Cards Of Thanks

The Warren County Jaycees would like to thank the public for the successful backing of our project for Special Olympics. The funds raised, along with some additional support ($500), went into the sponsoring of the Warren County Special Olympics.

A word of special thanks is due to the good people of Tar Heel Tire Service for the donation of the tires for the raffle. It is well known by the civic clubs of this area that without good-hearted merchants our projects would fall short of their goals.

Also, a word of thanks to Sonny Peoples of Henderson Insulation who bought 50 tickets on the raffle and gave them to those less fortunate.

Most importantly, we would like to thank you, the public, again for this showing of unity in your support.

In closing, I would like to say that we again are planning to help Special Olympics next year. If you missed helping us this time and would like to give your support, you may do so by contacting any member of the Warren County Jaycees at any time.

This year's president of the Jaycees will be David Harris.

Almost All Risks Can Be Insured

Almost anything can be insured for a price. Some of the largest insurance companies, such as Lloyd's of London, maintain divisions that write "excess and surplus" lines of insurance.

Large property and casualty companies write coverage for "assorted risks." The specialty market is made up of those companies who write hard-to-get, one-of-a-kind or unusual policies, says Dr. Thelma Hinson, expression.

"Protection from all risk may be desirable, but not realistic in terms of cost. On the other hand, inadequate protection for large risks places your financial future in jeopardy," says Dr. Hinson, who suggests review of existing insurance policies.

People can also insure against adverse publicity, the dangers of watching auto racing, lost contact lenses, hang glider liability, moving and storage losses, multiple births, rain, saddle animal liability, stock broker errors and omissions and waterbeds.

Some of the more frequently used specialty insurances include burial insurance, child care insurance (for those who keep kids at home on a business basis), health and burial insurance for pets, home business insurance, investors insurance, legal expense insurance, mugging insurance and travel insurance.
