UPRISINGS IN RUSSIA ARE YET CONTINUING.

Revolts in Various Parts of That Country Have Created a Serious Condition and Extreme Measures Are Being Taken.

By Wire to The Sentinel.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 8.—Although reports of serious peasant uprisings continue to reach the city, the situation throughout the provinces is really somewhat improved. Stories of uprisings, however, will not stop and they have had the effect of making every one feel uneasy. In certain sections peasants are said to be burning property indiscriminately. It is known, too, that in some provinces, notably Saratov, peasants have engaged in almost daily conflicts with Cossacks. The Cossacks are also reported to be burning property freely in retaliation for attacks made upon them. One report says that at Ail-hove 125 houses were burned and that at Morshansk fifty houses were burned and 100 women perished in the flames.

Outbreaks in some sections became so serious that in several instances peasant members of the Douma were obliged to depart from St. Petersburg for homes to assist in calming the peasants.

EIGHT ARE KILLED.

Disaster In Montana Mine Also Causes Injury To Many Others.

Fire Breaks Out And Cuts Off Number of Miners from Escape, With Disasterous Results.—Believed That Other Dead Bodies Are in Mine.

By Wire to The Sentinel.

RED LODGE, Montana, June 8.—Eight miners are dead and it is believed several others lost their lives as a result of white damp following fire which filled corridors of Rocky Fork Coal Company mine. The fire, which had been smouldering for a year, broke out Tuesday but it was supposed to be under control. When the men went to work yesterday the flames became suddenly active and men working in lower levels were cut off. White damp followed and men were overcome.

There were many daring rescues. As the rescuers cannot proceed to a lower level it is believed more have lost their lives.

RAPIDLY GROWING LOCAL CONCERN.

There is operating in this city a company destined to great proportions. This company is the Consolidated Granite Co., formed a few months ago, taking over the business of the firm of C. A. McCallard & Sons. This company has just installed the most up-to-date machinery at their plant, near the Norfolk and Western depot. One of their latest additions is a fine polishing machine. It is one of the largest of its kind in the world. All of their machinery is to be operated by electricity and compressed air. A 75-horse power Westinghouse motor is being installed. The company has two quarries in Rowan county, from which the granite is secured. At the quarries a 22-horse power hoisting machine and also an 18-horse power air compressor has been installed, while the air compressor here is 12 horse power.

The company employs about forty men, several of these being natives of England and Scotland. They also have in their employ some of the finest stone cutters in the South.

The specialty of this firm is monumental work, using for this work their North Carolina blue pearl granite. There are only two other quarries in the United States, one being in Vermont and the other in Massachusetts. The North Carolina granite, it is claimed, is heavier and more uniform in color than the product of these other quarries. It is very dark on a smooth surface, but when carved the color is gray, making a very striking contrast.

The company here own their quarries, while the Northern granite is sold wholesale and then polished, etc., by the retail companies. These things, together with the extremely good labor conditions in this State, give the local concern a great advantage over their Northern competitors.

Besides their blue pearl granite, they use the Mt. Airy granite for building purposes, having a car load now to be used in the Reynolds-Wallaska Co. store on Liberty street.

Another branch of their business and one in which the possibilities and resources are unlimited is the spotted or Leopard granite, which is gotten from a quarry in Davie county, they having a lease on it for 30 years. This stone is used for decorative purposes and there is a great future for it.

To show the large extent of their trade, it can be said that the company has had orders from the following states: Iowa, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, West Virginia, New York, Pennsylvania, Nebraska, Kentucky, Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, South Carolina, Maryland and Tennessee, and from the District of Columbia.

The company proposes to get out a large catalogue and send copies to every state in the union.

TO MAKE RE-SURVEY

An Engineering Corps Begins Work On the Inter-Urban Line To High Point.

First Survey Not Altogether Satisfactory.—Trouble Was in That Part of Line from Wauhatchow to the City.—Heavy Grades And Called for Running Under. Eight Tracks of the Southern Railway.

There is evidence that the inter-urban railway between Winston-Salem and High Point will be built. A new corps of engineers is here and began work this afternoon to make a re-survey line. The first survey, it is learned, was not altogether satisfactory to the promoters—the men who proposed to put up the money to construct the road.

A gentleman in position to know thinks the road will be built. He argues that the company would not be spending money in having surveys made if it did not mean business.

The chief engineer is Mr. Howard Sanford. His assistants include Mr. Armstrong, of Philadelphia; C. C. Fryler and Benbow Whitlington, who recently completed an engineering course at Guilford College.

It appears that the unsatisfactory part of the first survey was in that part crossing under eight tracks of the Southern Railway which would have been very expensive and difficult.

NEW BOOKS AT THE CARNEGIE LIBRARY

Although the summer season is on, the number of books being issued from the Carnegie Library has been holding up exceedingly well. There is to be an assistant librarian and this will be quite an addition to the already excellent facilities. A souvenir postal card is to be gotten out and will be on sale at the library.

Something new for Winston-Salem people is to be instituted by the librarian—a children's hour. This is to be held in the auditorium of the library and will consist of the reading to the children, by the librarian of such books as "Bird's Christmas Carol" and other books that delight the little ones. There will also be amusements for the children, such as recitations by those gifted in this line. These "hours" will be held once or twice a month.

MEETING OF THE Y. M. C. A. GLEE CLUB

The Y. M. C. A. Glee Club lesson last night was very successful. The club is composed of beginners and also advanced students. A short lecture lesson was given on some musical elements and questions asked. This was followed by explanations of notes such as sharps, naturals, double flats with their alphabetical names. Professor Houghton is apt and clear as a teacher, not only in imparting knowledge of the subject but also in training the novice by quick and thorough methods.

The next step was the learning of reviewing of the names of notes on paper and the note names on the staff. Element sheet reading followed and each member sang perfectly the intervals of a third, fourth and fifth from various given sounds, although they had never tried this before. The intervals were, too, successfully named from their position on the staff, being picked out from the chords of a new vocal composition. These names often appear difficult to a more mature performer. The club is already productive of good, as there were discovered two experienced voices, having belonged to different church choirs who have been invited to join their respective churches and choirs in this city. In addition there are several already church members who are improving with the vocal study. The evening concluded with some union and four-part singing. Nothing but the highest praise has been given Prof. Houghton by the members for his thorough and sane methods in bringing out the best in the voices and his ability as a teacher so that at the conclusion of the lesson each member feels that the time has been well spent. The next rehearsal will be Monday night at 8:30. New members may join at any time.

Friends of the association are invited to join the members on their moonlight walk tonight.
