EX-GOV. GLENN WAS MISQUOTED BY WRITERS

Ex-Governor Glenn, who has been at home since last Sunday, will spend some time in this state making speeches in behalf of home missions. He will speak in Fayetteville tomorrow. Capt. Glenn told a reporter that during a recent visit to Washington he was asked by some of the newspaper correspondents if he would be in the race for the Democratic nomination for congress this fall. He replied that under no circumstances would he be. Some of the correspondents took this as a basis for the statement that the ex-governor would be a candidate for Senator Overman's seat. Capt. Glenn says that such a thing was not mentioned. Senator Overman has more than five years to serve and the ex-governor declares he has not given the matter a thought; that he has plenty of other business to look after just now. Capt. Glenn says that everywhere he goes he finds that North Carolina is held up as the model state of the union.

ADDRESS OF MR. GREEN AT MEETING OF FARMERS

The address before the Farmers' Union of Forsyth yesterday by State Organizer Green, as well as that of Mr. Watson, was a splendid one and contained much helpful advice along various lines.

The Sentinel regrets that it cannot print Mr. Green's speech in full, as a brief synopsis would hardly do the speaker justice.

He began by saying that never before have so many farmers joined together for mutual protection and benefit as have enrolled with the Farmers' Educational and Co-Operative Union of America. He said he did not know why the word "America" was put on to the name, unless it was because it would soon embrace the entire country. The farmers' union has the mistakes of other organizations to profit from, said he. "Success does not lie in not making mistakes, but does consist in not making the same mistake again. We may make mistakes, but not the same mistakes as have wrecked other organizations of this character. Our strength lies not in our numbers, but in our intelligence. We want to farm on a business basis. We have been farming, at least some of us, as if we did not think farming was a business. The farmers' union stands for education first of all. We do not mean a collegiate education, but a practical education. There is absolutely no relation between the union and partisan politics. We are, however, in business politics. And this business politics consists in trying to get the man after he is elected to do something for us. We have had a committee in Washington for some time trying to get something for us, just as all other business organizations have committees there. But as for partisan politics we must wash our hands of all such. It will ruin our union if we do not. And you hear outsiders talk about our secret work. Yes, we have some secret work. We have a few signs and grips. Our executive sessions are private. Of course they are. All business matters to discuss just as the directors of a bank or any other business enterprise have. It would not do for the fellow wishing to buy a horse to advertise his desire. If he did some other fellow would step in and buy it and your plan would be knocked up. That's just the same way it is with our plans. We have private matters, of course we do, and if we did not our organization could never accomplish anything.

We farmers must study the market. The manufacturers do. They keep tabs on the supply and demand. When the market gets more of their product than it can handle they do not keep on putting more on the market and thereby force down prices, but on the other hand they stop and let the market recover. They work under a system. So must the farmers. The speaker here attacked the present plan of selling tobacco, saying that he did not know much about it, but that he would not care to be compelled to sell his produce at public auction, but that it must be satisfactory for the farmers would not do it. Mr. Green said there were two kinds of farmers today. In this day of peritonitis, appendicitis and such, there was one disease that has attacked thousands of farmers. This is "Store-Eat-Ups," and the victims of this malady are the farmers who buy their produce at the stores instead of raising it at home. If the union has a slogan it is "Live at Home." The farmer who raises his home supplies is the farmer with money. This is the only way to farm. Other methods may be termed "Shielded Farming." Why pay $250 for a mule that you can raise for $75? The union is trying to develop the farmer into a business man, and when it has convinced him that he can never make money unless he farms on a business basis it will have done him a service that must be appreciated.

Miss Daisy Leak, of Kernersville, was in the city today.

Forsyth Will Aid in Constructing a Turnpike at Once

Road Supervisors Willing to Extend Macadam Road to River and to Divide With Yadkin County the Cost of Building the Bridge.

The preliminary steps were taken here this morning by the county board of road supervisors looking to the construction of a splendid twenty-eight mile turnpike from this city to Yadkinville with a modern steel bridge spanning the waters of the Yadkin river, which will probably form a link in a state highway in the near future. The feature of the meeting was the spirit of co-operation which prevailed.

The supervisors met in the court room at the court house at ten o'clock and nearly all of the members were present, they having been called in special session. The chairman stated the object of the meeting was to take some steps relative to constructing a macadam road from some point to the Yadkin line and paying half the cost of the bridge.

This action was deemed necessary today, as a strong committee from the board of trade will meet a committee from Yadkin county on Monday looking to the construction of the proposed turnpike, and a number of the supervisors will attend the meeting. The party will leave here early Monday morning in automobiles and will go via Lewisville.

