Nature Spraying With Its Yellow Shubbery

While many plants have yellow flowers, shrubs with yellow flowers are harder to come by. Shrubs with white, pink, purple or red flowers are more common.

There are some shrubs with yellow flowers, however. Here is a list, from horticultural extension specialists at North Carolina State University, of some of the shrubs with yellow flowers suitable for North Carolina:

—Winter jasmine (Jasminum nudiflorum) sheds its leaves in the fall, but remains green throughout the year because of its green bark. The small, yellow flowers of the winter jasmine contrast sharply with the shrub's dark green bark. The flowers are also a contrast to the winter landscape in which they open.

—Leatherleaf mahonia (Mahonia bealei) produces spikes of bright yellow, fragrant flowers. An added treat is that the leatherleaf mahonia blooms in the middle of winter. The shrub makes an excellent accent plant or specimen plant.

—Lady Banks rose (Rosa banksiae) is a semi-evergreen, vining rose with few, if any, thorns. Diseases or insect pests may devastate hybrid roses but rarely bother Lady Banks rose. Clusters of small, double, creamy yellow flowers cover the plant in late spring and early summer. There are cultivars with single yellow flowers or double white flowers, but the double yellow Lady Banks rose is the most popular.

—Forsythia or golden-bell (Forsythia X intermedia) blooms in early spring before it puts out any leaves. It has been popular in North Carolina for generations because it is beautiful, easy to grow and has many uses in the landscape.

—Wintergreen barberry (Berberis julianae) makes an impenetrable hedge with its thorns and stiff, evergreen foliage. It blooms in the spring.

—Scotch broom (Cytisus scorpiarius) has green stems and small leaves. The flowers are like those of a bean because the plant is a member of the bean family. The most common variety of Scotch broom has dark yellow flowers and has become naturalized around some old homesite in North Carolina.

CARDS OF THANKS

Thanks to the residents of the Hawtree Volunteer District, our volunteer fire fighters, and the ladies auxiliary for their support, help and donations for our barbecue chicken supper on March 2. Your many contributions make our fire department a success.

BRUCE E. PERKINSON, Chief Hawtree Volunteer Fire Department

We would like to thank Drs. George and Perry for the concern and patience shown our mother over the past few years. We would also like to thank all our wonderful relatives and friends who were there when we were away. Thanks to all of you for your phone calls, visits, cards, food, monies, flowers, kind words and of course, your prayers. Our mother loved people and gave of herself. Our hearts are happy because of the way you reciprocated.
