

General Miles is heartily in favor of the bicyclo for army use, and declares that it can be used in nearly every country and in most all seasons of the year.

The safest of modern years of railway travel was in 1885. The proportion returned as killed and injured from causes beyond their own control to the number carried was: killed, 1 in 116,202,171; and injured, 1 in 1,-599,112.

Napoleon III. once remarked to Mr. Washburne, the American Minister to Paris, that Spain could not hold Cuba, and that the result would be that she would sacrifice all her soldiers and spend all her money and then lose the island in the end.

The Melbourne (Australia) Argus called attention some years ago to the remarkable fact that three young men destined to high distinction in different spheres-Lord Salisbury, the statesman, Sir John Millais, the painter, and Thomas Woolner, the sculptor-were simultaneously in Victoria at the height of the gold fever in the early fifties.

This bicycle business is assuming tremendous proportions, and even the imagination gets tired thinking about it, observes the New York Herald. Ten years ago it was a fad, a craze, and a few cranks, so called, were seen on the streets trying to get their necks broken. Now all the world rides the wheel; policemen ride them, soldiers ride them, gentlemen and ladies of all ages take a spin. To supply the demand there are something like four hundred firms, making money hand over fist, and it is estimated that in the various plants more than $25,000,-000 is invested. Why, the whole thing has come upon us like a tornado. China is sending out a new detachment of her youth to be educated in our schools, showing an enlightened and progressive spirit in no way diminished by her recent military reverses. If she continues in this excellent custom, equipping her chosen young men with the science and culture of the modern period, and at the same time admits, as she is now doing, progressive ideas in her administration, she will not be so easily whipped the next time, the New York Tribune observes, and will take the place in civilation which properly belongs to her, as her sister Nation Japan has already done, to the wonderment and admiration of mankind, including that of the humbled pigtails themselves, who may, after all, gather out of the nettle of defeat a choicer flower than the rose of triumph. If she is not quite so grandiose in her general attitudes as she was before she was whipped, she knows more, a fact variously evinced, but in no particular more showingly than in again sending her youth hither to be instructed in our schools. Chief Fernow, of the Forestry Division at Washington, D. C., makes some valuable suggestions in his eleventh bulletin. The bulletin states that the South can make the cultivation of the cork oak very profitable in time. We pay about $2,-000,000 a year for imported cork, and prices are steadily rising. The Government distributed cork oak acorns in the South as far back as 1858, and there are now standing several cork trees in the Southern States, one of them as far north as middle Georgia. A large one is now standing in Mississippi City, Miss., and there are probably twenty in California. The fact that the tree will flourish in the South has been demonstrated. The wattle tree, a native of Australia, is also recommended for cultivation.

FOR HER SAKE,

All day long, with sigh or song, Toil I for her sake; She is where the roses throng-I where thunders break From the restless city's mart: But a rainbow's round my heart For I sing: "The day will die-Toil will soon be past. And the stars in Love's own sky Lead me home at last! Homel beneath the tranguil skies.

Where she waits with wistful eyes

"Homel where love is kindest-best, Where the hearth is bright: Home! where sweetly on my breast Fall her curls of light! Homel from all the world beguiled By the kisses of a child!"

-F. L. Stanton. AUNT SUSAN'S QUILT.

gazed with admiration at the object spread out on the bed. It was a carefully pieced quilt, of a somewhat intricate [pattern.

"Jimmy's bride can't help being tickled with that," said Mrs. Dake, as she smoothed out a fold; "and if she last stitch of it myself, and there's a blocks with the feather and herrin' bone patterns and the shell border all. the frames five weeks and three days, and I put all the time I could get on it, and there ain't no slack work, tired as I did get of seeing it 'round."

She smoothed out another crease. "Lemme see," she went on. There's 2147 pieces in the quilt, and

"He jest wanted to give his old "making herself useful in Mrs. Holaunty a big s'prise," she said to Elvira brook's kitchen." It disappointed her Hodge, the village seamstress, when to be told by her nephew that her sershe came to "fix over" Aunt Susan's vices would not be required, and that black silk. "I couldn't believe my own a caterer would provide the supper. eyes at first. It don't seem no longer than yesterday that Jimmy was run- was, and felt confused and uneasy, nin' 'round here in pinafores; and to and went to sleep half wishing herself think of him bein' married-I declare home. I can't git over it!

