What a beautiful week we have had, the nice sunny days and the cool, good sleeping nights. The summer has been the hottest I can remember. We have all suffered, and we are all glad to see some cool days. The extremes of the seasons are hard on our old people, but I know we have to be thankful for all of it.

We have had a lot of visitors in the last couple of weeks and several of our folks have gone home to be with their families. Nancy Carter has gone to the beach with her sisters, Edward Spence has gone home with his daughter, James Scott is going home with his sister to stay awhile, Sara Burchette has been home with her sisters, Tommie Harris has been with his father for a few days, and many more have been home for the day or out to eat with some member of their families.

Birthdays for the month include: Columbus Bryant 12th, Rudolph Latm 21st, Travis Lamm 1st, Ossie Hines 29th, Andrew Stansbury 10th, Francis Green 12th, Herbert Murphy 17th, Mattie Davis 8th and Clifton Braddy 18th. I am sure they would all appreciate a card from any of you on their special day.

There haven't been very many things going on at the rest home due to the extreme heat, but we will be having some events during the month of September. We are planning to have an open house some time this fall. The date has not been set yet, but will let all of you know about it in plenty of time.

Residents having visitors this past week-end were: Louise Kearney, Mollie Dye, Edward Spence, Pattie Arrington, Mina Reid, Williams.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Edna W. Mustian of Richmond, Va., Mrs. Stella W. Rose of Norlina, Mrs. Odell W. O'Con of Richmond, Va., and Mrs. Arline W. King of Warrenton; one son, Jesse C. Williams of Richmond. Four brothers, Jack Satterwhite of Chester, Va., Nolton Satterwhite of Clarksville, Va., Stephen Satterwhite of Alexandria, Va., and Creed Satterwhite of Warrenton; one sister, Mrs. Claudia Coley of Palmer Springs; 12 grandchildren, 22 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Fair

(Continued from page 1) has been given a special designation, Thompson stated. Monday fairgoers may take advantage of the opportunity pay one price and to ride as many rides for as many times as desired. On Tuesday, senior citizens will be admitted free and industrial employees will be admitted free with a pass. Wednesday is school day, and students will be given free admittance. The gates will open at noon on that day and a drawing for prizes is set for 6 p. m.

Also on Wednesday, the Junior Beef Cattle Show is scheduled for 4 p. m. The Feeder Pig Show will begin at 4 p. m. on Thursday, and all firemen and their families will be admitted free with passes for the evening's entertainment. Friday's special event will be the 4-H Poultry Show and Sale at 4 and 4:30 p. m., respectively.

Paid Homage

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zimmerman of Jamaica, N. Y. recently paid homage to their deceased son, Donald Zimmerman, by holding graveside prayer at Greenwood Baptist Church in Warren County.

Other friends and relatives present were his Godparent, Mrs. Hazel Laws; his God-sister, Mrs. Dorothy Young and children, Bobbie and Stephanie, all of Jamaica.

Earl Bobbitt, Dora Collier, David Gay, George Ellington, John Patrick, Walter Rich, Harvey Carroll, Earl Pollard, Tommie Harris, Eula and Walter Rivers, Joe Faulcon, Ammie Woodard, and probably several others that I failed to see.

Please, please, if you have a family member in any kind of home, try to go and visit as often as you can. It is very depressing for these folks to stay here day after day with no visitors.

I want to dispel a rumor that has gotten around town that the management at the rest home will be changing and that Ruby Clary and I will be leaving. This is in fact just a rumor. It is not true. I hope to spend the rest of my working days as manager of this home, and I am sure Ruby does, too. Several people have asked us about it, and we just want to make sure that everyone knows that it is just a rumor. There are going to be some personnel changes made at a later date, but it will not be in the managerial position.

We want to say a special "thank you" to a couple of people for sending us a truck load of watermelons, which were very much enjoyed by the residents. William Ellington gave the melons and Ms. Judy Stainback delivered them. Thanks a lot folks. We had a watermelon party on Labor Day and everyone had all they wanted to eat.

We also want to say "Thank You" to Mrs. Walley who is Mrs. Pearl Bobbitt's cousin for a car load of beautiful plants she brought for our living room and office. They were really very pretty and the residents have enjoyed looking at them.

Correction

In the obituary for Anna Marie Seaman in last week's issue of The Warren Record, the name of Donnie Bratton, a pallbearer, was inadvertently misspelled.

(Continued from page 1) Vaughan submitted and explained the budget amendments for fiscal year 1983-84. The commissioners voted to direct Mrs. Carolyn Robertson, finance officer, to make the necessary corrections in the budget.

