WHO IS OWNER OF THAT DRIVEWAY?

Suit of Cicero Tise vs. Whitaker-Harvey Co., in Superior Court—Contentions of the Plaintiff and Defendants.

The second week's term of the Superior Court opened at 10 o'clock this morning.

W. F. Vogler, E. N. Blair, Walter E. Blair, John W. Warren, E. J. Sapp, Lewis Cornish, H. Thomas, E. B. Shore, Thos. A. Crews, Theo. P. Haslen, Wm. N. Shader, R. S. Galbreath, J. W. Hester, W. E. Beck, Rufus Johnson, J. M. Guyer.

Judge Moore excused Chas. G. Hill from service, it being reported that he had not been summoned.

The first case called was a divorce suit, Mrs. Daisy R. Conrad vs. her husband, Lucius M. Conrad.

The next case called is quite an important one, and it will probably require two days to dispose of it. J. Cicero Tise is the plaintiff and Whitaker-Harvey Co., tobacco manufacturers, the defendants.

The contest is over an alley or driveway, leading from Seventh street to Liberty street, running between the home of S. A. Ogburn and the Tise flats, and between two brick buildings, one being the property of the plaintiff and the other the defendant.

A few years ago the Whitaker-Harvey Co. bought the business and tobacco manufacturing plant of Mr. S. A. Ogburn which fronts on the alley.

The company decided to build an addition to the front, provided they had sufficient ground. With this end in view they employed an engineer to run the lines according to their deed.

It was discovered that about two feet of the southeast corner of Mr. Tise's brick building, used for the storage of leaf tobacco, was upon the land of the Whitaker-Harvey Co., according to the deed transferred by Mr. Ogburn.

The Whitaker-Harvey Co. began arranging to build on the proposed addition to their factory, but they were stopped by an injunction gotten out by Mr. Tise, upon the allegation that the alley between the two properties was a public driveway and that, besides this, he (Tise) had an agreement with S. A. Ogburn, giving him permission to use the alley, etc.

The injunction proceedings went from the Superior to the Supreme Court and the plaintiff won out, the higher court deciding that the injunction should be maintained until the case was heard and passed upon by a jury of twelve men.

The plaintiff is represented by A. H. Eller and Lindsay Patterson, while Watson, Buxton and Watson and Manly and Hendrix are the counsel for the defendants.

A large number of witnesses are to be examined. One of the principal issues is over the alley or driveway. The date of its opening is to be decided. The defendants to the suit contend that it has never been accepted or worked by the city, while the plaintiff says that the large amount of travel over this thoroughfare is really a public necessity.

SPLENDID SERMONS BY MISSIONARY TO CUBA

Rev. H. W. Baker, missionary pastor of Centenary church, with headquarters at Havana, Cuba, has been in the city several days.

At Burkhead yesterday morning Mr. Baker told in a very interesting way of the missionary work of the Methodist church in Cuba.

At the conclusion of Mr. Baker's address the pastor, Rev. E. E. Williamson, made a few remarks in which he stated that he regretted he did not enter the missionary field himself in Cuba or Mexico when he entered the ministry.

Mr. Baker will leave the city Wednesday. He may attend the missionary conference at Knoxville, Tenn., before going back to Havana.

DISREGARDS ORDER OF STATE COURT

As a Result the President of a Big Railroad in State of Mississippi is in Jail.

GREENVILLE, Miss., Sept. 16.—For the first time in the history of Mississippi, the president of a corporation has been committed to jail for violating an injunction of a State court.

President Castleman, of the Delta Southern Railroad, was today fined $500 and sentenced and actually committed to jail for one week for completing the track of the Delta road across the tracks of the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley road after having been enjoined from doing so.

DR. SCROGGS' SERMON.

Presiding Elder Delivers a Strong Discourse at Burkhead Methodist Church.

At Burkhead M. E. church last night Rev. Dr. Scroggs, presiding elder of this district, delivered an impressive and most earnest and practical discourse on the subject of the fatherhood of God and the sonship of man.

Dr. Scroggs prefaced his remarks with the statement that Christianity was sometimes called a small thing, that Christians were narrow and that their pleasure and were circumscribed, that is, what is sometimes looked upon and called pleasure, that a Christian occupied a small sphere.

He proceeded to show by his logical reasoning, founded on the promises of the scriptures, that the greatest man was the Christian man, because God had promised to supply his needs from his great storehouse and infinite resources.

Dr. Scroggs is a most interesting and profitable preacher to listen to, and his depth of thought is presented to the hearer in a plain and lucid manner that carries with it understanding and profit to the hearer.