"But I'll give him a s'prise, too. I don't intend to give him a hint that I'm comin' to his weddin', and if he won't be took back when he sees me marchin' in on him, my name ain't Susan Elizabeth Dake!, Don't you reckon his wife'll be tickled with that quilt, Elviry?"

"They'd ought to be, that's sure," said Elvira.

"I think it's a kind af special Providence that I put in the frames when I did. I didn't cal'late on quiltin' it until next winter, but I had a kind of feelin' that I'd better do it when I did, and now it's turned out that there was a good reason why I should quilt bride ain't then.'

There was quite a company of Aunt pleased with Susan's friends at the little station to that, I don't see her off on the morning she started. know what would There was unusual color in her cheeks please 'em," said little Mrs. Dake and unwonted sparkle in her eyes. She bade each of her friends goodwith arms akimbye two or three times, and promised bo and head to take good care of herself. Some of twisted to one side, as she them she promised a crumb of Jimmy's wedding cake, and a full account of stepped back and the wedding festivities.

"An' if you could git me a sorap of the bride's weddin' dress an' of any of her other dresses for my silk quilt, Susan, I'd be so pleased with 'em !" said old Mrs. Gray.

"I will if I can, Nancy," said Aunt Susan. "There's the train comin'! knows anything about nice quilting, I'm so glad I could get my trunk she'll see that wa'n't quilted in a day. | checked clean through! I'd be in a Well, I guess not! I quilted ev'ry nice fix if that trunk should get lost with Jimmy's quilt and my black silk good half day's work in some of them | in it! Where's my lunch basket? Oh, you're goin' to carry it away on the train for me, are you, Hiram Drew? round the sidge. I had that quilt in I'm 'bleeged to you, but mind you git off the train 'fore it starts. Good-bye, Nancy; good-bye all!"

In a moment the train was on its way, Aunt Susan's handkerchief fluttered from one of the car windows as long as the train was within sight of Jimmy's first garments had been made.

She did not know what a caterer

When the next evening she found herself in the beautiful home of Mr. Holbrook, surrounded by finelydressed ladies and gentlemen, who looked curiously at the odd-looking, little old woman in the queerly-made and old-fashioned black silk, she heartily wished that she had not come. Mr. and Mrs. Holbrook were as attentive to her as they could be with a house full of guests; but Aunt Susan soon found it convenient to slip off into a corner, where she hid like the little country mouse she was. But she was glad after all that she had come when James, looking so tall and happy and handsome, came into the great parlor with his bride on his arm, in her trailing, white satin dress and long weil. Aunt Susan was so completely overawed by this magnificence that, instead of going forward with the others to offer her congratulations, she slipped off upatairs to the room in which she had taken off her bonnet and shawl. In it was her wedding gift to Jimmy-the quilt that had but yesterday seemed to her as beautiful and appropriate a gift that she could bestow upon him.

Across the hall was the open door of a room almost filled with shining silver and glittering glass, with pictures and rare ornaments and beautiful books, gifts to James and his bride.

Aunt Susan felt that her own offering, although it was the gift of her own labor and love, would be out of place. It might offend her nephew and his bride to see it there. Some one might laugh and jeer at it, and she could not bear to think of that. It seemed so poor and trifling now; she could not think of allowing Jimmy and his wife to know that she had brought them such a gift.

She turned back a corner of the quilt, and looked at a piece of the pink and white muslin of which one of

SCIENTIFIC AND INDUSTRIAL.

Dishes are washed by electricity. In the new edition of the British Pharmacoposia, the metric system of weights and measures will be adopted. Orookes tubes, for use in taking Xray photographs, have already appeared on the bargain counter of a Chicago department store. They cost $6.95 each.

