Yadkin County and Good Roads.

Mr. Editor:—

I have been requested by a friend to touch up our people on the subject of good roads. If there is a county near and dear to my heart it is Yadkin.

She has honored me in days past and gone, and if there be any desire in my heart it is to see in the front ranks of her sister counties. I want to urge her to keep pace with those counties which border on her.

We have the natural soil, all that we need to make her what she should, and ought to be, out side of her churches and school houses, is good roads.

Our poor farmers have felt the need of this during the past winter.

Give them good roads in order to market their produce without killing their horses and mules to do it.

Nature has done all that she could for her in the way of soil, the people must do the rest.

Look at the other counties Iredell, Wilkes, Forsyth and see what they are doing along this line. This should awaken us to a sense of our duty in regard to the matter.

Take the past winter our farmers not make a trip to Winston with their tobacco and grain in less than three and sometimes four days and their poor horses and mules damaged to a great extent.

I don't think there is a farmer in Yadkin county who would refuse to vote a reasonable tax to better the condition of our roads. This is an important matter and the sooner the farmers of the county are awakened to the situation the better. One trip to Winston would damage their stock more than double their road tax. Have this question submitted to the people, I am sure they will act promptly and will vote the tax to give her good roads. Shall poor old Yadkin be behind in all things? Let us say by our votes no! I believe it a sin for the people of the county to allow their poor dumb brutes to suffer on account of their neglect of duty. I believe God Almighty will hold us responsible along this line as well as others.

An Aged Couple

Elkin N. C.—In the northern part of Surry county there is a wonderful old married couple. The husband was 92 years of age March 21 and his wife was 92 April 21.

They live alone in a little home in the mountains doing their own housework and farming. The man ploughs with as much vigor as a man of fifty while his wife assists in the field. One looking at Robert Billings and his good wife Mary Ann, would never think that they have almost reached the century mark. Both have plenty of hair on their heads and it is not very gray. Mr. Billings and his wife have received their second sight and read well without glasses.

New Bridge Across Yadkin

There was a joint meeting of county commissioners of Surry and Yadkin counties held here last Tuesday. The object of the joint session was to consider the matter of building a bridge across the Yadkin river here between the two. While the bridge here has not been condemned, nor is it even regarded as unsafe, but it is a question of only a few years until it will be unsafe. For this reason the joint session was held here last Tuesday. The bridge is owned jointly by the two counties, and if a new bridge is built it must be built by the two counties jointly, and each county would pay in proportion to the number of polls.

This would make it necessary for Surry to pay about two-thirds of the cost of building the bridge, and Yadkin one-third. There were present at the meeting Messrs Sparger, Snow and Gough of the Surry board and Messrs Brown, Cook, Smitherman of the Yadkin board. No definite action was taken. The Surry board favored building the bridge; the Yadkin board asked till the first Monday in June to consider the matter.—Elkin Times.

We recommend that the log buildings must be repaired at once and we also recommend that there be screens put to all the doors and windows in the new building, also we recommend that the graveyard be cleaned off.

We recommend that all the metal roofing must be painted. We recommend that the farm be put in a better state of cultivation.

We visited the jail in a body and found it in good condition. We also visited the Clerk's and Register's office and found them in good condition Books well kept.

We also recommend that hat and coat racks be put in grand jury room for their convenience.

Grand Jury's Report

We the Grand Jurors beg leave to report the following:

We have finished up the business given us in charge. Many witnesses called and failed to answer and necessarily we could not act on several bills for want of evidence. We visited the county home in a body and found the inmates well cared for except their using tobacco, we find it to be a very inferior grade and recommend a better grade of tobacco.

We recommend that the log buildings must be repaired at once and we also recommend that there be screens put to all the doors and windows in the new building, also we recommend that the graveyard be cleaned off.

We recommend that all the metal roofing must be painted. We recommend that the farm be put in a better state of cultivation.

We visited the jail in a body and found it in good condition. We also visited the Clerk's and Register's office and found them in good condition Books well kept.

We also recommend that hat and coat racks be put in grand jury room for their convenience.

Just So.

It is a well settled fact that a native of any town may work his best under certain conditions, yet make a dismal failure, while a perfect stranger hits the town and does things up to the queen's taste. Some time ago a party of two or three Japs came to Greensboro and opened an art store—a handsome display of vases, antiques, etc. An auction was held every afternoon and evening, the rooms being crowded, and what these more or less distinguished men did for the people of this community was quite enough, with some to spare. Ladies were present in large numbers. One illustration indicates the way people can be fooled. A pair of vases exactly like those sold regularly at $30 brought $68. Everything was gobbled up along the same lines. Then, having swept the territory clean, the gentlemen departed for other climes. And as soon as this experience is forgotten others will come along and turn the same trick.—Greensboro Record.

Take Time To Look Around

By the way, the writer is a great believer in steady work every working day, but he is not such a stickler for the "sun till sun" day as some. It is very seldom indeed that our teams are in the field more than 10 hours per day, and the nine-hour day comes frequently at "Sunny Home." Then there is a couple of hours per day that can be devoted to the livestock and perhaps some time used just for looking around, studying how this or that piece of work may be more thoroughly done at less expense for labor. Indeed, I know that some of the best paying farm work I have ever done were those hours when I was sitting on the front porch, my feet up on the railing, and doing just nothing but smoking my old briar pipe and thinking. Thinking is mighty good business to mix with farming, anyway, and thinking before hand beats thinking behind hand.—A. J. French, in The Progressive Farmer.

GENERAL PRACTICE

Chicken Lice

Watch out for lice and mites on the old hens and little chicks. Examine them closely at least once a week and if any are found, thoroughly disinfect or whitewash their sleeping quarters and either use some insect powders, grease or dip on both old and young chicks, after the young ones are feathered they can be dipped, as neither old nor young chicks can possibly thrive and do well when they are infested with insects. As soon as the weather is warm enough the grown fowls should be dipped during the middle of a pretty warm day in a solution of 75 to 100 part water (to which has been added a small amount of Pearline or washing powders of some kind) to one part Cresco or some other good dip. Two men can dip 500 fowls in one-half day. The work will be thoroughly and all insects as well as nits will be killed.

Amusement For The Young

Young people must have fun and amusement. It is natural to them and wherever that feeling is lacking something is amiss. Instead of seeking to check that desire it should be carefully directed that its expression may have best results. Parents, especially, should see to it that in the home life adequate provision is made for laughter, fun and good cheer. It will help to keep the children at home and bind the family together. Many a boy and girl has been forced into questionable or bad company because home was not attractive and joyous nor harmless games tolerated.

Candidate For Treasurer

I hereby announce myself a candidate for nomination for the office of Treasurer of Yadkin County subject to the will of the Republican Convention and will appreciate the support of all who favor my nomination.

Yours very truly,
EZRA C. MACKIE.
