BUDDY'S WORKSHOP

Remove All Wax Before Painting

Why is it that paint and varnish does not dry properly when applied to some surfaces -- as a stair rail or steps -- that obviously have not been painted for several years?

Paint, varnish -- in fact, most finishes will not dry properly when applied to surfaces that have been waxed. The wax loses its luster over the years but much of it still coats the surface and prevents the new finish from adhering to the surface. It's always wise to clean the surface before painting. You can use turpentine or ask your paint dealer for a surface preparer that will remove old wax.

Does paint really preserve the life of a galvanized garbage can or is it purely a decorative measure?

Paint always preserves. Before and during use, maintenance can greatly extend the life of galvanized cans. Before use, coat the inside of the garbage can with zinc chromate. Prime and paint the outside of the can, including the bottom. Periodically wash the inside of the can with water under pressure and turn it over to dry before using again. These measures prevent the formation of rust.

Is there some kind of helpful treatment when windows first start to bind?

Raise (or lower) the window and clean the track, removing all accumulated dust, dirt and other materials. Apply dry soap or wax to the track.

Local Crafters Being Sought

Local and out-of-town crafters are invited to reserve space as soon as possible to participate in the Second Annual Spring Craft Fair at the Warrenton National Guard Armory on Saturday, April 27, according to Mrs. Karen White, fair chairman.

Last year's fair, with 58 crafters participating, was the beginning of what is hoped to become a tradition in Warrenton. Mrs. White predicted that the second fair will be better than last year's event.

No admission will be charged to those attending the fair. Doors will open to the public at 10 a. m., at which time ham and sausage biscuits, Brunswick stew, hot dogs, and baked goods will be available for sale.

Rounding out the activities of the Second Annual Spring Craft Fair will be a barbecue chicken supper from 4-7 p. m., sponsored by the Warrenton Rural Fire Department, and a 10-item raffle drawing at 6 p. m.

Mrs. White asks that persons wishing to reserve space for displaying and selling crafts contact her by telephone at 257-4145 after 1 p. m.

Matthews Gets Durham Post

Byron Peete Matthews of Chapel Hill, son of Mrs. Jane Peete Matthews of Warrenton, has recently accepted the position of district circulation manager for "The Durham Sun" newspaper of Durham.

Matthews was formerly associated with The News and Observer Publishing Company of Raleigh. He is a student at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

He is also the son of the late Byron Hannibal Matthews of Chicago, Ill.

Thompsons Take Trip To South

Lt. Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. W. B. Thompson have returned home after a trip to Charleston, S. C., where they visited with Col. and Mrs. Claude A. Rawlins for three days. While there they visited some of Charleston's historic sites.

They also traveled to Ocala, Fla. and spent six nights with their son, Louis E. Thompson, and his wife, Frances. In Florida, the Thompsons toured Ocala, St. Petersburg, Sea World, and Epcot Center.

Col. Thompson was recalled to N. C. on Wednesday, Jan. 23, to attend the funeral of his brother, Perry W. Thompson, in Kinston.

Check House Plants During Cold

Check your house plants for signs of trouble during the cold months when the home heating system is working.

Trouble signs are very likely to show up in the form of "burned" leaf edges as if they have been scorched by flame. If you have plants with this symptom, the problem may be house heat.

Extension horticulturists at North Carolina State University point out that house plant troubles often show up during winter when dry heat is being pumped into and circulated through the house.

Another major source of house plant problems is too much water. There seems to be a natural tendency to want to water a plant too often when it is in the house during cold weather. This will cause lower leaves to turn yellow and fall off.

Too little light is another cause of sickly house plants. This will cause them to grow spindly and one-sided.

The NCSU specialists suggest adding moisture to the room air to raise the humidity and help prevent leaf burning. Water the plant only when the soil is dry to the touch.

If your plant isn't getting enough light, move it to a window or consider using a special fluorescent light designed for plant culture.

CHEESE FOR TEETH
Hard cheeses, especially cheddar, have a decay-slowing reaction on human teeth. Ingredients in cheese may interfere with the acid that decays teeth. Consider snacks of cheese instead of sweets and sugary foods that tend to decay teeth. For a big smile, and sound teeth, "say cheese".

Winter Corrosion

Frequent washing is a critical part of winter car care. Corrosion begins on the underside of the car and works its way through. You can prevent this by cleaning road salt and other foreign material from the underside panels with the pressure washer wand at a self-service carwash or doing the job at home with a garden hose. Use a carwash soap that doesn't remove wax.
