BREAST FEEDING

'Babies breast-fed during the first 6 months of life may enjoy fewer visits to the doctor for illness than do babies bottle-fed from birth," says Dr. R. Paine of the University of lowa. He lists these advantages:

1. Human milk has high levels of fatty acids, important in baby's brain development;

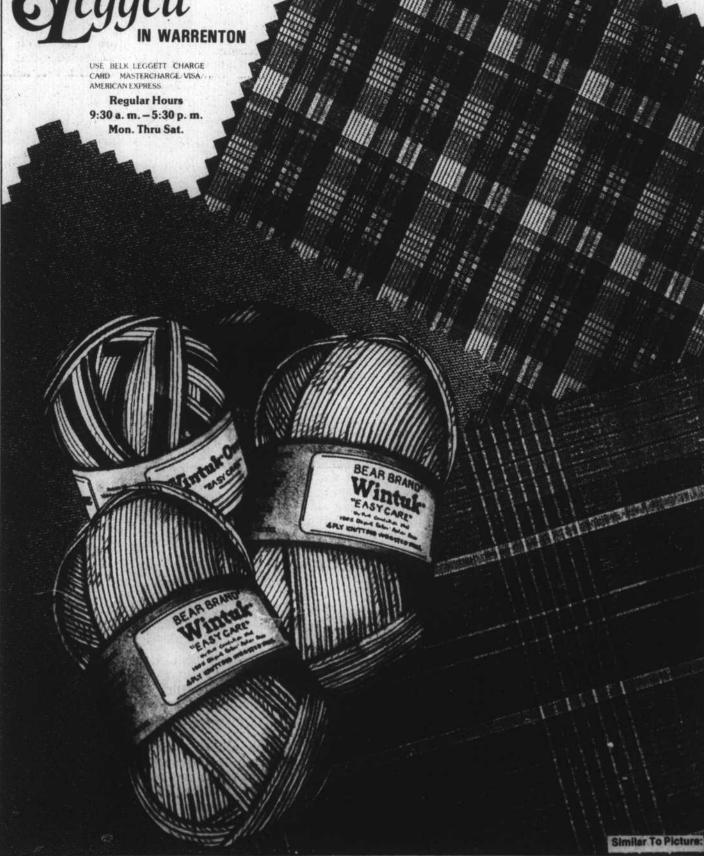

2. Human milk contains immune substances that protect baby against certain bacteria and viruses; 3. Breast-fed babies may have fewer allergy problems.

Dr. Paine further urges that nursing mothers follow a naturally wholesome diet.
