VERY FINE OPENING

One Hundred and Fifth Annual Session of Salem Academy and College.

Large Enrollment of Pupils—Dr. Clewell and Others Make Brief Addresses—Part of Memorial Building To Be Occupied—New $12,000 Organ to Be Installed by Next April.

This morning at 10 o'clock the Salem Female Academy and College, which has been the Alma Mater of so many bright girls in the Southland, held its one hundred and fifth opening exercises in the beautiful Home Mission church.

A large number of the friends and patrons were present and listened with intense interest to the fine addresses made by Dr. J. H. Clewell and Rev. J. K. Pfohl and Rev. Edward S. Crossland.

The music for the occasion was impressive and very appropriate, striking the keynote of the institution—piety.

Rev. Edward Stemple made a most earnest prayer for the holy guidance during the year in all the school work. The song of Deborah, Judges V., was selected by Rev. Mr. Brennecke for lesson of the morning.

Dr. Clewell, in his address, extended a most hearty welcome to all friends, patrons, old and new pupils, and the Salem Boys' School. He spoke earnestly to the student body, giving them as their motto, "Others not self."

"This is the true secret of happiness," said Dr. Clewell. Today begins the one hundred and fifth year since the school was organized, fifty years before Winston was founded. Love for the school is attested by the generations after generations who send back their daughters to be educated here.

He stated that the upper floor of Memorial Hall has been completed, and all the pianos placed in position. The plans for the handsome $12,000 organ were also completed, which would be in position by April. The beautiful auditorium, when completed, will seat 2,000 people. This means much not only to the school, but to the State, and Rev. J. K. Pfohl, in a short address, spoke of these as preparation days, the indications being that this would be the best of all the school years. His advice was to take each day as it comes, not look too much into the future. He gave them for their motto, "Whom having not seen I love."

Mr. Crossland spoke of the self-denial, practice and study necessary to success, and gave them as their motto, "Seek that ye may excel," or New York's motto, "Excelsior."

It was a most impressive sight to see the 400 students march in a most orderly manner out of the church. Quite a number of those present availed themselves of the opportunity to look over Memorial Hall. The third story, which is nearly finished in white, well lighted, with about 40 rooms and is perfectly equipped in every particular. The brass plates for the foyer have been ordered, and will add greatly both to the beauty as well as to the interest of the building. Indeed, this will be a building of which all will be justly proud.

CHANGES HIS PLAN.

Russian Premier to Take People Into His Confidence More.

Is Arranging To Hold Weekly Conferences When Various Matters Will Be Discussed With Him—People of All Stations in Life To Be Invited To These Conferences.

(By Publishers' Press.)

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 5.—Undismissed by attempt made upon his life two weeks ago, when a bomb was exploded in his villa during a reception, the Russian premier, Prince Stolypin, has decided to hold regular Thursday receptions at the winter palace when various political questions will be discussed. Not only will officials be admitted to these receptions but persons of all stations of life are invited to attend. The premier is anxious to secure the opinion of all as to the reforms which he proposes to submit to the next Duma.

LARGE TUNNEL IS NEARLY COMPLETED

(By Publishers' Press.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Although the Pennsylvania tunnel builders believe that they have now all means of protecting the lives and the health of their workers, investigation is constantly going on to find out if there is anything more that could be done to reduce the dangers of caisson work. Pearson & Son, who hold the East river contract and have by far the most difficult part of the work to be performed, have employed English scientists to make an exhaustive study of the effect of the air pressure, with a view of avoiding caisson disease altogether.

Two of these scientists recently spent three hours under a pressure of 92 pounds without any apparent effect, except that if they held an arm or leg in one position it became stiff. One of the investigators noticed that his left arm, which was bent in one position most of the time he was under pressure, was several hours in getting into action. It is thought that these results support the idea that "bends" is a disease caused by congestion of the blood. The same investigators are continuing their researches and further important results are expected.

But as the case stands, the death rate in the tunnels that are being bored under East and North rivers for the Pennsylvania railroad is no greater than that among the skyscraper iron workers. This is due largely to the fact that no precaution or remedy that can be thought of is neglected in order to reduce illness among the workers to a minimum, and to provide quick means for cure when illness does occur.

NO NEWS REGARDING CUBAN REVOLUTION

(Special to The Sentinel.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—The Cuban legation here is without news from Havana regarding the revolutionary movement. Senator Prado, charge d'affaires, is, however, at a loss to account for the presence in New York of M. Calzadilla, who is variously styled commissioner of government of Cuba and its press agent. He says it is strange that the Cuban government would send a commissioner to this country when it already has an established legation here and in possession of further information as to the situation in Cuba.

It is reported that Policeman Samuels, of Kernersville, tendered his resignation to Mayor Linville, of that town, last night. According to the information that comes to The Sentinel, Mr. Samuels arrested a negro for larceny. He was tried before the mayor and bound over to the Superior Court. The officer took his prisoner to the depot in Kernersville and was awaiting the arrival of the train to bring the negro to jail. While the engineer was giving the station blow, Policeman Samuels' prisoner skipped out. The negro made his escape last night one and made his escape. Last night one of the boys of Kernersville wrote this on the bulletin board at the Kernersville station: "Samuels—45 minutes late." United States Consul General Richard Guenther, of Frankfurt-on-the-Main, Germany, has made a review of report for State department. He suggests that light colors should be chosen for clothes in mosquito-ridden communities. He quotes from a report the statement that 119 mosquitoes settled on dark colors during an experiment and only 33 upon light ones.
