Echocardiography
Myocardial infarction, or heart attack, is the major cause of death or disability in patients during and following surgery.

Now, UC San Francisco anesthesiologists report that a technique using echocardiography is superior to ECG in detecting myocardial ischemia (changes in the heart wall due to a lack of blood to the muscle).

Native Of Norlina Is Given Promotion

Norlina native John Clarke of Chesterfield, Va. has recently been promoted to a senior executive position with the Apache helicopter program of U. S. Army aviation. Clarke is an employee of the Civil Service and his promotion represents a change from program management with the Chinook cargo helicopters, which has been his role for the past seven years, to program management for the attack helicopters of the Apache program.

Clarke was quoted in a recent issue of the Gateway Reporter, "Program management is not an eight-to-five job, but it is a satisfying job. I can't think of a place where a person can have as much responsibility and authority as this, and be able to work with so many high caliber people. I have a good sense of accomplishment, being part of Army aviation and the defense department."

Clarke has a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from N. C. State University, and he is an engineering graduate of the U. S. Navy Test Pilot School at Patuxent River, Md.

A recipient of the Meritorious Civilian Service Medal, Clarke has also served with the Applied Technology Lab at Fort Eustis, Va. and

Old Homeplace Gutted By Fire Last Thursday

The old Moseley homeplace, owned by Harold Stegall, on the Wise-Oakville Road, burned to the ground last Thursday morning as the result of re-ignition of a fire which firemen had extinguished some 10 hours earlier.

The first call to the two-story frame house came at 5:15 p. m., at which time firemen removed the furniture and were able to confine the fire to the back part of the house, according to fire records.

A second call came at 4 a. m., when the fire re-ignited and the house burned to the ground. The cause of the fire could not be determined, but Walter Gardner, captain with the Warrenton Rural Fire Department, said arson was a possibility.

Nine firemen from the Warrenton, Hawtree, Norlina and Churchill-Five Forks rural departments responded to the calls.

Burning trash was listed as the cause of two fires extinguished recently by the Warrenton Rural Fire Department, according to Gardner. On Monday, four firemen brought a grass fire under control at the home of W. E. Exum on Warren Street in Warrenton.

A similar situation was encountered on Friday morning when nine Warrenton rural firefighters answered a call to WARR Radio Station and put out a grass fire.

Fire which started in a chimney threatened the home of James Davis in the Marmaduke community on Sunday morning.

The fire started on the first floor of the home but efforts to confine it there were unsuccessful. Damages were estimated at $3,000 to the building and $500 to the contents.

Social Security Personnel Write

Payments Not To Replace All Earnings

This column is provided as a public service from the Henderson Social Security Office.

Social Security is the Nation's basic method of providing a continuing income to you and your family when your earnings stop or are reduced because of your retirement, disability or death.

Social Security payments are not intended to replace all loss earnings. People should try to supplement Social Security payments with savings, pensions, investments, or other insurance.

Nine out of 10 workers in the United States are earning protection under Social Security.

In Warren County as of June 1, 1984 there are 3,120 workers and dependents receiving Social Security benefits totaling $963,000 per month.

As of October 1, 1984 there are 878 individuals in Warren County receiving Supplemental Security Income benefits totaling $160,000 per month.

About one out of every six persons in the country receives monthly Social Security checks. Over 24 million people 65 and over, nearly all of the Nation's older population, have health insurance under Medicare.

Another 3 million disabled people under 65 also have Medicare. The basic idea of Social Security is simple: During working years, employees, their employers, and self-employed people pay Social Security taxes. This money is used only to pay benefits to the over 36 million people getting benefits and to pay administrative costs of the program.

If you're employed, your Social Security tax is deducted from your wages each payday. Your employer matches your payment and sends the combined amount to the Internal Revenue Service. The tax rate for 1985 for employed individuals is 7.15 percent.

If you're self-employed and your net earnings are $400 or more in a year, you must report your earnings and pay your self-employment tax each year when you file your income tax return. This is true even if you owe no income tax. The tax rate for a self employed individual in 1985 is 14.10 percent.

Your wages and self-employment income are entered on your Social Security record throughout your working years. This record of your earnings will be used to determine your eligibility for benefits and the amount of cash benefits you and your dependents will receive.

When today's worker's earnings stop or are reduced because of retirement, death, or disability, benefits will be paid to them from taxes paid by people in covered work and self-employment at that time.

Part of the taxes goes for hospital insurance under Medicare so workers and their dependents will have help in paying their hospital bills when they become eligible for Medicare.

The medical insurance part of Medicare is financed by premiums paid by the people who have enrolled for this protection and amounts from the federal government.

The government's share of the cost for the medical insurance part of Medicare and certain other Social Security costs comes from general revenues of the U. S. Treasury, not from Social Security taxes.

Funds not required for current benefit payments and expenses are invested in interest-bearing U. S. government securities. Monthly Social Security checks may go to workers and their dependents when the worker retires, becomes severely disabled, or dies.

Monthly Social Security benefits include retirement, disability, dependents and survivors.

know your Carpeting

By Ed Evans

WILTON CARPETS
Wilton is a name used to describe woven carpet made on a Wilton loom. This equipment was named for a town in England. Wilton looms are most often used to manufacture patterns and multi-level textures. Woven carpets interface surface and backing yarns. The Wilton loom employs a pattern-making mechanism, operating on the same principle as player piano rolls, with punched pattern cards determining yarn pile height, and color selections. We leave the making of carpet to the manufacturers. They know their business and we know ours. Our business is filling your carpet needs with high quality merchandise at low prices.