Dr. W. H. Hanker, Superintendent of the Delaware Insane Hospital, is going to try the effects of the X rays on the brains of a number of the insane people under his charge.

The experiment of electrical traction in the Baltimore Tunnel has now been tried about a year, with results so far to the advantage of the electric motors over those propelled by steam.

By a special permit, and in mailing packages approved by the Postoffice Department, bacteria or disease tissues may now be sent through the mails to United States or municipal laboratories.

The entomological collection of M. Jules Fallon, which includes twentyfive thousand moths and butterflies. has been presented to the museum of the Jardin des Plantes, at Paris, by his grandsons.

Herr Wilckens, of Vienna, has found that two full-blooded English horses transmitted the color of their coats to their offspring in 586 cases out of 1000. Where the parents were of different colors, he found the hair of the foals, in most cases, took the color of that of the mother.

A carboy of alcohol burst in the basement of a Chicago drug store, and, taking fire, a tremendous blaze, which threatened a disastrous fire; followed. A clerk turned the valve of the soda water cylinder on the flames, and the carbonic acid extinguished the flames before the Fire Department could reach the sput.

M. Meslaus has examined the relation between the penetrability by the rays from Orookes tubes of various substances and their chemical nature. He finds that carbon and its combinations with hydrogen, oxygen and nitrogen are peculiarly transparent to the rays, while the presence of other Store. Berry Bros. Wilkesboro, N. C.

Drug

Keep on hand a full line of Fresh Drugs, ' Medicines, Oils, Paints, Varnishes and Everything kept in a First-Class Drug Store.

Store in the Old Steve Johnson Building, just opposite the Court House.

Be Sure to Call and See Them,

-DEALER IN-

TOBACCO, CIGARS,

Cigarettes, Fancy and

Toilet Soaps, etc., etc.

the little station.

a good many of 'em are pieces of Jimmy's baby dresses. That'll please his wife, I jest know. Here's a block made of calico like a little pink dress he had when his ma first put him into short dresses. I remember it was made with a low neck and short sleeves, like they made baby dresses in them days, and his little shoulders and arms were almost as pink as the dress. "And here's pieces like a little doutle gown he had 'fore he went into short dresses. And this piece of blue chambry is like a little sunbonnet he had, all lined with fine white jaconet. And here is a piece of fine muslin with s little pink sprig in it like the first short dress Jimmy ever had.- He did look so cunnin' in it, with the sleeves looped back, and a tumble-curl on the top of his head!

"I'll show his wife-to-be all these pieces, and if she ain't tickled with the quilt, she'll be a queer one."

Then Mrs. Drake went over to an old-fashioned mahogany bureau with brass knobs, and took from the upper drawer a large, square cream-tinted envelope, out of which she carefully drew the "invite" to Jimmy's wedding.

"Mr. and Mrs. William H. Holbrook invite you to be present at the marriage of their daughter Helen and James Barclay Larkin, Wednesday evening, September 14th."

Then followed the address of the bride's parents, in a city four hundred miles from Mrs. Dake's home.

"But I'm goin'!" she said, gleefully, as she slipped the invitation back into its envelope. "I'd go if it was twice as far. I ain't seen Jimmy for near on to five years, and he always seemed like my own boy to me 'cause I never had none o' my own, and I helped to bring him up after his own ma died, when he wa'n't but just in his first little trousies.

"I ain't been so far from home in many a long year, and I reckoned my travelin' days was done, but I've got to go and see Jimmy married. I must see Elviry Hodge right away about turning and making over my black silk, and I must see Samantha Rose

