VOL. VII.

WILKESBORO, WILKES COUNTY, N. C., NOV. 13, 1891.

NO. 38.

The Wilkesboro Chronicle.

R. A. DEAL, Editor and Proprietor.

Entered at the Post-office in Wilkesboro as second-class matter.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1891.

If the Democratic ticket of 1892 should read Cleveland and Gray, it would be a good one.

According to the recent Treasury statement, 50 cents per capita has been added to the circulation. We would like to get our 50 cents.

At Elizabeth City, Col. Polk said in his speech: "Yes, sir; we are in politics and in there to stay." All who quote this expression of Polk are subject to the indictment of attacking the Alliance.

The Taylorsville Index has suspended. Mr. Ivey, of S. C. came there sometime ago and commenced the Index as an Alliance Organ, but he didn't get the support necessary and so gave up.

After all the braggadocio of Polk and Simpson, that Sherman must go down and out in Ohio, it appears that Sherman is perfectly safe and will go back to the Senate. Polk and Simpson's third party vote didn't materialize worth a cent. But they still expect to break the solid South.

Well, that settles it. The Jefferson Citizen, Republican in politics, states it as a fact, that when we want rain we must "pray to God and the Republican party." We don't want to appear as one "weak in the faith," but we actually fear the above firm will not get along together, and that the first thing we know the "Republican party" will have confiscated all the funds of the firm and skipped to Canada.

Dr. Macune, the great National Alliance Oracle, who is a Republican, claims that the result in Ohio is a victory for the Alliance. What he means, of course, is that by the aid of the Alliance-third party trick there, the entire Republican ticket was elected. Are the people of the South going to help Macune gain the same kind of "Alliance victories" here—the election of the Republican tickets?

Forepaugh's show is a good one. It was at Greensboro on the 6th. We were there. It was the best street parade we ever saw. It has the reputation of giving the finest parades of any show on the continent, and it came up to its reputation. The show was good all the way through. The acting was first-class, though the animal collection did not embrace every species on the face of the earth. About as good a thing as we noticed was a squad of elephants, 8 in number, dancing the regular old "God's Country" dance, going through all the figures in first-class order. Altogether, it was the best we ever saw, of the kind.

The State Alliance did a very unwise thing sometime ago in authorizing the Executive to transfer the purchasing department from the State to a firm in New York. This transfers the Alliance trade away from home merchants and sends all the money clear out of the State, thus working very materially against the interests of our own State. Merchants are consumers and pay our farmers the prevailing market prices for produce. With an Alliance purchasing trust sending all their money out of the State, does the Alliance still expect our merchants to consume their products? All trade must necessarily be reciprocal, and our farmers and merchants necessarily depend upon each other. The Alliance purchasing trust, sending the money clear out of our State, is apparently wrong.

The Motz boys, of Lincolnton, who were on trial at Shelby before Judge Graves last week for the murder of Sam Motz, were acquitted. At the announcement of the verdict there was a great demonstration of joy, the boys being congratulated from all sides. Canons were fired in the court house square in commemoration of the acquittal.

Motz was killed several months ago at Lincolnton. He and Bob Micheal were in a buggy when they were met by the Motz boys, who began a reckless shooting at Micheal, who was accused of seducing Miss Motz, a sister of the boys. Sam Motz, a cousin, who was riding with Micheal, was killed. It appears to have been a very reckless shooting affair to receive a verdict of acquittal.

The Woodstock Alliance (Alabama) lately met and solemnly resolved that—There has been a total change in the original purposes and principles of the Farmers Alliance; its leaders becoming aspirants for office; its efforts at educating the people resulting in the boycotting of some of the leading papers; encouraging only one side and partisan publications; its adopted organ attacking the course and character of time-honored representatives of the people who have patriotically and heroically battled, in a hopeless minority, against the encroachments of a reckless representation of a centralized power and a corrupt plutocracy; attempting to force the people to blind and unthinking indorsement of wild and reckless schemes of finance and revolution; to form a third party for the disruption of the unity of the South; and the elevation of the leaders to the most exalted offices, some of whose characters, in the past, are beyond reproach.—Sunday Times, Chattanooga, Tenn.

