Golden Drink

The ancient Aztecs considered chocolate such a prestigious drink that the golden goblets in which it was served were thrown away after one use, National Geographic reports.

MRS. DWIGHT AYSUCUE

Debbie Ange Weds Native Of Warrenton

On Saturday, Feb. 9, at 4 in the afternoon, Debbie Ange and Dwight Ayscue were united in marriage in a candlelight, double-ring ceremony in Jamesville Christian Church.

The Rev. Gary Arnold officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ghurman Ange of Jamesville and the granddaughter of Mrs. Rasha Chesson of Roper.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Ayscue of Warrenton and the grandson of Mrs. Leonie Young of Wise.

Mrs. Helen Price, pianist, presented a prelude of nuptial music. Kenneth Holliday played the guitar and sang "The Wedding Song." He was accompanied by Kevin Holliday. During the ceremony, Giles Stallings sang "The Wedding Prayer."

The altar of the church was beautifully decorated with a heart-shaped candelabra arrangement of white candles with greenery intertwined for a center setting. The altar was also flanked by palms.

On either side of the altar were two nine-branch candle trees decorated with white candles and mixed arrangements of lavender pompons, white daisies, and white carnations.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of silk taffeta over peau de soie. The molded bodice, embellished with designs of Venice lace fleurettes embroidered in pearls, was fashioned with a yoke of English net holding a stand-up pearl collar. The Empress sleeves topped at the shoulders with ruffled lace and crystal pleated taffeta ended in fitted sleeves of lace ruffled at the wrists.

Petite bridal buttons closed the back bodice and the lowered waist encircled with an overlay of lace curved to a basque back. The softly flaring skirt was adorned with scalloped lace and extended into a bouffant, chapel-length train.

Her bridal hat of silk horsehair braid covered in organza etched in pearl lace fleurettes and pearl stems featured an upturned brim enhanced with silk petals and leaves. Clustered back loop bows of silk illusion held her double waltz-length veil.

The bride carried her mother's prayer book topped with a bouquet. Mrs. Cindy Camlin, sister of the bride, was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Miss Gail Ayscue, sister of the groom, Mrs. Marianne Peedin and Miss Crissie Perry.

Flower girl was Miss Jaimie Ayscue.

Milton Ayscue was his son's best man. Ushers were Curtis Ange, brother of the bride, Barry Wester and William Twitty.

Mrs. Louise Willis and Mrs. Lois Ward were mistresses of ceremony.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained guests at a reception in the fellowship hall of the church.

Mrs. Gladys Short,

sister of the groom, presided at the registration table. Mrs. Denise Ange and Mrs. Ava Barber served the wedding cake and Mrs. Mary Chesson and Mrs. Joy Holliday served punch and coffee.

During the reception, Kyle and Jaimie Ayscue, Brooks and Travis Wester and Kristin and Todd Short distributed wedding scrolls to the guests.

After the reception, the couple left on a wedding trip to The Balsams, Dixville Notch, New Hampshire. They will make their home in Jamesville.

Courtesies
