Superior Court Proceedings

The Civil Docket of Yadkin county was taken up in Superior court last Wednesday afternoon and finished next day. All cases except two, of any importance, were continued.

One of these, J. M. Spease against P. C. Woodhouse, was where the plaintiff was suing for the possession of 10 acres of land. Verdict for plaintiff, and defendant appeals.

The other case, M. E. Carter against her husband Joe Carter, for the possession of a title was also decided in favor of the plaintiff.

In the case of A. C. Joyner, convicted for embezzlement and sentenced to serve four months on the chain gang of Forsyth county, the sentence was changed to a fine of $25.00 and cost—amounting in all to $85.00.

Grand Jury Report

To his Honor Charles M. Cooke Judge presiding, We the Grand Jury beg lief to report the following: we have acted on all bills given us by the Solicitor. We have been delayed on account of not being able to get witnesses. We visited the County Home by Committee. The committee report that they found the inmates were properly clothed and cared for. We would recommend that four buildings should be covered at once and that two rooms on the north side of dining room should be sealed, and we further recommend that the log buildings should daubed and and new floors in one building and window lights put in wherever needed. We also found the Tobacco furnished the inmates of the home is rotten and unfit to be used and we would recommend that if Tobacco is furnished the home that it should at least be sound. We further recommend that the top of two chimneys should be repaired, and that the stove flue in one building should be repaired. We especially recommend that new and more modern buildings be erected for the County home.

We visited the Jail in a body and found the Jail clean and well kept. We would respectfully recommend that the Jailers house roof be repaired and that window lights be put in where needed.

We visited the County offices and find the books kept in a neat and business like manner.

We further recommend that the Court house should be cleaned up and kept in a more sanitary condition; all of which is respectfully submitted.

J. W. Pass,
Foreman of Grand Jury.

Mr. Grant the Nominee

The Senatorial convention of the 29th district met here Saturday and nominated Mr. A. T. Grant, Jr. of Davie county for Yadkin, Davie and Wilkes.

A motion was adopted by the convention, asking the executive committee of the 7th Congressional district to nominate Atty. H. C. Caviness of Wilkes county as the candidate for Congress. Mr. Laws who was nominated could not accept.

After the nomination of Mr. Grant, he was called on for a speech, and a very fine one he made for a few minutes.

Atty. F. W. Haues was elected Chairman and W. E. Rutledge Secretary for the next two years, and the Ex. Comm. was elected as follows: Yadkin, G. T. White, Wilkes C. H. Somers, Davie, J. L. Sheek.

Col. Lusk writes three columns in telling why he would vote for Tom Settle for Governor, in which he tells an unadulterated falsehood.

Lovers Dissatisfied

"Where there's a will there is a way" has long been known as a true saying, but so far as we can learn it has failed in the case of a Mr. Corder and Miss Phillips, two youthful lovers who came here Sunday from Surry county in the hope of getting married. But Register of Deeds Wooten could not be convinced that either one of them were 18 years old so the couple went back towards their home somewhat dissatisfied, but none the less determined to get married.

Dysentery is always serious and often a dangerous disease, but it can be cured. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has cured it even when malignant and epidemic. For sale by all Dealers.

—When in Winston, for an easy shave and good hair cut see O. D. Castevens, prop. of the Antiseptic Barber Shop on Liberty Street between Auditorium and Liberty Theatre.

HOPE FOR WOMEN OF FIFTY

Time When She Should Be Philosophical and Prepared for Wise Old Age.

There are people today asking with all appearance of sincerity what a woman of fifty or more can do. Their confining work in the home, say these observers, is done. A common suggestion is that they be utilized in politics. This suggestion has its comical side, Miss Tarbell declares. A person who has nothing to do after fifty years of life in a business as many sided and demanding as that of a woman can hardly be expected to be worth much in a business as complicated and uncertain as politics and for which she had had no training. The notion that the woman's business is ended at fifty or sixty is fantastic in the extreme. It only ends there if she has been lifted to the meaning of her own experience; if she has never gone below the surface of her task—never seen in it anything but physical duties; has sensed none of its intimate relations to the community, none of its obligations toward those who have left her, none of those toward the coming generations. If it ends there she has failed to realize, too, the tremendous importance to all those who belong to her circle or who touch it of what she makes of herself, or her personal achievement.

A woman of fifty or sixty who has succeeded has come to a point of sound philosophy and serenity which is of the utmost value in the mental and spiritual development of the group to which she belongs. Life at every one of its seven stages has its peculiar harrowing experiences—hope mingled with uncertainty in youth; fear and struggle characterize early manhood; disillusionment, the question whether it is worth while, fill the years from forty to fifty, but resolute grappling with each period brings one out almost inevitably into a fine serene certainty which cannot but have its effect on those who are younger. Ripe old age—cheerful, useful, and understanding—is the end of the finest influences in the world. We beg Rembrandt's or Whistler's picture of his mother on our walls that we may feel its quieting hand, the sense of peace and achievement which the picture carries. We have no better illustration of the meaning of old age.—American Magazine.

German Village Transplanted.

An interesting ceremony took place on Saturday at New Berich, in the principality of Welsch-Pyrmont, when Prince Frederick laid the foundation stone, not of a new but of an ancient Gothic chapel which formerly stood at Old Berich surrounded by the usual cluster of quaint farm-houses and homesteads. The village of Old Berich, however, is an obstacle in the construction of the Edger River dam, which will have an area of twenty square miles and a maximum depth of 150 feet. The village, which has existed for 300 years, was therefore marked for extinction, and all the inhabitants received notice to leave their houses, which are to be leveled to the ground. New dwellings were erected at New Berich some thirty miles away and some of the freshly painted walls resemble in great measure the deserted village. The church, erected in the twelfth century, has been taken down and the ceremony of Saturday was the first step in its re-erection on the new site.

A New way of Canvassing a County

By W. M. Swain
Jonesville, N. C., Oct. 11th, 1912.

My Dear Sir:
Feeling that it is unnecessary for me to come before you in person, in this campaign, I beg to take this liberty of laying before you my plans in case I am the successful candidate for treasurer of our county.

Knowing as I do the feeling of the Tax Payers and voters of Yadkin, in regard to the way some of the settlements have been made heretofore, I propose in making settlement with the parties now in power to receive nothing but legal tender money, and further in making this settlement I agree to select three good business men, one democrat, a republican, and a progressive, each to take part in adjusting and making settlement with our present officers, which will bring to light all illegal business, should there have been any transacted by our former or present officers.

I further pledge you at the end of each year to publish in one or more of our county papers, an exact statement of the business carried on in the office, and show the amounts paid over to me by the sheriff, and the amounts of orders paid out and for what each order represents.

I further agree that when there is turned over to me as much as $1000.00 or more that will not be likely to be used within 6 months I will place same in some reliable bank on interest, interest to be placed to the credit of said county.

Assuring you that any aid you give me in securing the office of Treasurer will be appreciated, and that each person doing business with me shall receive the same courtesy, and that I will fill the office honestly and impartially and if in my power make the office a credit to our county, I beg to remain,

Yours very truly,
W. M. Swain.