HAS NOT RESIGNED.

Attorney-General Bonaparte Says There is No Likelihood of His Doing So.

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Before leaving for Chicago today Attorney-General Bonaparte said:

"My resignation is not in the hands of the President, and there is no likelihood of its being offered."

IMPORTANT SUBJECTS TO BE DISCUSSED AT THE GREAT TRIENNIAL CONVENTION OF EPISCOPALIANS

Attention in Richmond, says the Times-Dispatch, is beginning to center on the great triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, which assembles in that city on October 2nd.

This gathering is considered by many to be the most notable church convention in this country, including as it does the entire Episcopal denomination in United States and being the supreme court of that body.

The convention meets but once in three years, and for three weeks considers a wide range of matters connected with the welfare of the body which it represents.

The convention is notable in the selection of men who will make up its number. Not only will all the bishops of the church and several hundred of the more prominent clergy be in attendance, but there will also be there as delegates to the house of deputies a remarkably strong body of prominent laymen, men who represent much of the progressive thought of the country.

Among the delegates will be judges, United States Senators, members of Congress, prominent bankers and influential business men, college professors and editors of note.

A provisional programme has been drawn up for the sessions of the convention, the bishops sitting in the hall of the House of Delegates in the State Capitol, and the deputies in St. Paul's church, just outside the Capitol Square. Sessions will open at 9 A. M. daily and continue until a general adjournment from 1 to 3 P. M.

October 1st, the day previous to the opening of the convention, will see the cooperation of Holy Trinity church at Laurel and Floyd Avenue, and in this church will be held the formal opening and closing services of the general convention. Perhaps the most notable visitor in attendance on the convention will be the Lord Bishop of London, who comes over as the official representative of the Archbishop of Canterbury, to convey the fraternal greetings of the Church of England.

The Lord Bishop of London will be the preacher at the opening service at Holy Trinity church. Two other distinguished English bishops will be in attendance on this service, Bishop Jacobs, of the diocese of St. Albans, and Bishop Montgomery, of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, the great English missionary organization. Visiting bishops from Canada and from the West Indies will

CLEVELAND IS NOT DANGEROUSLY ILL

Reports of His Condition Very Much Exaggerated—Is in as Good Health as For Several Years Past.

PRINCETON, Sept. 16.—The stories widely printed to the effect that Grover Cleveland is in a dying condition are untrue. Mr. Cleveland is in as good health as for four years, and Sunday took his usual drive.

While he occasionally suffers from slight attacks of gout and other infirmities of old age, he is by no means dangerously ill, a fact which a large portion of the American people are interested in knowing.

DRIVER GETS FORTUNE.

"No 18" of Southern Express Co. Inherits $5,000,000.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 15.—Robert Newton Wildbore, 2317 Hanover street, will, on November 8, come into possession of an English fortune the value of which is estimated at upward of $5,000,000.

A few days ago Wildbore, who is a young man, was known as "Bert," driver No. 18 for the Southern Express Company here, but in November he will be rated as the fourth wealthiest man in the city.

The immense property comes to young Wildbore from the estate of the late Dr. Frederick Wildbore, an English surgeon and capitalist, who died in Sussex county, England, November 26, 1901. The estate and personal property was held in trust by his widow until her death March 19 last when the property reverted in fee simple to Dr. Wildbore's grandnephew, Robert Newton Wildbore, of Richmond.

Young Wildbore with his mother will sail for England November 1. There appears to be no doubt of the authenticity of young Wildbore's claim.

NEGRO BOY DROWNED.

Loses Life in a Creek Near the City of Raleigh.

RALEIGH, N. C., Sept. 16.—Willmer Taylor, a negro boy, was drowned in Walnut creek, near Raleigh, at five o'clock Sunday afternoon, where he and ten other negro boys were swimming. He got into water beyond his reach and could not swim.

SINGING CONTEST AT OLD FRIEDBERG

Classes From Four Schools Participated—Judges Decided that Enterprise and Friedberg Tied for Honors.

The singing at Friedberg yesterday was well attended, there being about 500 present. The large church was taxed to its utmost capacity, and a large number of people were forced to stay outside of the building.

Services were conducted in the morning by Rev. J. K. Pfohl.

After a basket-dinner, the crowd re-assembled in the church and the classes from Hope, Friedberg, Enterprise and Muddy Creek Sunday schools contended for the highest honors in melody-making. A number of hymns were sung and it was judged that Friedberg and Enterprise tied in the contest.

