Warren Retail Sales Jump With Food Sales Leading Way

Retail sales in Warren County in-creased from $42,286,000 in 1985 to $46,354,000 in 1986 or by 9.6%, according to figures recently released by Sales and Sales Management Corporation, one of the nation's most widely read and respected private economic Retail sales in North Carolina were 6.1% greater in 1986 than those of 1985. Total national retail sales were $1,476.2 billion in 1986 or 5.8% greater than 1985 national retail sales of $1,395.2 billion.

For a number of obvious reasons both government and private economists carefully monitor retail sales and other retail activity. Retail sales are almost by themselves evidence of both national and local economic conditions. The overwhelming majority of consumer Retail demand almost immediately translates into demand for manufactured goods and agricultural products. Other sectors of the economy, including credit and transportation, are also inevitable, and almost as im-mediately, affected by the requirements of retail trade.

There is considerable discrepancy between methods used by various state and local governments to report retail sales. Many rely upon state and local tax figures (particularly sales taxes). Since many states and localities exempt certain and different items from various taxes, it is often difficult to obtain comparative figures from one locality to another. This is one of the reasons that private reports which use a standard definition for retail sales throughout the country are often considered to be more reliable sources of retail sales information.

For statistical purposes, retail sales are divided into several categories. These include food, eating and drinking places, general merchandise, furniture and appliances, automotive, drugs, and all others. These definitions are somewhat ar-

Before Camp Approved

Zoning Changes Needed At Lake

By DIANE DAVIS Staff Writer

Changes in zoning for the tract of land which is the proposed site for a multi-million dollar development on Lake Gaston are needed before the Warren County Planning Board can give approval for Bright Horizons Camp.

Bright Horizons Camp is a $3-4 million development which was proposed by New Jersey doctors Willie Carter and Roy Jones. Cathedral Designs has been contacted by the doctors to provide architectural services.

Their plan is to develop into a campground and commercial area the 145-acre tract of land adjacent to Lake Gaston Baptist Church and owned by Union Camp Paper Company.

Although the land is now zoned residential, the Warren County Planning Board recommended last Wednesday that the zoning designation of the site be converted into a multiple-zone area: residential, commercial and camping.

The board is working with County Attorney Charles Johnson
and the N.C. Department of Natural Resources and Com-munity Development to make sure that all the proper steps are taken to rezone the land.

Once the planning board makes its request for the rezoning to the Warren County Commissioners, there will be a public hearing to receive citizens' comments on the project. If there is no opposition and the commissioners approve the request, the plans for Bright Horizons Camp will be under way.

The plans for the project include lodging, national industry camping tourism such as KOA (Kampgrounds of America), restaurants, supermarkets, convenience stores, etc. Recrea-tional areas are also included in the plans. In other matters, the board:

-Approved revisions on a preliminary plat for Gaston Heights, a subdivision located off S. R. 1316. Revisions included six lot changes and a road change.

-Approved revisions on a preliminary plat for Buck Springs Plantation east and west, which included cutting out a natural ravine for future development, changing the location of a recreational area, and revising 26 lots within the subdivision.

-Approved revisions on a preliminary plat of River Forest, Section III which changed the property line between lots 22A and 22B.

Approved revisions on a preliminary plat for Summer Woods, Section IV, a subdivision located near the Warren/Halifax county line. The revisions included having lots 29A and 29B on individual septic systems, while lots 30A, 30B, and 30C will use a community well.

An election-year evaluation of the effectiveness of North Carolina's legislators released yesterday by the North Carolina Center for Public Policy Research of Raleigh suggests that lawmakers representing Warren County vary widely in terms of their effectiveness Effectiveness rankings were released for all 50 members of the N.C.

Senate and 120 members of the House of Representatives for the current 1987-88 N.C. General Assembly.

For the fourth consecutive session, both Senate Majority Leader Kenneth C. Royall, Jr. (D-Durham) and House Speaker Liston B. Ramsey (D-Madison) were rated the most effective legislators.

