Crossover Voting

the majority of black voters were Republican. In 1960 black precincts in Atlanta supported Republican nominee Richard Nixon for President over Democrat John Kennedy. It is hard to understand, as much opposition there was to the PCB in this area, $500,000 spent in law enforcement, how much ball money was put up, that the black vote is heavy for the one who forced this upon the county.

Another thing, I do not quite understand is block voting. What is gained, when a few control the minds of a large block of votes?

It is interesting the number of people who still think of old grandfather. He would turn over in his grave if I voted differently than he would have, but it is nice to know that they give it a second thought. Times have changed and he probably would have voted with the times. My dad died not knowing if you all had brainwashed me or not.

Roof Repairs

there was no plan for "sustained" use of the building in the immediate future, and the board decided to take no action regarding repairs.

"You have done your job in making us aware of these problems," Board Chairman Henry Pitchford told Jordan. "Because we don't take action it doesn't mean we don't appreciate your making us aware."

The board did take action to provide $339 in matching funds for a $3,034 grant from the U. S. Department of Energy (DOE) for employment of an engineering firm to study energy practices and usage at Mariam Boyd Elementary School.

On the basis of the firm's report, the board will make application in April 1985 for funds from DOE to implement recommendations in the report.

Jordan had asked DOE to consider South Warren, John Graham and Warren County High School as well as Mariam Boyd, for project funding, but Mariam Boyd was the only school of the four selected in the county.

Selection was based on the school's adaptability to energy saving measures such as percentage of glass and brick in construction and wind factors.

Jordan said he intended to resubmit the other three schools for consideration in the next cycle of grant funding.

Apprehended

According to reports, the assailant ran so fast that Miss Rodwell could not get a good description. However, she did indicate that he was "fairly tall," and was wearing a dark jacket and blue pants.

Among the items in the pocketbook was about $58 in cash.

Area Law Enforcement Officers Complete Training

Jonas M. Alston and Betsy F. Frazier of the Warren County Sheriff's Department were among 14 area law enforcement officers completing the recent Basic Recruit Training School of Vance-Granville Community College.

The graduates were recognized at ceremonies on Oct. 4 at the Henderson Police Department Training Center.

Daniel W. Guin, director of the college's Community Services Division, assisted by Captain Melvin Smith of the Henderson Police Department, presented certificates to the graduates.

Tom Long, director of the Criminal Justice Program at VGCC, served as master of ceremonies. Henderson

Chief of Police K. K. Roberson welcomed the group and recognized special guests.

Guest speaker for the occasion was the Honorable Robert H. Hobgood, Resident Superior Court Judge, Ninth Judicial District.

The speaker thanked the recruits for the contributions they are making "on the front line" of law enforcement.
