In Memoriam

In loving memory of our husband and father, Wheeler Stevenson, who left us two months ago the 7th.

Since You're Gone
I listen for a step that never falls
I scan each near horizon for your face;
My heart yearns for a voice that never calls
My arms reach out in vain to empty space.

I didn't know until you went away
Quite what had been your place within my life,

The trials and burdens that we faced each day,
So often seem to cause us strain and strife.

As we walk side by side with those we love
Upon our journey through this vale of tears,
How much we need to seek light from above
To guide us as we travel through the years.

So now you've had to leave us for awhile
A place above in higher realms to fill;
And though we miss your kind touch and your smile
There's work for each of us to do until.

We gather one by one within the fold
And meet the Shepherd face to face at last;
Where heaven's beauties will our eyes behold
And will enjoy the long prepaid repast.

Oh, blessed Holy spirit, on this day,
Help us to be so kind and just and true
That when a dear one must be called away
We'll not be left with sad regrets and rue.