The above appears like a handwriting on the wall. Properly interpreted it would seem to mean that disintegration is about to commence. The brief history of the Alliance, published elsewhere in this issue, shows that its becoming entangled with politics broke up the order in 1878. A third party movement may have a similar effect in 1892, notwithstanding it is stronger in 1891 than it was in 1878. So long as the Alliance sticks to its original declaration of principles it can accomplish great good. Believing that it can become of great benefit to the agricultural classes we would regret to see it fall into any fatal error. Especially in the South is there need for a harmonious spirit among our people that we may the better work upon the problems of the hour and promote the welfare of our section and country:

Davie Court and Other Matters. The editor had the pleasure of making a trip to Mocksville and attending Davie court last week. He also had the pleasure of a very bad cold and neuralgia. While there we had the privilege of sharing the genuine hospitality of Mr. M. R. Chaffin and most excellent family, whose many acts of kindness will be gratefully remembered. The train now runs regularly to Mocksville. The first through train reached there on the night of the 31st of Oct. We rode in on the 2nd through train. A great crowd was at the depot. We were at a loss for sometime to decide whether the demonstration was in honor of me or the train. I afterwards learned that it was the train, as the crowd gathered just the same next night and we weren't on the train, and we learn the crowd still gathers as usual about the time "the dusk and dew of night falls gently o'er the main." They are all proud of their train, like Wilkes was proud of hers. Even the unmovable editor of the Davie Times exerted himself in the throes of joy until the blood ran to his head to such an extent as to change his raven locks to a beautiful light vermilion hue, and he persists in calling the old iron horse "she" thus putting it in his estimation on a par excellence with Mocksville's beautiful and lovely young ladies—that's a high estimate, if that fellow is built anyway like this scribe.

Mocksville is a pretty place of about 400 or 500 inhabitants, with a beautiful location and plenty of room to expand. Its people are looking forward to a bright future.

Court was very light there this term, only continuing 3 days. Judge Hoke presided in place of Judge Graves who was detained at Shelby trying the Motz boys. Judge Hoke made a good impression upon those people. There was no important cases. About as serious a case as we heard was the trial of a fellow for taking a little watermelon. But lawyer Cy Watson got the fellow out by telling the jury that the Solicitor and no doubt all the bar, himself included, were guilty of being too familiar with other people's melons and sweet "taters" about 'possum time. The fellow came clear.

We paid a short visit to Miss Eaton's excellent school while there and were well pleased. Miss Eaton is certainly conducting a school they should be proud of. Mr. Tom Chaffin whom I was with, made a few remarks to the school, at the request of the teacher. We took down in short hand, but owing to want of space we will hold the speech over till another issue.

We could write all day about our trip but must close.

—Don't ask for credit at our store now. We are closing out all old accounts. We will positively sell no more goods on time. T. S. Miller, & Co.

—Ferguson & Hubbard are now relieving their second fall purchase of dry goods, notions, hats etc. Call early to get the first selection.

—Rev. J. W. Lee, the Irish Evangelist, has been conducting a protracted meeting at Elkin, and the Courier speaks of him in terms of highest praise. He did a great deal of good there by his efforts, and made a lasting impression for good among all the people.

—Dr. A. J. Koonts, of Roaring River, and Miss Leona Lunday, of Independence, Va., were married on the 2nd day of this month. Whatever of happiness this life can afford, the CHRONICLE wishes them.

—Married on the 21st, ult., Mr. J. F. Parks, of Roaring River, and Miss Emma Johnson, daughter of J. M. Johnson, Esq., of Farmington, Davie county. The CHRONICLE extends a full measure of its best wishes.

P. C. Carlton, Sec'y. H. L. HOOPER, MANAGER, Statesville, Oct. 22, 1891.

Ho! for Western North Carolina! The Garden Spot of the World!

IN VARIETY OF PRODUCTS it Surpasses all other sections.

Owing to its wonderful natural resources it was possible to establish here the most extensive Herbarium on the Globe, and with it side by side has grown up the LARGEST WHOLESALE ESTABLISHMENT in N. C. Strangers wonder at its magnitude and are at a loss to understand how it has been accomplished; the explanation is easy: Fair Dealing, Economical Management, Minimum profits and a LARGE VOLUME OF BUSINESS. Has been our aim and policy and has contributed chiefly, we believe, to the success we have thus far attained.

It has become a well known fact and is said to the credit of our people that merchandise of every description is sold cheaper in Western North Carolina than anywhere in the South. New Yorkers frequently say to us: "Why, you folks sell goods cheaper than we do here." This we are pleased to admit and it is not a revelation to many of our best merchants. Experienced business men are alive to the fact that the Retail Merchant can buy to better advantage in Baltimore than in New York, in Richmond than in Baltimore and in Statesville better still than in Richmond.

By MAKING LARGE PURCHASES WE ARE ENABLED TO SECURE THE Lowest Quantity Prices, while our Expenses are Insignificant As compared with houses in the large cities

Our object, however, in this advertisement was more particularly to call attention to a NEW AND HANDSOME LINE OF GOODS, ESPECIALLY FOR THE DRIED FRUIT SEASON.

Our Counters are Loaded with Seasonable Goods and there are Bargains in Every Department. Stock is complete and there will be no delay making shipments. Respectfully,
