PERSONAL NOTES.

Mrs. H. W. Stanford went to Pilot Mountain today to visit relatives.
Mrs. W. H. Marler went to Mt. Airy today to visit her mother and brother.
C. H. Wilmoth, of Charlotte, was here this morning, enroute to the state of Wilkes.
Miss Maggie Joyce, of Germantown, who has been visiting relatives here, returned home today.
L. L. Thomas is spending a few days here in the interest of the North Carolina Christian Advocate.
C. S. Paris has returned from Greensboro, where he has been doing some decorative work for the Reubin Rink Co.
Clarence Call and family, of Wilkesboro, passed through the city this morning, returning from the Greensboro fair.
Len Blackburn, Robert McArthur and Paul Montague, students of the University at Chapel Hill, are visiting their parents here for a few days.
Mr. Chas. H. Westbrook, of the Meyers-Westbrook Co.'s big store, left yesterday evening for New York to buy goods for his firm. This is Mr. Westbrook's second trip North this fall. The firm's fall trade so far has been beyond all expectations, thereby necessitating a second trip to the market.

"COUNTY CHAIRMAN" PLEASURES RICHMOND.
The following is from the Richmond Times-Dispatch of Wednesday, relative to "The County Chairman" to be presented here at the Elks Auditorium tonight:
"The County Chairman," combining delightful bits of comedy, a touch of pathos now and then, and the necessary local coloring that gives atmosphere to a piece, is one of the best plays of its type that has been produced in years. George Ade has imparted to his comedy an element that at once makes its impression upon an audience. He has pictured village life in a town in the Middle West, but has not altogether relied upon the coloring to appeal to the audience. The play is not without strong dramatic situations, and the story that is told has a certain heart interest that relieves the comedy element with which the piece is so liberally supplied.
The Hon. Jim Hackler, as played by Mr. Theodore Babcock, is an admirable creation. Nothing could be finer than this character portrayal.
The actor's work is smooth and finished at all times, and never once suggests the too emphatic methods so often employed.
The old campaigner could easily be overdone in the hands of a less capable and less artistic actor than Mr. Babcock.
Mr. Ade has not, in writing the play, given very lofty political ambitions to his characters. He has struck nearer home and instead of senators, congressmen, or state legislators, there are simply the candidates for prosecuting attorney, with the small politicians usually found in a local political fight.
Sassfras Livingston, the colored voter who "won't stay bought," is one of the types, and the work of Mr. Thomas J. Grady in this role left nothing to be desired. Indeed, the entire cast was exceptionally well balanced, the result being a fine production of a clever play.

Tennessee's Crops Badly Damaged.
(Special to The Sentinel.)
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 12.—Owing to the recent incessant rains irreparable damage has been caused to all crops in Tennessee, especially in the eastern districts. The commissioner of the department of agriculture reports that the rains altogether prevented the proper planting of wheat, while the corn crop, an important one, has been knocked flat and is rotting on the ground. To add to the unfavorable outlook the cotton seeds are sprouting in the bolls.
"The Cotton Leak" Case.
(Special to The Sentinel.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The trial of Frederick A. Peckham, of New York, charged with divulging the secret cotton information of the bureau of statistics of the Department of Agriculture opened today. Edward W. Holmes, formerly assistant statistician of the department, will be indicted for the same offence.

MR. ALBEA'S ADDRESS ON ODD FELLOWS' ORPHANAGE
The Washington correspondent of the News and Observer says:
The Odd Fellows of this city, who are planning the establishment of an Odd Fellows Orphanage had as their guest last night Past Grand Eugene P. Albea, of Winston, N. C., who spoke to them of the successful efforts of the Tar Heel members of the order in the establishment of such an institution. Mr. Albea's remarks were very much appreciated by the local members of the order. He spoke of the efforts that resulted in the establishment of the North Carolina Orphanage, its success and present strength, and urged the Odd Fellows of this jurisdiction to take early steps to build a "home." He referred to the fact that the North Carolina Home has 106 orphans under its care and is considered one of the model institutions of the kind in the South. Mr. Albea received a fine reception at the hands of the Washington Odd Fellows, who have already undertaken the work of the establishment of this most charitable undertaking.
W. B. Glenn, who is now living at Saranac Lake, N. Y., is spending a few weeks here, the guest of his mother, Mrs. Sallie Glenn. Bynum's many friends in the Twin-City are delighted to see him looking so well. He now pulls the scales at 210.
