"HIS MAJESTY AND THE MAID" HERE TONIGHT

The following is from the Industrial News of today:
"His Majesty and the Maid" with Miss Mary Emerson as the maid, distinctly pleased the audience at the Grand last night, which did much to make up in enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers.
The play is of the Prisoner of Zenda school, with nobles in gorgeous uniforms plotting against the life of the sovereign, who is saved by the maid, who turns out to be his daughter.
There is a drunken scene, a duel scene, a minstrel scene and the various other scenes that go to make up the romantic drama that is written as if mantle dramas should be written. The scenery was really excellent, the woodland with which the play opens being as good as has been on the local stage for many a day.
Of the supporting company, by all means the best was Conrad Cartzen, as Count Nohberg, the chief plotter. Miss Mary Emerson, as the maid, was distinctively the central figure around whom the action of the drama revolved. She is a clever actress, of pleasing manner and pretty, without being strikingly beautiful. The part rendered upon her by the audience was one of approval, though the varying critic might perhaps say that her acting would have been more effective had there been more of naturalness and less of evident acting.
All in all, the play was entertaining, and what is more, unusually clean and wholesome from start to finish.

MR. R. N. HACKETT
HERE LAST NIGHT
Congressman-elect R. N. Hackett, who spent the night here, stated that according to the figures furnished him by his majority over Spencer Blackburn is 1,107 and he is quite confident that the official vote will show this to be practically correct.
Mr. Blackburn was to have left Wilkes yesterday, but for some reason he did not depart. He declared to W. W. Barber and others yesterday that he proposed to contest the election of Mr. Hackett and expected to keep up the fight for ten years, if necessary.
A number of Mr. Hackett's friends in this city were at the union station last evening and when he stepped from the train hearty cheers went up for the Congressman-elect, who was warmly congratulated upon his success. Mr. Hackett shows the effects of his strenuous campaign work. However, he says that he only lost four pounds. "I weighed 200 when I started out and now I pull the beam at 196," said Mr. Hackett, who left on early morning train for Raleigh.
It is known that many Republicans are rejoicing over the defeat of Blackburn. His fight for the State chairmanship did him no good in his fight for re-election.

TO TRY OFFICIALS.

MAN ATTEMPTS TO SHOOT HIS WIFE

Mr. John J. Nevin, of Cincinnati, Ohio, attempted to shoot his wife today and was only prevented from committing the deed by the prompt arrival of the police, who snatched a pistol out of the hand of his father and then knocked him down. Mr. and Mrs. Nevin appear separated a year or more ago, and the wife has been in Asheville for some time, conducting a boarding house. The husband and wife met here at the earnest solicitation of the son who hoped for reconciliation between his father and mother.
Mr. Nevin was arrested and locked up. He was intoxicated and admitted to the officer that his intention was to kill his wife. Mrs. Nevin, who is intelligent and appears to be a lady in the truest sense, told the policeman that this was not the first time her husband had attempted to kill her and that she was forced to leave him in Cincinnati on account of cruel treatment. Mr. Nevin and his son, who travel for a northern firm, have been in the city for a week or more.
Mrs. Nevin does not wish to appear against her husband and it is likely that carrying a concealed weapon will be the only charge against the husband when the case comes up before the mayor.
—Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Chatham Jr., who were married in the new M. E. church at Elkin yesterday afternoon, passed through the city last evening en route to northern cities. Mrs. Chatham, before her marriage, was Miss Grace Owen, one of Elkin's popular and accomplished daughters. The groom is brother of Mr. H. G. Chatham, president of the North Carolina Railroad.
—Mr. Q. Paul Royer, who has been the pastor of the "Fifth Field" Gospel church here for the past six months, left yesterday for Natch, N. Y. to enter the Missionary Institute to complete his course.
—The class pins of the senior class of the Winston High school have been received and are now being worn by the young ladies and gentlemen of the class of '07. The pins are extremely pretty and appropriate.

The bill of fare was as follows: Oyster Stew, chicken stew and chicken pie, other things, coffee and cigars.
Dr. Fulp was toast-master. "The way that crowd ate was a caution," says one who was present. "We despoiled everything in sight and even with an abundant supply Dr. Fulp refused to be satisfied."
Mr. Ford and his guests enjoyed the celebration to the fullest extent.

NEWS ITEMS REPORTED FROM GREENSBORO

(Special to The Sentinel.)
GREENSBORO, Nov. 8.—Garland S. Ferguson, Jr., an attorney and W. L. Brewer, an architect of this city, had a difficulty in front of the court house yesterday afternoon that attracted a large number of people. A man who had a claim against Mr. Brewer had placed the account in the hands of Mr. Ferguson for collection, who instituted suit against Mr. Brewer. When the summons was issued Mr. Brewer went in search of the attorney and met him in front of the court house. A few words were passed before Mr. Brewer intimated that Mr. Ferguson was not a gentleman. Hardly had the words gotten out of the architect's mouth before the lawyer struck him in the face. Mr. Brewer tried to defend himself, but the lawyer got the advantage of the difficulty, and Mr. Brewer went away with a bloody face and bruised nose. Both were cited to appear before the mayor this afternoon.
The Rev. Melton Clark, of Conover, S. A canvass of the returns shows that about 95 more Democratic votes were cast in the county last Tuesday than at the election two years ago. The Republicans suffered a loss of about 24 votes this time, compared with the former election.
Banner Goes To Broadway.
The committee decided that Broadway township had won the beautiful banner offered by Mr. E. H. Wilson to the township making the largest Democratic gain, compared with the vote for governor in 1904. The banner will probably be awarded one night next week at which time it is proposed to hold a reunion of the voters in Wauchope. Chairman A. H. Eller will likely make the presentation speech.
