ALDERMEN OF RALEIGH WIN THEIR CASE

(Special to The Sentinel.)

RALEIGH, Oct. 10.—There can be no election on "prohibition," "dispensary" or "open saloon" in Raleigh this year, the supreme court having last evening dismissed the case of Rev. S. J. Betts vs. City of Raleigh in which the aldermen appealed from an order by Judge Webb, allowing a mandamus compelling the aldermen to call the election in accordance with the petition filed by Betts for such election.

The dismissal is on the ground that no matter how the court might decide the point of the Watts act allowing an election on "prohibition" or "dispensary," the technical point of the defect in the Watts act, the fact remains that it would be impossible to hold an election this year without its being either within ninety days before or after a general election.

This ruling makes it possible for the aldermen as long as they see fit to effectively bar all effort for any change from the dispensary, as they can stave off action on an application for order of election, then decline to grant it, stand suit for mandamus so that some election, local or general, would intervene year in and year out. Raleigh opponents of dispensary will turn attention to either amendment of the Watts act or get in favor with the board of aldermen.

THREE ORDERS SERVED UPON THE RAILROADS.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

RALEIGH, Oct. 10.—An order was made this afternoon by the corporation commission for the Seaboard Air Line and the Raleigh and Charleston Railroad Companies to proceed with the erection of a union station at Lumberton in accordance with plans submitted by the railroad companies, the cost estimated to be about $6,000. This order is in the case of Citizens of Lumberton vs. Seaboard and Raleigh & Charleston. There being no exceptions as to the plans they are presumed by the commission to be acceptable to the citizens of Lumberton. The union station is to be completed within ninety days.

The commission also made an order today for the Atlantic Coast Line to provide an agent and telegraph operator at Coffield in Hertford county, a point heretofore a flag station. This order is made in granting the petition filed by Hon. E. B. Winborn, of Murfreesboro.

There was also an order this afternoon granting the petition of Curtis & McQueen for a special siding at their saw mill at Lake View. This case was heard by the commission Monday.

THOMAS DIXON'S RICHMOND TALK

In reply to editorial criticism of him for having left the pulpit to become a novelist and playwright, Thomas Dixon, Jr., Saturday night at the Academy of Music, Richmond, Va., addressed an audience assembled to witness the production of his play, "The One Woman."

He said in part: "Seven years ago I found myself the pastor of the largest Protestant congregation in New York. In receipt of the largest salary of any minister in my denomination. But I found two important facts—that I had no talents for the pastorate; that I was only a platform speaker, and that my entrance into the ministry was the most serious mistake of my life—for this reason and the additional reason that I could no longer subscribe to dogmas I was required to preach. According to my critic I should have held on to my big church and my salary, but I did what any honest man would have done—and I resigned my church and my salary and returned to my farm in Virginia, and began life over again earning a living for my wife and baby with my pen. For six years I worked day and night as a slave, and wrote the three novels which gave me the first success of my life, and gave to my loved ones the comforts I desired for them. Ladies and gentlemen, is this a crime?"

"I dramatized my novels and made still larger success in the drama. I have no apologies to make for the work."

"'Uncle Tom's Cabin' has been played for fifty-four years. More than one hundred companies are playing it in every tongue of the civilized world. Wherever it goes the name of the Southern white man is being covered with immortal infamy. Ten years ago I saw this play in New York. I sat through the three horrible hours and saw my mother and father and all my people of the Southland covered with unspeakable shame. I leaped upon the seat in front of me and burst into tears. Then and there I promised Almighty God that if He gave me strength I would tell the story of my own silent people and give to the world their side of the darkest problem that ever shadowed the life of a nation."

"I wrote 'The Clansman' and produced it South and North."

"In the North thousands of good Yankees have clasped my hands and thanked me for giving them the real knowledge they had never received on this question. If I cannot produce it in the South I will not produce it in the North. The truth is its own vindication. North, South, East and West."

BIG PREPARATIONS FOR STATE FAIR

(By Publishers' Press.)

RALEIGH, Oct. 9.—It is just one week until the state fair opens in this city. Secretary Jos. E. Pogue declares that the preliminary work was never under better headway and that the outlook for the fair is all that could be desired. There is abundant promise of a high degree of success for every department of the great fair. It is expected that Chief Marshal J. V. Blades, of New Bern will within the next day or two announce his assistants, marshals representing every part of the state. The social features of the fair have not yet been all arranged but the marshals' ball the latter part of the week, as usual, be the crowning feature. There are to be more individual county exhibits in this fair than ever before with indications pointing strongly to New Hanover county as having probably the most extensive and creditable collective display.

Secretary Pogue says the midway features this year will be the most extensive in years, all high-class attractions. Most notable among these will be Col. Francis Ferari's great lion show that was such a great success at Brighton Beach Park this past summer.
