FUNERAL OF MRS. MCKINLEY TODAY

Held at Two O'Clock This Afternoon—Business Houses and Schools of Canton Closed at Noon—Secret Service Men Looking For Brother of Assassin of McKinley.

(Special to The Sentinel.) CANTON, Ohio, May 29.—The funeral of Mrs. McKinley occurred here this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The favorite hymn of the late president, "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Nearer My God to Thee" were the hymns used.

All of the business houses and schools were closed at noon. President Roosevelt and Vice President Fairbanks were among the many distinguished people present.

The body was placed in Westlaw tomb beside the body of her distinguished husband, as heretofore announced.

Secret Service Men Active. CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 29.—Secret service men have been alarmed over the discovery that Michael Czolgosz, brother of the assassin of President McKinley...

Extreme precaution is being taken today to guard President Roosevelt during his visit. The observance yesterday by a son of Justice Day of three men having the appearance of foreigners near the McKelvey home caused an extra guard to be stationed there.

ARGUING GOLDSTEIN CASE. Will Go To the Jury Late This Afternoon—Four Speeches Made.

The Goldstein arson case will go to the jury late this afternoon. Four speeches were made today. Mr. J. C. Buxton made the opening argument for the prosecution.

The defendant was one of the witnesses examined this morning and those who heard his testimony say he made a good witness. On cross-examination he was asked if he would not deny it if he had been guilty of setting his home afire to secure the insurance on his household property.

Trouble In Chinese Province Continues

Troops Being Rushed to Scene As Rapidly As Possible—Hardly Any Anti-Foreign Feeling Manifested Yet.

HONG KONG, May 29.—Two large detachments of troops are now en route to Swatow and Shinging, in the rebellious Kwangtung province.

Troops marching from Swatow, Canton and Shinging are only three thousand, while the rebellious triads number thirty thousand. Until heavy reinforcements arrive it is expected little will be accomplished toward quelling the uprising.

Missionaries Fleeing. SWATOW, China, May 29.—Missionaries from interior districts are flocking here, fearing for their lives in the Triad uprising in which the German mission at Lien Chow has been destroyed.

Tired of Dowager Empress. CANTON, China, May 29.—The Manchu dynasty in China is seriously threatened by Triad uprising, which already covers a large part of Kwangtung province.

GRADUATING EXERCISES OF TRAINED NURSES. Interesting Program Carried Out at the Twin-City Hospital Last Night—Mrs. Johnson and Miss Butner Receive Diplomas.

Quite a large number of people attended the graduating exercises of Twin-City Training School for Nurses last evening at the hospital. These were most pleasantly conducted in the women's ward, which was attractively decorated in the hospital colors, white and blue.

The exercises were opened by a prayer by Dr. H. A. Brown, after which Miss Lora Ferrell sang beautifully "May Morning."

Bishop Rondthaler, in the absence of Mr. David Blair, made a most impressive address, on the importance of the trained nurse.

Mrs. R. S. Galloway then played exquisitely a lovely waltz from Faust. Bishop Rondthaler, in presenting the diplomas to Mrs. Estelle Johnson and Miss Ella Butner, was very happy in his remarks, speaking in the highest terms of their noble calling.

Very attractive looking nurses in their uniforms of blue and white, which will be laid aside in the fall for the pure white. At that time the two years' course will be completed.

The benediction was pronounced by Dr. Vestal, the father of Mrs. Johnson. The visitors were then invited into the dining room and served to delicious cream and cake.

Heretofore two years has been required for the course; hereafter three years will be necessary to get a diploma.

Misses Walker, Fleming and Taylor are the undergraduates now at the hospital training school.

Misses Alice Aycock and Harriet Dewey, of Goldsboro, who have been the guests of Miss Tuckie Vaughn, returned home today.

SEABOARD AIR LINE IS SUING

Action Brought In U. S. Circuit Court In Protest On Rate Reductions—Will Put New Rates In Force Pending Result of Suit.