Then Jimmy's aunt, her face aglow "They made me stay there a whole to celebrate this centennial, with a and saying tenderly and heartily, "I with loving thoughts of seeing Jimmy week, and they treated me as if I was | civil day, a military day, and a soagain, folded up the quilt carefully in am so glad you came, Aunt Susan." one of the greatest ladies in the land. | ciety day, with a sham battle and rep-"I thought you would be," she said, an old sheet, and laid it away in a They took me to ride ev'ry day, and etition of the fort's capture in 1812. It belongs to the acacia family, and lower drawer of the bureau, saying : patting his arm affectionately. "You they never seemed to mind a bit about The Knights of Pythias are organiz-"I s'pose they'll have lots of nice know you're the only boy I ever had.' contains more tannic acid than the my old-fashioned ways and clothes. ing for society day. It is proposed to "And you were always the best of presents, but I'll warrant you they oak. It is propagated from seeds, regarrison the old fort, and to attempt "I had a beautiful time, and the mothers to me." won't have one that represents as best part of it is Jimmy and his wife to interest the Federal and State auwhich are soaked until soft in boiling But when she was alone in her room much lovin' labor as that quilt. I had are coming to make me a visit on their thorities in the celebration of the cenwater before planting. This tree will she wondered if it had been wise for to cry a little when I quilted them way home from their tower next week. tennial, which has a National signifiher to come after all. She did not do well in warm climates. This eucablocks with the pieces of his baby straps and ropes. You never see such a splendid young cance. - Syracuse Journal. doubt now that James was genuinely lyptus is recommended on account of dresses in 'em. His wife ought to woman as she is !"-The Downington happy to see her, but she had discovthink the world and all of the quilt. First Cork in This Country. its rapid growth, the value of the Archive. I hope to the land she won't go to ered that his betrothed was the daugh-What is said to be the first cork ever wood and the oil contained in the foliter of a rich man, and that the wed using it common." Old Sermons in Demand. grown in the United States of a size ding was to be an elegant affair. Aunt age. Some claim that it is an antidote Mrs. Dake, who was a widow and suitable for commercial purposes was The wife of a minister down in Cin-Susan learned she would be out of childless, lived in a small, remote for malaria. The bamboo deserves recently stripped from a tree in An-(cinnati traded a barrel of his old serplace-that she might in her innocence country town, in which her nephew, trial, maintains the Atlanta Constitugusta, Ga. The tree was one of a mons not long ago for a new breaddo or say something to give James James Larkin, had been born, and number set ;out under Government and his bride cause to be ashamed of pan. The next spring the rag man tution. It is not a tree but a giant from which he had gone to become a supervision some thirty-five years ago. came around again and asked if she grass, allied to our cane. One variety successful young lawyer in the city. her. The bark obtained was two and a half The wedding was to take place the had any more sermons to sell. Congress before or since that date. grows in Florida, where it has been He had not been back to the home of inches thick and of a solid and close next evening, and there would be no. "Why do you want sermons?" his childhood for five years. As his known to grow a foot a day in height. texture .- Philadelphia Record. opportunity for her to meet the bride "Because I did so well with those I Aunt Susan said, he "wa'n't no hand and reach twenty-two feet in a single or her te nile until then. All was so new and ge to her! She had expected to take right hold boarded me and my horse three months and reach twenty-two feet in a single to write letters," but he often sent brief notes and little gifts to his aunt Restaurants in Turkey. In Constantinople the restaurants to assure her of his affection and gratiuseful and ornamental purposes. We are now expected to provide knives and help Mrs. Holbrook with the wed- for that barrel of sermons, and he has tude. have been wasting our forests 1 ding dinner, even if she did keep a since got a great reputation as a and forks for their customers. In He had not announced his engageenough. Why not turn over a new ment to her, and the invitation to his girl. There was a big, new kitchen preacher up there. I will give you Persia, however, the diner is given no leaf and try the trees recommended by wedding was one of the greatest sur-the Forestry Division? Wedding was one of the greatest sur-prises of Mrs. Drake's uneventful life. Susan to be worn while she was got."-Chicago Record. prises of Mrs. Drake's uneventful life. Susan to be worn while she was got."-Chicago Record. the Forestry Division? to the oscillation of sea tides.

noon.

All the people in the car noticed the happy old lady in her queer, old fashioned garb. Some had not seen for many years a shawl like the one she wore, with its fringe a foot long and silk embroidery in the corners; but nothing was coarse or amiss in her dress, and there was a quaintness and charm about her that attracted the sympathy of all the passengers. She had not gone twenty-five miles before she was telling some of them nearest her all about Jimmy and Jimmy's quilt, and the wedding to take place on the coming Wednesday.