A great many people from town went out and report a pleasant and profitable meeting.

MRS. BLAIR FOUND GUILTY.

Noted Case of North Carolina Lady Who Shot Her Husband Last January Ended Sunday When the Jury Gave Its Verdict That She Was Guilty of Manslaughter.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 15.—Mrs. Ethel W. Blair, charged with the murder of her husband, C. W. Blair, a conductor on the Columbia, Newberry & Laurens Railroad, in January last, was today convicted of manslaughter with a recommendation of mercy.

Inasmuch as the verdict was not reached until noon today, sentence was postponed until tomorrow. The crime for which Mrs. Blair had been convicted is punishable by from two to thirty years in the penitentiary.

Mrs. Blair, who is about 30 years of age, and the mother of two children, is an unusually handsome woman and stood well in the community.

When she was brought into the courtroom today there were no visible signs of the ordeal that she has just passed through, but on hearing the verdict Mrs. Blair fainted and had to be carried from the courtroom.

Within an hour after the verdict Mrs. Blair had recovered sufficiently to be taken to the county jail. She had been out on bond since the killing.

DIDN'T REMEMBER HER HUSBAND'S LAST NAME

There was a trim, matronly-looking woman at the passenger station this morning, about forty years old, who, when asked by a Sentinel reporter where she was going, replied that she was en route to Wilkesboro.

The newsman then propounded another query: "What might be your name?" The woman cast her eyes to the floor, and crimson blushes mantled her cheeks—and she made no reply.

The reporter was non-plussed, but with ever so much kindness repeated his request for her name, and she took courage and said, "I do not know what my name is."

"You don't know what your name is?" shouted the newsman in amazement.

"No, you see, I was married in Greensboro today. It was a case of love at first sight, and I do not know my husband by any name except John. We met for the first time yesterday. When we were married I heard the magistrate call his name, but I can't recall it now. My maiden name is Clarke, and I live out several miles from Greensboro. I do not know where my husband is from, but we are going to Wilkesboro. I am sorry I can't tell you my name," she concluded, "but the truth of the matter is, that I don't know it myself."

Judge James E. Boyd and a few deputy marshals were here this afternoon en route to Wilkesboro, where Judge Boyd will hold the regular term of the Federal Court for that place, opening tomorrow. District Attorney Holton and his assistant, ex-Judge Collier, of Statesville, joined the delegation here.

A telephone message from Greensboro at 2 P. M. this afternoon stated that Editor Joe Reeves, of The Record, boarded the train here at 2:30 this afternoon and that his pass said "Winston-Salem."

TWO CARS DERAILED ON THE MADISON BRANCH

Passenger Train From Mt. Airy to Sanford Brought Over N. & W. Track From Walnut Cove via Winston-Salem.

A coach and box car of "mixed" train No. 152, on the Madison branch of the Atlantic & Yadkin Railway, was derailed near Guilford Battleground about 10 o'clock this morning.

The track was torn up for some distance, but nobody was hurt. It was cleared so trains could pass this afternoon.

On account of the block the passenger train from Mt. Airy to Sanford was stopped at Walnut Cove and detoured over the Norfolk & Western track via Winston-Salem to Greensboro. It was delayed at Walnut Cove for two hours or more in making the transfer from the A. & Y. to the N. & W. track. It was 2:10 this afternoon when the train passed through here enroute to Sanford.

WILL CONVENE TUESDAY.

Annual Convocation of Raleigh is to Meet Then.

RALEIGH, Sept. 16.—The annual convocation of Raleigh will convene Tuesday evening with Christ church, the convocation comprising the Episcopal congregations contiguous to Raleigh and Wake and adjacent counties. The attendance of both clergy and laity is expected to be large. Rt. Rev. James Blyden, Bishop of North Carolina, will preside and a number of distinguished clergy will attend. On Thursday morning the convocation will participate in the opening of St. Mary's School for the fall term, this being the parochial college for North Carolina.

FRENCH GENERAL EXPELLED.

He Was Watching German Maneuvers Without Official Permission.

RIGHTS, Sept. 15.—General Carot, of the French army, was expelled from German soil today for watching military maneuvers without official permission. It is not known whether his expulsion to seek authority from the general commanding the war game was the result of an oversight. The expulsion may lead to an international incident.

Bought an Eagle.

Mr. Zerk, baggage-master on the N. & W. train, had a splendid specimen of an eagle today at the depot. He purchased the bird at Ridgeway and it will be placed in the care of Paulus at Roanoke. The bird weighs about ten pounds.
