EDISON PARTY AT LINCOLNTON.

Mr. Thomas A. Edison and party, who spent Tuesday night in this city, did not reach Lincolnton until 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. A special

The party expects to be in this neighborhood for 10 days, but has not yet decided as to its movements. The prospector, whom Mr. Edison has had here looking for cobalt, is in the western part of the State, but is expected to get here tonight. When he arrives the daily operations of the party will be planned.

The mineral sought is said to be about 10 miles east of Lincolnton, but investigations will be made around Payson's Mountain, in Gaston; King's Mountain, in Cleveland and at other places.

SOUTHBOUND SURE.

"Road Being Built in Good Faith" Says Colonel Fries and the Treas- urer Says it is Certain.

Lexington Dispatch.
The Dispatch has fluctuated between hope and despair about the Southbound railroad until a good heart "it will be built" with the accent on the will affords intense relief.
We have grabbed at straws and have quit grabbing them and grown pessimistic. Our people have been the same way. We now purpose to put on the smile that will stay on and hug closely and constantly the belief that the Southbound will be built. A Dispatch man talked with the treasurer of the road last week and he stated the above emphatic, "It will be built.
There is simply no doubt about it." Henceforth, doubt not. We are convinced entirely that on a day not very far off we shall hear the whistles blowing the station signal for Lexington.

RURAL ROUTE SERVICE.

Assistant Postmaster General Issues Statement Regarding Inspectors.

A statement issued by the fourth assistant postmaster general yesterday says that the purpose of the inspections of rural free delivery routes recently ordered by the department is to ascertain and remove, if possible, the cause of any adverse conditions that may exist, such, for instance, as lack of interest, hostility of postmasters whose cancellations are interfered with by the rural carrier, or opposition on the part of those holding contracts for star-route service whose employment is menaced, and if such be the case to suggest a remedy for such adverse conditions.

The statement says that reports that those inspections are with a view to discontinuance of such service or its reduction from a daily to a tri-weekly service, particularly in the South, are without foundation.

LONGWORTH'S SPEECH.

In House Wednesday President's Son- in-Law Spoke on Diplomatic Service Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The day's proceedings in the House were closed with a speech by Mr. Longworth (Ohio), who talked on the merits of the diplomatic and consular bill itself, a fact to which he called attention as being something unusual as "general debate" meant anything else but debate on the bill.

Mr. Longworth, who showed large familiarity with his subject, contrasted the salaries paid our ambassadors and ministers and those paid by foreign governments. He said our system was to compensate our envoys by paying them directly while foreign governments paid both directly and indirectly. The American ambassador to Paris receives $17,500; the British ambassador to Paris receives $45,000; an official residence, an appropriation for the establishment, $6,000 for official entertaining, and at the close of 20 years he is pensioned at $10,000 per year for life.

He made a strong plea for the purchase of buildings by the American government in foreign countries and said "then the man of moderate means, the man who most truly represents the bone and sinew of this republic, would not be placed at a disad-vantage as compared with another man who had more money."

"No longer then would a condition exist under which those offices of the highest responsibility and dignity could be given only to rich men, and no longer would there be a single office in the gift of the American people which would not be within the reach of any American citizen."

AN ATTRACTIVE FLOAT.

Description of the Splendid One of Bailey Brothers, Which Appeared in Big Parade in Charlotte.

Those who attended the big celebration in Charlotte this week saw that the float of Bailey Brothers, of this city, attracted a great deal of attention in the parade and that it advertised this well-known firm's tobaccos in a most effective manner.
The float, which was nine feet wide and 22 feet long, was drawn by six black horses. The background was of granulated tobacco and the letters in natural leaf tobacco. The body and canopy of the float were of tobacco.

Several catchy inscriptions were used. On the front horse was a banner with the words "Bailey Brothers;" on the next, "Not in a Trust;" on the last "Bill Bailey." The word "independent" was in burnt wood at top of the float. There were on the float two swans with a rope of tobacco in their mouths and in front of these a large star.

The float was gotten up in an extremely artistic manner and reflected much credit upon Dr. J. A. Blum, of this city, who decorated it so effectively, as well as upon the firm of Bailey Brothers.

IN THE COURT TODAY

Judge Peebles Fines a Young Men $30 For Carrying A Pistol.

His Honor Said He Put $10 on Be- cause the Defendant Swore Falsely. —Bob Cobler Convicted of Receiv- ing a Stolen Watch.—Several Road Sentences.

In the superior court this morning a young white man named Will Penney was convicted of carrying a concealed weapon and Judge Peebles then promptly imposed a fine of $30. Defendant's counsel appealed to his honor to reduce the amount, but Judge Peebles stated that he considered the verdict of the jury just and righteous.

The counsel for a young negro man stated that the mother of his client had concluded that a short term on the county roads would prove an effective lesson to her wayward son, though she would object seriously to a long sentence, as she felt like it would prove disastrous on account of the boy's health. The lawyer went on to say that he was ready to submit to a verdict of guilty for his client, with the hope that his honor would make the sentence brief. "I will not promise what I will do until after I hear the evidence," said Judge Peebles. The time for hearing the case was next discussed. The lawyer said that his client's mother was not present. "If she wants her boy to go to the roads there is no necessity for her being present at the hearing," promptly replied Judge Peebles.

Bob Cobler was put on trial this afternoon on the charge of being implicated with Ed McCoy in the robbery of a watch from Charles Morris, several months ago. It will be recalled that McCoy was convicted at the February term of court and given two years on the roads. A few weeks thereafter McCoy made a dash for liberty and was shot down and killed by one of the guards at the convict camp. At the time of McCoy's trial Cobler had not been arrested.

The jury returned a verdict convicting Cobler of receiving stolen goods, but not guilty of the larceny of Morris' watch. By request of defendant's counsel Judge Peebles reserved sentence.

Court Proceedings.

Amos Hoge, assassin, was fined $10 and costs.

Nat Jones, for assault with deadly weapon, was given a term of four months on the roads.

Floyd Dobson, colored, for larceny, was sent to the roads for four months.

Carrie McCann, colored, was convicted of stealing $5 from Solomon Winn. She was given twelve months in the penitentiary.

In the case of Fred and Flave Jones, colored, for cursing and drawing a pistol on T. S. Fleishman on train between this city and Kernersville, jury returned a verdict of guilty as to Fred, the other brother being acquitted.
Sentence has not been imposed upon Fred.

SHOT MAN THREE TIMES.

Woman in Richmond Police Court Tells of Her Exploits.

Richmond Times-Dispatch.
When Mrs. Ida S. Hughes, before Magistrate Lewis' court in Henrico county yesterday morning, informed the court and an interested group of spectators that she had shot three men in her short career, a hush fell over the audience that recognized here was a woman of a type rarely seen in the effort East, and rather more thought of as typical of the wild and wooly West. The third and latest