She was delighted to find that a middle-aged, kindly-looking woman who was one of the passengers lived in the city in which young Mr. Larkin lived, and could easily show her his boarding house.

"I'm so much obleeged to you!" said Aunt Susan. "I've been so dreadful nervous 'bout trying to find the house myself, I hated to write to him to meet me 'cause it'd take off the best part of the s'prise. I jest want to walk right in on him."

That was just what she had the pleasure of doing the next after-

James Larkin was just taking his wedding suit from the box in which it had been sent home, when there came a knock at the door of his room.

Aunt Susan was trembling with excitement when her nephew opened the door.

"Why, Aunt Susan !" he cried; and then he took her in his arms and kissed on both cheeks.

There was no lack of tenderness in her nephew's greeting, yet the changes in him were painful to her. He was a beardless, boyish-looking young man when she had seen him last. Now he was a tall, broad-shouldered, fullbearded man with a way that made it did not say so, but she felt that he would rather have her call him "James," and that sounded so cold and formal to her.

He now had the graces of a citybred young man. She found it hard to accommodate herself to them, and to the usages of the fashionable boardhouse in which her prosperous young ashamed of his old aunty; but lawsy made but of pieces of Jimmy's things. the flag of Great Britain waved in the Elvira Hodge had made his aunt's garmel Jimmy wouldn't be ashamed of "She said she'd think the world and United States. When that flag was ments more stylish, when he took her me if I went in my plain calico house hauled down the American flag took all of it. She and Jimmy had to go down to dinner, but he was in no sense dress. He wa'n't raised to set clothes off on their weddin' tower in about an its place, and ever since has waved gurth about the first of the year. ashamed of her. When they were above his relations, and he ain't got hour, and I expected to come home there. A public meeting of citizens going downstairs with her hand timidly nothing to be ashamed of in any of that night; but Mr. and Mrs. Holof Oswego, called by the Mayor, has resting on his arm, he made her very his folks." brook wouldn't hear to it. been held, at which it was determined happy by looking down into her face

A flood of tender memories filled her heart, and she buried her face in her gift and cried as she had not cried for years.

There she sat for a long time, paying no heed to the noise and merriment downstairs. Presently she heard a rustle of silk and satin in the hall, and a low murmur of voices. In a moment a pair of soft arms were around her neck, and a girlish voice was saying:

"I am so glad we have found you at last! We have been looking everywhere for you !"

When Aunt Susan looked up she found the bride kneeling by her side, while James was bending low over her.

"You haven't been up here all this time, have you?" he said. "We have wondered where you were. Helen was so anxious to see you." "Of course I was," said the bride.

"There is no one I am so glad to see. James has told me all about you, and it was so good of you to come so far to see us married. You must kiss us and wish us joy, won't you?" "If you'll let me," safd Sussan, with the tears still in her eyes. "Let you !" said James. "We should think it very strange if you didn't. What have you here? It looks like one of the quilts you used to make. It is a quilt, isn't it ?"

Aunt Susan tried to conceal the quilt, but James took it from her and unfolded it. Suddenly he said:

"Why, Aunt Susan, didn't you bring this for a wedding present?" "Well, I-I-did think I'd give it to your wife, James," said Aund Susan, soberly. "I thought that-well -well, you see, I made it ew'ry stitch myself and-and-there's lots of pieces in it from the first clothes you ever had, and-I thought maybe she'd like it because I did it ev'y stitch myself and-"

"Like it?" cried Helen. "I shall value it above any gift I have had! It is beautiful-I never saw such exquisite needlework! What weeks of labor it must have cost you. I am so proud of it !"

"She said them very words," said Aunt Susan to half a dozen of her de-elements, chlorine, sulphur, phosphorus and, above, all iodine with metals increases the opaqueness.