There was much friendly discussion about the proposed road, all agreeing that it should be built, but there was a little discussion as to which way it should go. Some thought the Lewisville road should be extended to the line, while others thought the Pfafftown road should be used, as this will be nearer, and others thought the bridge near Donaha should be purchased and the road extended to that point, as this would open parts of Stokes, Surry and Yadkin counties, but it was finally agreed to let Yadkin county name the place of junction, and that this county will "give her the lead hand."

Col. F. H. Fries, and Messrs. H. G. Chatham, P. H. Hines, Jas. A. Gray, C. A. Reynolds, F. P. Alspaugh, S. E. Hall, Albert Shore, J. S. Kuykendall.

The following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That Forsyth county will meet the county of Yadkin with a good road at the Yadkin river either by the way of Lewisville or Pfafftown, as may be determined by a survey to be made.

"Resolved, Also that Forsyth county will pay one-half of the cost of a bridge across the Yadkin river at some point in Forsyth county if Yadkin county will pay the other half as soon as an act of the legislature can be secured.

"Resolved, That the work already authorized on the High Point road and the Pfafftown road shall not be affected by the proposed road to the Yadkin river."

PRESIDENT TAFT TO NEW ENGLAND AGAIN

WASHINGTON, April 2.—President Taft leaves the capital this evening for New England on the second visit he has paid that section of the country within two weeks. The objective point of the present trip is Worcester, where he is to deliver an address tomorrow before a big convention of railroad men assembled from many parts of the United States, Canada and Mexico. The President will go first to the town of Millbury a short distance from Worcester, where he will spend tomorrow afternoon at the home of his aunt, Miss Delia C. Torrey. From Millbury he will proceed to Worcester by automobile. A military escort will be furnished through the streets of Worcester to the convention hall. In addition to the President the speakers of the day will include Governor Draper, of Massachusetts, the presidents of several of the New England railroad systems and the heads of nearly all the international and national organizations of railroad employees.

The Seminoles defeated the All-Star team at basket ball last night by the score of 42 to 25.

At a meeting of the Forsyth county Democratic executive committee at the court house this afternoon, it was decided to hold a mass convention at the court house on the 2nd day of July, 1910, at ten o'clock for the purpose of nominating the county and legislative officers and delegates to the state, congressional and judicial conventions. There was a splendid attendance at the meeting and a number of political matters were discussed.

Miss Ethel Stokes, of Danville, who has been visiting Mrs. Walter Brown, left today for home.

Mrs. J. N. Wingo, of Richmond, Va., who had been visiting Mrs. J. D. Noel, returned home today.

ROME AWAITS VISIT ROOSEVELT WITH INTEREST

ROME, Italy, April 2.—The Eternal City is today in a flutter of anticipation over the arrival of former President Roosevelt. The coming of the distinguished visitor is an event in which all classes are deeply interested, for aside from Colonel Roosevelt's world-wide fame, his visit is regarded in a way as a pleasant expression of the sentimental ties existing between Italy and the great American republic in which so many of the sons and daughters of the Italian kingdom live, and visible signs are abundant that a hearty and spontaneous welcome awaits the distinguished statesman and hunter.

During their stay in Rome the distinguished party are to be the guests of the American Ambassador and Mrs. Leishman. So far as known, the former President will make no public address during his brief stay here. The royal and papal audiences will be the principal events on the program. The remainder of the time will be spent by the visitors in viewing points of interest in and about Rome.

King Victor Emmanuel will receive the ex-President and his son, Kermit, at the Quirinal, Monday morning. In the afternoon Queen Helena will receive Colonel and Mrs. Roosevelt, Kermit and Miss Ethel, and in the evening of the same day the visitors will be entertained at court dinner given in their honor. In addition to the members of the Roosevelt party the guests at the dinner will include Ambassador Leishman, Mrs. Leishman, other members of the American embassy, and several of the leading Italian statesmen.

The audience with Pope Pius is set for Tuesday. The event will be attended by no elaborate ceremonials, such as distinguish the audiences granted crowned heads, but the order of procedure will be that followed in cases of other distinguished visitors. All arrangements for the audience have been completed by the American Ambassador and Mr. Kennedy, rector of the American College in Rome and a personal acquaintance of ex-President Roosevelt.

MEMBERS OF HOUSE HAVE A FEAR OF CONSTITUENTS

WASHINGTON, April 1.—"You see this broad, smooth roadway glistening with the vehicles of an army? Well, that represents the congressman's fear of his constituents."

Representative McCredie, of Washington, plump, ruddy-faced and just at that moment perspiring freely, passed in his gassy walk through the subway leading to the house office building from the capitol, and leaned against one of the iron posts for breath. The posts separate the sidewalk of the subway from the sixteen or eighteen foot roadway.

