

IN-CITY DAILY SENTINEL

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., SATURDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 8, 1906

PRICE 5 CENTS

REARING DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST TOWN OF SALEM

The damage suit of J. J. Chandler against the town of Salem, taken up in the Superior Court yesterday afternoon, was given to the jury this afternoon. The plaintiff asked for $2,000 for injuries sustained by falling over a pile of brick on Pond street, a few months ago. He was represented by L. M. Swink, while A. H. Eller and Morris & Hendren appeared for the town.

In the case of W. J. Ellis vs. John H. Dunn and J. H. Pratt and wife, the jury decided that the plaintiff was not entitled to the deed to a lot sold by Smith Alspagan for taxes and bid in Mr. Ellis. However, the plaintiff was allowed $16, with interest from date of summons, this to be paid by the owners of the lot.

The juries drawn for this week, except the 12 sitting on the Chandler suit, were discharged at noon today. Court will likely be in session all of next week, as very few cases on the calendar have been reached up to this time.

GREAT LONDON LABOR MEETING

(Special to The Sentinel.)

LONDON, Dec. 8.—At a great labor meeting in Hyde Park today at which the Countess of Warwick spoke the Rev. F. B. Myers, a Baptist minister, in reviewing the signs of the times predicted the extinction of the life forces in the near future. There was no need, he said, to argue that human society was passing through one of the greatest revolutions in history. It was a remarkable fact that the movement was not identified with the leadership of any one man as it was a movement of the people. Government by party was becoming more difficult as men were becoming imbued with the idea of social unity. Collectiveness was looking over the shoulders of individualism; competition was being set aside by cooperation; the spirit of service was asserting itself on all sides, and while the people of the smart set were wasting their lives in indulgence the trade classes were coming to the front. The Countess of Warwick during her address predicted a bright and happy future for the British laborer.

TWO HUNDRED LIVES ARE LOST AT SEA

(By Publishers' Press.)

VICTORIA, B. C., Dec. 8.—Passengers arriving on a steamer from the Orient report that the Russian steamer Varilgen recently struck a floating mine, a relic of Russo-Japanese war, off Cape Manchuria and was completely wrecked. Over 200 lives were lost.

There were 250 passengers on the Varilgen, mostly Russian traders. The steamer was four miles off shore. The lookout saw the mine ahead but the vessel's course could not be changed. A fearful explosion occurred when it hit the mine. The vessel was tipped open and then sank.

It was impossible to lower the life boats and many jumped overboard. Chinese junks put to the rescue and picked up over a hundred passengers from the debris.

TWO KILLED IN DANVILLE WRECK

BAPTIST STATE CONVENTION

One Engineer and Unknown Man Lost Lives in Collision Early This Morning.

Passenger Train No. 44 and Freight Train No. 23, both of which were running a double track, collided in Danville yards. Engineer George Kinney Being Killed—Dishonorable Man Is Brother of Engineer W. A. Kinney, Who Had Almost Miraculous Escape From Death in Recent Wreck Near Lynchburg.

(By Publishers' Press.) DANVILLE, Dec. 8.—Since about four o'clock this morning a collision wreck occurred in the yards in this city, resulting in the instant death of two men, and injuries to a number of others, one of whom will die.

The dead are George Kinney of Thompsonville, N. C., and an unknown man, probably a tramp whose body was mangled and burned beyond recognition.

The accident occurred on main line when No. 44, a mixed passenger and freight, crossed in front of a freight train standing on the track. No. 44 was behind time and was running at a rate of speed of 25 miles an hour having checked up when going into the city.

Five hundred yards away the cars were buried.

George Ford, the negro engineer, is now unconscious at the hospital and is expected to live.

The Danville fire department is now on the scene but the flames which had as yet been put out both trains are under control.

The names of the injured have not been secured but they included several passengers on No. 44 and a number of passengers. They were shaken and bruised up and are considered as being seriously hurt.

No. 44 is the opposite of No. 23, the train which President Spencer occupied when he was killed several days ago at Lawer's. Engineer George Kinney was a brother of W. A. Kinney, the engineer on No. 23, the train which ran into Mr. Spencer's car, and who had such a remarkable escape from death.

J. L. Gilmer returned this afternoon from a trip north. He was delayed a few hours by the wreck at Danville. Mr. Gilmer learned that the engineer and firemen of the passenger train and a fireman and brakeman of the freight were dead.

