participating in the tour were: Miss Elizabeth Allen, Mrs. Scott Gardner, Mrs. Howard Daniel, Mrs. Broadus Vernon, Mrs. J. T. Jenkins, Mrs. Rufus Jones, Mrs. Edward Hunter, Mrs. Fred Hurst, and Mrs. Howard Oakley.

The women of the Raleigh District felt it especially appropriate to visit Green Hill this year, during the bicentennial of Methodism.

They also toured the President's Home at Louisburg College, which was also the home of Gov. Thomas W. Bickett; Person Place, now on the college campus, which was a joint restoration effort by the college and the Person Place Society; the Franklin Academy Building which is the oldest structure on campus; and the new Taft Building which is the newest structure on campus.

The women also enjoyed lunch at the college before leaving for Inez.

The Raleigh District of Methodist Women is composed of churches in Franklin and Warren counties and a portion of Vance County.

Good Seasoning

Sage is a versatile seasoning. It blends well with pork and poultry, can be sprinkled on cottage cheese or added to vegetable soup.