"Since the Center's first effectiveness rankings in 1978, the survey has been a consistently fair measure of the effectiveness of legislators," said Ran Coble, executive director of the Center. "Those who assess effectiveness and who make the rankings are the best qualified people to make these judgments—the legislators themselves, registered lobbyists who work with the General Assembly regularly, and capital news correspondents who cover the legislature

Among the three members of the N.C. House representing the 22nd District, which includes a large portion of Warren County, William T. Watkins (D-Granville) ranking second among his 119 colleagues was rated the most effective. John T. Church (D-Vance) was ranked 23rd in effectiveness, and James W. Crawford, Jr. (D-Granville)

The remainder of Warren County falls into the 7th House District, represented by Thomas C. Hardaway (D-Halifax), who ranked 82nd.

Ranked ninth among the most effective senators was J. J. Harrington (D-Bertie), who represents that portion of Warren in the Second Senatorial District. The remainder of Warren County lying in the 13th Senatorial District is represented by James E. Ezzell, Jr. (D-Nash), who had a ranking of 17th.

There's a high correlation between chairing a major money committee and being rated among the most effective legislators, the survey shows.

"The two seem to march together in lock-step," Coble noted. "But it's more than a matter of the spoils belonging to the victor. The legislators who chair appropriations and finance committees usually get high effectiveness ratings-but they get appointed to chair those committees because they already are effective members of the House

Longevity of service was a key factor in obtaining a high ranking, whether Democrat or Republican. Of the legislators ranked in the bottom 40 in the 120-member House, only seven had served more than one prior term. In the Senate, only four of the 50 senators ranked in the bottom ten had served more than one prior term.

One Person Injured During Narrow Escape At Afton Fire

Warren County firefighters battled an early morning house fire on Tuesday in which one person was injured in a narrow

A fire broke out in the kitchen of a home located in the Afton community, destroying nearly half of the single-story wood structure.

At 6:30 a.m., Afton and War-renton Rural Fire Departments were called to the scene of the fire at the home of Girtie Williams. Apparently the fire started near an electric stove on which Mrs. Williams had been cooking breakfast. The fire spread quickly into the back bedrooms of the house where most of the family was still sleeping. Stanley Williams awoke to the smell of smoke in the house. He was unable to open the bedroom door and finally escaped by crashing through a window with his two children.

After his escape, he went around to another window and helped his cousin, Lory Taylor, 10, escape from the burning structure.

Taylor suffered minor cuts on the shoulder and legs while escaping through the window. He transported to Maria Parham Hospital in Henderson for treatment.

Firemen from both departments stayed on the scene for an hour and a half making sure that the fire was completely out.

There was heavy smoke and water damage to the sections of the house which were not burned. Afton Fire Chiei Dean Andrews determined the house a total loss. He estimated damages to the home and its contents at $20,000 or more.

A fire call came in on April 7 at 1:50 p.m. from Wilma D. Alston of Rt. 2, Warrenton. The paneling in her living room caught fire around the chimney, causing part of the wall and ceiling around the chimney to ignite in flames.

According to Chief Kenny Clayton of the Warrenton Rural Fire Department, the paneling was located too close to the chimney connection. When the area became too hot, the panel-ing was ignited, sending flames up the wall and onto the ceiling.

Clayton stated that some of the wall and ceiling had to be torn down to put the fire out. estimated at $1,500.

On April 9 at 6:40 p.m., Raymond Yancey called firefighters from the Warrenton Rural department to his residence on Plainview Rd., located off the Baltimore Road.

Yancey stated to the firemen that he had been control burning some of the debris from his trailer that had caught fire a few weeks ago. The fire apparently had gotten away from him, causing him to call for assistance.

Damaged in the fire were a camper and some building supplies, estimated at $1,200.

On April 11, firefighters were called to the residence of Sherry Bullock, on Rt. 3, Warrenton in the Perrytown community.
