PARDO VISITS THE AMERICAN FLEET

The Stay of the Fleet At Callao Has Been a Pleasant One.

All the Ships Coaling Up Preparing to Resume the Journey Toward the Golden Gate—Reception Given Saturday Night Was a Brilliant Affair and Americans Were Cheered by the Crowds.

LIMA, Peru, Feb. 24.—The United States battleship fleet resumed coaling today after a rest over Washington's birthday and Sunday. The work is progressing briskly and it is expected all bunkers will be filled by night.

President Pardo's visit to the flag ship and the reception accorded him by the officers aboard has been the feature of the stay at Callao thus far. Cheered the Americans.

LIMA, Peru, Feb. 22.—A magnificent banquet was given this evening by President Pardo in honor of Washington's birthday to the officers of the American fleet. Some 250 of these were present and the occasion was made one for the display of much enthusiasm and warm expressions of mutual good-will.

The walls of the banquet hall were covered with American and Peruvian flags and the coat-of-arms, while thousands of blossoms lined the tables, with dwarf palm trees flanking the walks. Four miniature American battleships were among the decorations.

An immense crowd in the square in front of the exposition hall warmly cheered the American officers as they arrived. In all the guests numbered about 500.

NO BOND SECURED PRAISE FOR JOHN D.

Jim Smith Brought Back To Forsyth Jail.

He Expect Friends to Make Up His Bond This Week—Says He Believes Sisk and His Wife are the Murderers of Officer Hendrix—Asks Newspapers Not to Term Him a Desperado.

Jim Smith, of Smithtown fame, who was taken to Greensboro Saturday for a preliminary hearing on the charge of murder, was brought back here Saturday night and placed in jail. Smith's bond was fixed at $10,000 and thus far he has not been able to raise the necessary bond that would enable him to return to his home and family.

A Sentinel man went to see Smith today, and asked him when he thought he would be able to give the $10,000 justified bond. He replied that he was looking for the bond at any time, as he had some friends who would probably put up the bond, although he knew it was rather hard to give a $10,000 justified bond.

Jail life does not agree with Smith. He has always lived out in the open so to speak, where he could get plenty of fresh mountain air and sunshine—and some moonshine, too—and penning him up in a 6 by 8 room naturally goes pretty hard with the rugged mountaineer.

When asked about the murder of Hendrix, he replied that his attorney had instructed him not to talk of the case at all, but said that he was not the one that killed him and that he would swear. He said he believed that Oscar Sisk or his wife killed him and were going to try and get it all on him.

Smith stated that he hoped the papers would try to speak better of him than heretofore, that they had written a whole lot that was not so. He said he knew he was no desperado, as some of the papers had stated. Smith stated that when he did get out of jail that he was going back to Smithtown to his family, and that he knew they needed his care.

HEAVY CRIMINAL DOCKET.

Superior Court Convenes in Lexington for Two Weeks' Term—Shoaf Case the Most Important.

LEXINGTON, Feb. 24.—Superior court convened here this morning, with Judge W. B. Connel presiding. The term is for trial of both criminal and civil cases and the members of the bar have arranged the calendar so as to allow the first four days for the disposal of the criminal cases, but it is hardly thought that the docket can be cleared in less than a week as the jail is crowded. There are no criminal cases of any special importance on the docket and it may be cleared in short order.

The most important case is the one against H. B. Shoaf and his wife, of Thomasville. It will be remembered that the Shoafs are charged with having severely whipped the small child of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Fields, of High Point. The great majority of the cases on the criminal docket are against negroes.

Hon. W. W. Kitchin is scheduled to speak here next Tuesday.

MR. W. W. KITCHIN SPENDS DAY HERE

Congressman Is Greeted By Many of His Political and Personal Friends.

Says His representations in regard to Letters Written To Friends About Holding Congressional Convention After the State Convention Are Reacting in His Favor—Mr. Kitchin's Statement.

Congressman W. W. Kitchin arrived in the city at 11 o'clock today from Charlotte, leaving this evening for Lexington, where he is scheduled to make a speech tomorrow.

The representative of this district always receives the glad hand in Winston-Salem and during his stay in the city today he was continually surrounded by many admiring friends—those who are earnestly advocating his nomination for governor.

Mr. Kitchin talks enthusiastically of his candidacy and says he has every reason to believe that he will be the next chief executive of North Carolina.

Referring to the unjust criticisms made by certain newspapers and others who are opposing the congressman, Mr. Kitchin stated that the misrepresentations being made in regard to the letters recently written to representative Democrats in the Fifth district suggesting that the congressional convention be held after the state convention, are reacting. "I find that the much-to-do over these letters is holding instead of injuring me," said Mr. Kitchin, who stated that the matter was so insignificant that he seldom referred to it, as he knew that those who were fair enough to acquaint themselves would be convinced that his action in writing those letters and the suggestion made in them could not injure any one in the least.

Mr. Kitchin this afternoon handed The Sentinel the following card for publication:

In regard to Mr. Webb's statement, published in this morning's Charlotte Observer, as a perversion of what happened between us at Watersboro—When he first told me that he had not heard I had opposed the Watts act in the campaign with Governor Reynolds, I did reply that what he had heard was all a lie, as I had defended it throughout the Fifth district, and now admit that I should have used a longer word, but upon my asking from whom he had heard it he mentioned only Governor Glenn and said that the governor recently, mentioning the time, told him that I opposed the Watts act in the campaign four years ago with Governor Reynolds. I then replied, not believing the Governor had said so, that if he (Webb) would give an interview stating that the governor had made that statement I would follow it with one saying it was not true. When we returned to the crowd around the stove, I repeated what he had quoted the governor as saying, and added that I had just told him (Webb) that if he would give an interview stating that I would follow it with one saying it was absolutely untrue.

Later in my speech I read the first paragraph of my prepared remarks on the Watts act four years ago showing that I had approved the Watts act in that campaign, and after the speaking phoned Hon. F. R. McNeill to whom I had last summer sent my original written remarks on that subject to have them published.

CURRENCY BILL THIS WEEK.

Aldrich Measure Will Be Kept to the Fore in the Senate While Supply Measures Will Interest the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—In congress this week the Aldrich currency bill in the senate and the supply measures in the house will be kept to the fore. The senate will begin the week by listening to speeches by Senators Gallinger and Dewey on the mail subsidy bill, but as soon as they have been heard will return to the consideration of the Aldrich bill. Senator Aldrich, who has charge of it, is very confident that if a vote is not had this week one will be taken early in the week following.

In the house practically all the time will be given to the consideration of the army and postoffice appropriation bills. It is intended to confine business as closely as possible to the supply measures in the future. This is a part of the program looking to an early adjournment in which the senate and house are a unit.