One Man Kills Another.

ELKIN, W. Va., Dec. 8.—In a quarrel over "moonshiners" of their own manufacture E. Arboadas was killed by Stanton Lambert. The men had quarreled previously and settled the trouble by agreeing not to open the keg in dispute. Arboadas broke his pledge, asking friends to sample the keg while entertaining them. Lambert appeared and emptied his shotgun into Lambert and then surrendered.

The large basement will be used for storage and packing while the other three floors will be used for display rooms. This new store is modern in every detail and fitted with a combination electric passenger and freight elevator touching each door, gas and electric lights have been installed.

Mail Christmas Presents Early.

Postmaster Reynolds and his clerks would advise those who intend sending Christmas presents by mail to do so early. During the few days immediately preceding Christmas there is such a rush of matter, especially in the registry department of the post office, that packages are frequently delayed and sometimes damaged in transit. The postmaster's idea is that most friends would prefer a present received early before the holidays than after it.

Kernersville Revival Closes.

KERNERSVILLE, Dec. 8.—The meeting which has been in progress at the Methodist church here for nearly two weeks closed last night. It was conducted by the pastor and Evangelist Bradford of Danville. Many people have been converted at the altar.

Mr. Bradford's earnest gospel preaching has proven a great blessing to Kernersville.

The last tobacco sales for the local market this year aggregated $12,702 pounds.

Mr. C. R. Trotter is installing a gas mill near the exchange plant below the Southern freight depot. It will begin operation in January 1. The plant will cost about $5,000.

Sgt. W. S. Simons of the city guards, at 1207, this afternoon from the Sunday school room of Centenary church. The boys and girls above the sixth grade are invited to attend the annual convention January 24 and 25.

JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION COMMISSION MEETS

(Special to The Sentinel.)

GREENSBORO, Dec. 8.—At a meeting of commissioners appointed to award the contract for the Jamestown Exposition building, held here last night, contractors asked for more time, and it was decided to hold a meeting next week in Norfolk to award the contract.

Mrs. Lindsay Patterson was appointed to have charge of the historical department.

Mr. G. W. Vanderbilt will fit up one room at the exposition.

exceeded $100. We believe the colored brethren need our sympathy and encouragement rather than our financial aid.

When the reading of the report was concluded the recommendations were referred to a special committee.

Following the adoption of the report of the Home Mission Board, the Rev. M. C. Gwinnett, of Hickory, submitted the report of the committee appointed to consider the above recommendations. The committee reported in favor of the recommendations and the report was adopted. The sum of $40,000 is appropriated to home missions.

Dr. J. C. Massey submitted the report of the Board of Trustees of the Baptist University for Women, at Raleigh. The report was highly encouraging. The report was discussed by the Rev. E. C. Bonner and the Rev. O. L. Stringfield. It was adopted.

Among the speakers at the session yesterday morning were Dr. Thomas Hume, of the University, and Rev. O. L. Stringfield, the evangelist. Both spoke on educational subjects and were heard with much interest.

Last Night's Session.

Interest in the State Baptist convention reached the high-water mark last night when President W. L. Poole, of Wake Forest College, addressed the convention, after having submitted the report of the board of trustees and asked for the $150,000 additional endowment as recommended in the report.

There are now in course of construction sixty-six houses of worship and twenty-one were completed this year. Of those completed two are in Greensboro, and one each in Baymore, Sharpesburg, Goldsboro, South Rock Mount, Abbeville, Raleigh, Hamlet, Concord, Pineville and Blowing Rock. On country fields houses have been finished in the following associations: Chowan, Tar River, Piedmont, Montgomery, Liberty, Surry, Ashe and Stanly. The aggregate value of the country churches reaches $25,000.

Several reports of auxiliaries and much miscellaneous matter was included in the report.

Four Recommendations.

We would respectfully recommend:

1. That the board be given discretion to provide amount to be expended not to exceed the total appropriations shall not exceed $10,000.

2. That the board be instructed to employ six general missionaries or evangelists, one for the Eastern and one for the Western section of the State, provided suitable men can be found to fill the salaries of these men out of State mission funds.

3. That the sum of $500 be set aside for the purchase and free distribution of books, the method of distribution being left to the judgment of the board.

4. That the board arrange with our pastor to collect offerings for two or more conventions at which we may endeavor to gather in the work among the negroes. We suggest that no salary be paid and the expense shall not exceed $100.