"Over on the senate side where there is no fear of an economically inclined constituency," continued Judge McCredie as he resumed his walk, "they have automobiles to take the senators to and from their offices and the capitol. They make the trip in comfort, with speed, and in a style befitting the dignity of their office. But there are no autos for us. I suppose that one reason they think we do not need automobiles through our subway is that we are younger men, as a rule, than the senators, and being spry, can walk. Oh, walking does us good, of course, but every time I make the trip either way I feel like getting up in the house and demanding an auto from the appropriations committee."

"We would have had the autos long ago if we were not all cowards. But there isn't one man in a hundred in the house that would dare to vote for a bill providing automobiles for this subway. Every member would be dead sure that the vote would bob up to plague him at the next campaign. It would be a fine slogan for the opposing candidate to try: 'Ah, ha, Congressman Smith is too lazy to walk from his office to the capitol, a distance of two blocks. Out home here he is not too good to walk, but as soon as he gets to Washington he begins to ride around in automobiles at the people's expense.'"

"That may sound ridiculous to the ordinary citizen but it is not at all overdrawn. Many a congressman has lost his official head with less said against him."

There will be a meeting of the members of the Twin-City Club, in the club rooms, this evening at 8 o'clock, to act upon the report of committee appointed to devise ways and means towards building a club house. Please attend.

CATANIA, April 2.—Mount Aetna is increasing its daily activity. Eruptions are undiminished. No lives have been lost. The engulfing of the village of Cavaliero by lava last night and the constant roar of the volcano in a radius of twenty miles, is driving people frantic. Many are moving away from the noise.

FAMOUS EVANGELIST AT CENTENARY CHURCH

The revival meeting will begin at Centenary M. E. church tomorrow and will probably continue for three weeks. The pastor, Rev. J. E. Abernethy, will be assisted by that famous pulpit orator and evangelist, Dr. S. A. Steel of Texas, whose reputation as a preacher and lecturer extends throughout the United States. He will arrive today or tonight.

The music will be in charge of Prof. A. N. Fisher, a noted singer, who was with the late Rev. Sam Jones for some time in his revival work.

Two services will be held daily during the week—10 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. Dr. Steel, who will do the preaching, is a native of Mississippi. His early life was spent amid the turbulent scenes of the war for the independence of the Confederate States, which he so vividly describes in his great lecture on "Home Life in Dixie During the War." In that severe school he learned those lessons of self-reliance, fearlessness, and push, that have been characteristic of his career. He was about grown before he got a chance to attend school; but so well had he been taught at home, and so earnestly had he applied himself to study, that within three years after he left the farm in Mississippi and while still an undergraduate at Emory and Henry College, he was elected chaplain of the University of Virginia.

After serving in this position two years he went to the pastorate of one of the largest churches in Richmond. He has served the leading churches of his denomination in Richmond, Louisville, Nashville, Memphis, Kansas City and other places. He was Fraternal Delegate from the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which met in New York City in 1888, and made a notable speech on that occasion. He was elected by the General Conference of his church the first General Secretary of the Epworth League, and for four years was editor of its official organ, The Epworth Era, giving that paper a reputation for vivacity, spirit and aggressiveness, such as few religious journals acquire. He has lectured in all the leading cities of the United States, and has few superiors either in the pulpit or on the platform.

His lectures are brimful of color, humor, life and power. He has made Southern history a special study, and his masterly lectures on this subject are worthy to be heard in every college in the land. While he takes his "stand to live and die in Dixie," yet his patriotism is as wide as the Republic, and his sunny, fraternal spirit makes him welcome everywhere.

WALKERTOWN HIGH SCHOOL. Commencement Exercises To Be Held April 18 and 19—Prof. Noble To Make Address.

WALKERTOWN, April 2.—The annual commencement of the Walkertown high school will be held on April 18 and 19. Monday evening six boys will contest for a medal. At night the primary departments will render their recitations, drills, etc. On Tuesday afternoon six boys will debate the question, "Resolved, That Colonization is the Best Solution of Our Race Problem in the United States." Immediately after the debate Prof. M. C. S. Noble, of the State University, will deliver the closing address. Prof. Noble has many friends here, and will doubtless have a full house. Tuesday night the school will pull off their great amateur play, "The Temple of Fame."

The school has put much time on this play and it is very likely to make a decided hit for the high school. The commencement promises to be a success and will probably be the best in the school's history.

PEOPLE PAYING UP THEIR TAXES AT RAPID RATE.