—Fire Department —Commissioner Phil Daniel announced that he had met with Fire Chief Lee Cheek and that the recently repaired pagers were operating satisfactorily. He expressed a need for additional pagers for firemen to use at their places of work.

—Street Department —It was reported by Commissioner Bobby Edmonds that improvements planned by one of the property owners in the West Franklin-South Main - Market - Front Street block would possibly interfere with garbage pick-up and fire protection for a number of businesses in that block and with access to the taxi stand on the corner. White, Edmonds and Vaughan planned to meet with the property owner to learn whether an alternate plan might be possible. Board members voted, however, to designate two parking spaces on South Main Street for taxis if needed.

Wastewater Department — Commissioner W. A. Miles indicated that lightning damage had been repaired and that although everything was in working order, additional work was needed. Concern was expressed over a sewer leak behind Currin's Minute Mart on Ridgeway Street, and plans were made to investigate.

Mayor White announced that Warrenton had again qualified for the Community of Excellence Award to be presented at a meeting at the Civic Center in Raleigh on September 19. He reported that six reservations have been made on Warrenton's behalf.

According to the mayor, the Town of Warrenton has received reimbursement from the State of N. C. in the amount of $1,912 for expenses incurred during the search for prison escapees from Virginia during the summer.

Vaughan reported receipt of a letter from the Department of Transportation indicating plans to time the traffic signals in Warrenton in order to allow traffic to flow more smoothly.

The mayor adjourned the meeting shortly after 9 p. m.

It is that time of year again. Time to start preparing for the Fall State-wide Clean Up Litter Week.

The North Carolina Department of Transportation (NCDOT) and the Agricultural Extension Service will conduct their fall clean up litter campaign Sept. 16-22.

During the campaign at least three NCDOT maintenance crews will be assigned to pick up litter in each county. Also, large litter bags will be provided to volunteers who participate in the campaign through the County Department of Transportation and Agricultural Extension Service.

Sept. 22 will be proclaimed Youth Involvement Day by Governor Jim Hunt.

visiting associations, would be held at the center. Meek estimated that it will take at least 18 months to complete the project after the necessary land is obtained. He also said that the center would probably be built on the north side of One Creek, where the pond is located. The advantages of Norlina as a site for the proposed center are that it is located near an ample supply of water, that it is centrally located, and that it is far enough away from any other habitations to permit damage through smoke, smell and other matters connected with fire fighting.

Discussion of matters concerned with the proposed fire fighting training center was the only new business discussed by the commissioners. Old business consisted of the reading of the minutes of the August meeting when it was decided to replace the town's mercury street lights with sodium lights. When Town Clerk Mae Gums said that she had not yet attended to this matter, Commissioner Eleanor Hayes expressed her regret that she had voted for the change, but she received no support for rescinding the motion.

Present for the hour-long meeting were Mayor E. L. "Bill" Perry, and Commissioners Eleanor Hayes, Dwight Pierce, James Vaughan and Kenneth Severance.

community organization is interested in participating, you may contact Miss Margaret J. Woods, associate Home Economics Extension agent at 257-3640 or Glenwood Rose at the Warren County Department of Transportation.

Some Plants

Favored By Fungi

Powdery mildew is one of the most common diseases of landscape plants. If you have some of the more highly susceptible plants, the easy way out may be to replace them.

The following plants are likely targets of the fungus-caused powdery mildew:

Crepe myrtle, lilac, euonymus, drooping leucothoe, a number of oaks, roses, some chrysanthemums, and occasionally azaleas, hybrid rhododendrons, zinnias and phlox.

Damage caused by powdery mildew can range from slight to severe. The disease generally occurs in shady areas during the spring and fall when the weather is cool and the humidity is relatively high.

The characteristic symptom of powdery mildew is a fluffy white to light gray fungus growth on succulent stems, leaves, buds and flowers.

Young plants and actively growing shoots are more severely damaged than older plants, leaves or branches. Infected leaves may be dwarfed, curled or deformed.

Powdery mildew can destroy the blossoms on crepe myrtle. Small dead flecks in the leaves and defoliation may occur in some varieties of azalea and rhododendron.

Highly susceptible plants, such as euonymus, should be replaced with plants that are not susceptible to powdery mildew. If damage is severe and susceptible plants must be grown, apply Benlate as a foliar spray. Two or three applications are usually sufficient. Follow label directions.

Another fungicide which will control powdery mildew is Karathane. Spray with Karathane every seven days or as needed. Follow label instructions for the rate and list of plants on which it can be used.

Sulfur can also be used as a spray for powdery mildew.

Freeze-Up

Air conditioners occasionally freeze up. Most room air conditioners will not operate properly if the outside temperature drops below 65 degrees. Other causes of icing include a dirty filter, fan speed too low or running unit at a very cold setting for too long.