(Special to The Sentinel.) RALEIGH, May 29.—A suit by the Seaboard Air Line, to test the constitutionality of 24 cents passenger and reduced freight rate acts of the last legislature is instituted in the United States circuit court and papers served on members of the corporation commission and the attorney general this morning.

The charge is made that the acts have the effect of depriving the company of its property rights under the constitution of the United States. The court is asked to construct the acts as unconstitutional and to issue perpetual injunction against application of rates to the Seaboard. The title of the case is Morton Trust Co. and James I. Burke, trustee of creditors, vs. Seaboard Air Line, corporation commissioners and attorney general.

The Seaboard will put in operation reduced rates in July under protest, pending the result of the suit.

CONCLUDED THIS AFTERNOON. Annual Commencement Exercises of Clemmons School—Presentation of Diplomas and Medals.

The annual concert given by the Clemmons School last evening was attended by a large crowd, the chapel being packed. Winston-Salem was well represented on this occasion. The exercises were creditable and greatly enjoyed.

FIRE IN BUILDING ON MAIN STREET. A fire which, together with water, wrought a good deal of damage, was discovered this morning at 11:50 o'clock in the second story of the Starbuck Block, on South Main street, just south of and adjoining the old Orinoco Warehouse.

The fire originated in the room of Mr. E. R. Watkins, totally destroying the furniture of the room and every article of wearing apparel. From this room the blaze was spreading rapidly to the room of Mr. Robert Shore, whose room is adjoining that of Mr. Watkins, and to the hallway and the loft above when the firemen arrived with their apparatus.

After the fire was under control, Mr. Watkins, with several friends and a reporter, entered his room. Although all the furniture was burned and charred, a trunk, aside from being badly scorched and charred remained intact. The trunk was not locked, Mr. Watkins remarked that he had never left his trunk unlocked before and that he did not believe he did this morning. An examination was made by the reporter and one of the firemen and it was found that the lock of the trunk was broken. Upon investigation it was found that twenty-four dollars which Mr. Watkins says he left in a wallet in the trunk was missing. The wallet was found packed in with the other scorched articles, but the money had disappeared. Upon further investigation Mr. Watkins found that an expensive ring was also missing. This, of course, led at once to the suspicion of theft. The lock on the charred door was examined, but found to be solid and undisturbed other than by the fire. If anyone entered the room before the conflagration they either had a key to the room or else went into the next room and crawled through the transom into Mr. Watkins' room. Nothing was found to be missing in the next room.

Mr. Watkins' loss was pretty heavy, especially in clothes. His wardrobe was completely destroyed, only the base remaining to mark the place where it formerly stood.

The room in which the fire started opens from the hallway almost opposite the entrance to the hall from the street below, and although the fire was raging fiercely in the hallway and Mr. Watkins' room, it was easily gotten at and quickly extinguished by the firemen. The blaze in the low loft, however, was not so easily managed and the dense smoke made it difficult work locating and extinguishing this blaze. This was done with dispatch, however, by the use of scaling ladders and the hook and ladder apparatus.

With the exception of Mr. Watkins' loss and the damage done the hall, practically all the other damage was done by water. These rooms are leased and fitted up by Messrs. Cletus and Oscar Reese, who sub-let them as lodging quarters.

The water also damaged to some extent the stock of dry goods in the three store rooms of the Gilmer Bros. Co. on the ground floor. The water entered the quarters of the Coca-Cola Bottling Works, but did little damage.

Man Jumps From Second Story. Mr. Boxler, a traveling representative of Collier's Weekly, who has been in the city several days, was near the scene of the conflagration when the alarm was given by a man who was engaged in laying the concrete walk in front of the building. Mr. Boxler rushed up the stairs with several others and becoming separated from the party, found his way to the narrow porch on the front of the second story. Nearly choked by the smoke in the building, although there was very little smoke on the porch, he jumped from the second floor to a pile of sand on the street. Mr. Boxler suffered no injury other than the loss of his breath for a few seconds.

On account of tomorrow being Memorial Day the postoffice will observe Sunday hours. Arthur Coleman went to Greensboro today.