Oil burners on a system invented by an engineer named Cuniberti have been put into all the new Italian war ships and have also been adopted by the German Government. The fuel used is not crude petroleum, but petroleum residuum, which is more economical and has the advantage of not producing smoke when burnt. The British Admiralty is about to experiment with liquid fuel on the new fast cruiser Gladiator.

What we call light is a wave motion in the ether, and is a transverse movement, too., Molecules have nothing to do with it except to produce it. The waves of ether which affect the eye range from about four hundred millions of millions per second to eight hundred millions of millions per second, the longest waves being what we call red waves, while the shortest is called violet, though it is well known that waves much shorter than those in the common spectrum can be seen by some eyes.

His Writing Reversed.

Drs. Richards and Gordon, of Quincy, held a consultation Thursday over the case of Postmaster Charles F. Wilde, of Wollaston, which has been puzzling the public during the past week. After a careful diagnosis of the case the physicians decided that he was | suffering from congestion of the base of the brain and that the disease had been developing during quite a long period. One peculiarity of his mental condition has been a change in his method of writing. Instead of writing from left to right, as he has previously been accustomed to do, he has, during his sickness, when attempting to write, reversed the style and has written backhanded, or from right to left. Thursday he wrote his name in his ordinary manner, however, which was considered a striking sign of improvement in his condition by his physicians and friends. -Boston Herald.

The Evacuation of Fort Ontario.

about a new cap. I guess Fil have to On July 15 next will occur the one lighted friends who came to see her have something smart for a city wedthe day she reached home. She was hundredth anniversary of the British din', where they'll all be finished up evacuation of Fort Ontario at Oswego, so tickled over the quilt. She fairly nephew lived. I don't want Jimmy to be $0. cried when I showed her the blocks which was the last place over which He might, perhaps, have wished that Prescriptions promptly and accurately filled. Situated in the Brick Hotel Building.

Situated on Main Street, east of the Court House. Good horses and new vehicles of all kinds ready for the accommodation of the traveling public. Horses carefully fed and attended to. Give us a trial and see how we feed.

A .C. WELLBORN, Wilkesboro, - North Carolina.

R. N. HACKETT, Attorneys at Law. WILKESBORO, N. C. Will practice in the State and Federal Courts.

ISAAC C. WELLBORN,

Attorney - at - Law, Wilkesboro, N. O.

Will practice in all the courts. Desler in real estate. Prompt attention paid to collection of claims.

T. B. FIRLEY. H. L. GREENE. FINLEY & GREENE

Attorneys - at - Law,

WILKESBORO, N. O.

Will practice in all the courts. Collections a specialty. Real estate sold on mission.

Telegraphs in the Sahara.

The telephone and the telegraph are rapidly making inroads into the arid portion of the desert of Sahara. Englneer Bayolle is now on the way from Biskra to Tuggurth with a working force of 100 men for the purpose of laying telegraph wires between the two places The line is erected as the party proceeds, and the first news from Bayolle was received at Biskra when he telephoned from a point some 20 miles south of Biskra. He advanced at the rate of from three to five miles a day, and will probably reach Tug-

He reports over the 'phone that he has met with a peculiar difficulty; the camels which he has taken along are not used to carrying burdens of a long shape like tlegraph poles, and in many cases they refuse to go on with their loads. Since the camels will not carry the poles when strapped alongside of them, he had to resort to the peculiar mode of balancing the telegraph poles across the pack saddles and fastening them in this position by means of The Rev. W. H. Milburn, the blind chaplain of the United States Senate. was one of the most popular lecturers in the "lyceum days." It is noted of Mr. Milburn that he was first elected Congressional chaplain in December, 1845; fifty-one years ago. He was then 22 years of age, and the youngest man whose voice has ever been heard in A short time before he died, Dr. Char. cot stated, in a lecture, that semi-scientists had for more than fifty years ridiculed the idea that the full moon is a dangerous time for insane persons. Dr. Charcot stated that scientists were now going back to the old-time notion, as & result of increased learning on the subject of earth tides, which are similar hard for her to call him "Jimmy." He