People are still paying up their state and county and city taxes and the offices of the sheriff and the city tax collector are points that are much visited now. From reports, it looks as if the present year will be a good one in the matter of tax collections. Mr. T. L. Farrow, city tax collector, states that more people have paid up to date this year than had paid during the same period of last year and Deputy Sheriff Jones states that, while he cannot say as to the number of people who have paid to date, he can say that the amount of taxes paid this year to date is much larger than that paid last year up to this time.

TWO KILLED, FOURTEEN BADLY HURT IN WRECK

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., April 2.—Engineer Griffith, of Portsmouth, O., was killed, and Fireman Vaughn, of Portsmouth, Ohio, fatally injured, and thirteen passengers hurt when Norfolk and Western train No. 17, of "Tadpole" division, was derailed near Dunlow this morning. It was going at high speed. A rescue train was sent from Kenova.

The baggage-man and express agents jumped and escaped injury. Rev. E. E. Williamson, of Charlotte, who spent the week here, returned home this afternoon.

NEWS FORECAST OF THE COMING WEEK

WASHINGTON, April 2.—It is being said again that the Supreme Court, when it reconvenes Monday, after the Easter recess, will hand down its decision in the case of the American Tobacco Company, which involves the legality of trade agreements as distinct from the issue of monopoly, which is the material item in the Standard Oil case, which is also before the highest tribunal.

McClary has also been assigned by the Supreme Court as the day for hearing arguments in the Missouri rate cases. These cases are the most important in the history of the Interstate Commerce Commission, involving as they do the power conferred upon the commission by the Hepburn law to fix rates where railroads are found to be overcharging.

During the week President Taft will deliver addresses at the dedication of the new million-dollar home of the International Bureau of American Republics, at the dedication of the Carnegie Library at Howard University and at the annual dinner of the League of Republican State Clubs, to be given Saturday night at the Arlington Hotel.

Early in the week town and city elections will be held in Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas and a number of other states. Special interest attaches to the result of the elections in Illinois, Michigan and other states where local option is the chief issue.

The big event of the week in political circles, however, will be the Republican State Convention in Indiana, to nominate candidates for the state offices to be filled at the fall election and to adopt a platform. Senator Beveridge, one of the insurgents who voted against the tariff bill, will preside. Senator Beveridge is a candidate for re-election, and the situation is identical with that in half a dozen other states of the West, where the state platform cannot ignore the tariff bill without repudiating many of their own senators and representatives.

Events of interest in naval circles include the placing in commission of the formidable battleships, North Dakota and Delaware and the launching of the torpedo boat destroyer Perkins. The last-named event is fixed to take place Saturday at the yards of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company at Quincy, Mass.

Other matters that will figure in the news of the week will include the Earl Grey musical and dramatic competitions at Toronto, the annual Conference on Education in the South at Little Rock, the Texas Conservation Congress at Fort Worth, the meeting of the American Academy of Political and Social Science in Philadelphia, and the sale of the Yerkes art collection in New York.

The estate news will tell of the reception of ex-President Roosevelt in Rome and the travels of his party in Northern Italy. In Copenhagen, former Minister of the Interior Berg is to be placed on trial on charges connected with the notorious Alert frauds, which a year or more ago resulted in the fall of the Danish cabinet. Saturday is the date set for the inauguration of the Empress Augusta memorial on the Mount of Olives by Prince Kitel Frederick, second son of the German Emperor.

MARYLAND SENATE PASSES ANTI-NEGRO VOTING BILL

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 2.—After an all-night session the Maryland senate early today adopted the Digges bill prohibiting negroes from voting in city, town or state elections by a strict party vote. The Republicans tried to bluster in hope of defeating the bill but the Democrats checkmated them. It was introduced late last night and referred to a committee and reported after a brief intermission. It was then put through immediately, three hours and five minutes after its introduction.

DECREASE IN THE SPEED OF LOCAL AUTOMOBILES.

"The recent fines imposed for speeding here had a wholesome effect in reducing the speed of automobiles all over the city," said Chief Thomas to a member of the board of aldermen last night. The officer went on to state that several citizens residing in North Winston had told him that the reduction in speed recently was noticeable and reports to the same effect are coming in from all parts of the city. An officer has been on the lookout for the past night or so but no other violators of the speed law have been found.

The aldermen as well as the officer was of the opinion that only a constant enforcement of the law would keep the speed down and this the city as well as the officers are determined to do.

J. H. McElwre, of Statesville; J. T. Marshall, of Martinsville; T. K. Gale, of Mt. Airy, and N. Glenn Williams, of Yadkin county, were among the guests standing at the Zinzendorf last night.

J. Gilmer Korner, of Kernersville, was in the city today.
