Hit by a Cyclone

Sweeping down from a hill side a half mile west of the village last Wednesday, a cyclone of real western variety struck Mint Springs, Va., tearing a frame house from its foundation and scattering its wreckage half a mile along its path.

At the time the house was occupied by Mrs. Marvin Ballew and Lewis Ballew, her seven year old son. Mrs. Ballew was found unconscious in the wreckage of the house across the road from its original foundation, having been carried a distance of 50 feet by the force of the wind.

The child was found farther out in a field, also unconscious.

Though both of them suffered bad cuts about the head, they are expected to recover.

Another small child was in a shed a short distance from the house at the time of the storm. This shed, however, was unshaken and the child unhurt.

The damage to houses and contents is estimated a $2,500. Liberty bonds worth $200 and $50 in currency was blown away. On $2 in paper money has been recovered.

Tyree vs Tudor Case Ends With $15,000 Verdict.

The jury in the case of L. P. Tyree, administrator of Ruth Tyree, deceased, vs. George C. Tudor and Bynum Tudor, tried in Forsyth court last week, returned a verdict, awarding the plaintiff damages in the sum of $15,000. Notice of appeal was given.

The case, which has attracted wide attention, has been one of the greatest legal battles between a number of the state's most brilliant lawyers, that has ever been fought in the civil courts of North Carolina.

The case originated June 19, 1918, when Miss Ruth Tyree, young daughter of the plaintiff, was riding with Bynum Tudor, son of George C. Tudor, in a Buick automobile on the road between Winston-Salem and the Country Club. On the trip home the car turned over and Miss Tyree was killed.

The Tudor boy was arranged in criminal court on a charge of manslaughter and was acquitted by the jury. Then followed the civil action.

Predicts Coldest Winter in 25 Years

The predictions of the weather prophet of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company are not scoffed at in his own country. He says the coldest weather in the last 25 years is approaching and warns his brother railroad men there will be many blizzards and it will be difficult to keep traffic open. This man is to have failed only once in foretelling the weather. Paste this prediction up where you can see it next winter. Then render your own verdict.

What One Ford Did

A few days ago Lewellyn Neal, of Meadows, N. C., took his little Ford car and went down to the banks of the river Dan at the River Mill ford and drove across with Coy Smith and himself on the car. There had never been a car across the river at this place before.

The car was hard to get into the water but with a little persuading Lizzie made her dive. The water almost ran over the car but she went across hitting on four and climbed the bank like a caterpillar. The car was a '14 model.

The national conference on unemployment, called by President Harding, met in Washington Monday. After organizing the conference adjourned until October 5, when it will meet again.

MANY STOLEN GOODS FOUND IN YADKIN HOME

A large quantity of stolen goods was found by officers last Monday morning when they searched the home of Jesse L. Shermer, near Courtney. Information came from Winston-Salem that suspicion rested on this place as being the hiding place of a lot of goods taken from the Southern Railway Co.

Among the property found in Shermer's house and barn were 200 pounds of sugar, one sack full of shoes, 27 pairs of socks, some shirts, several pairs of gloves, auto battery and a large tire which had number burned off. The two last articles were found in some hay in the barn. Shermer said he did not know they were there. He also said he bought the sack of shoes but did not remember where he got them. Among the shoes were several pairs of $12 ladies' shoes.

Officers making the raid were Sheriff Moxley, Deputy Myers, Pat Smothers, a Southern Railway detective, and J. E. Shugart.

Reynolds is Named Republican Chairman

Hon. Charles A. Reynolds, a well known Republican leader of Winston-Salem, was named Republican State Chairman to succeed Hon. Frank A. Linney who resigned to become District Attorney. The meeting of the state executive committee was held in Greensboro Tuesday and Mr. Reynolds named without a dissenting vote.

One of the first acts of the new chairman was to invite all Democratic newspaper men present to please view the proceedings of the meeting from the fresh air on the outside of the room.

Dishman Dead; Benson Captured

Robert Dishman, the white man who was taken to a Statesville hospital one night last week after being beaten up by Bob Benson, colored, has since died and Iredell county has offered a reward of $100 and the state $200 for the apprehension of Benson. Posses are searching for him in Iredell and surrounding counties, but so far nothing has learned of his whereabouts.

Benson Captured

Eob Benson, the negro who killed Dishman, was captured by a posse of men Sunday at a point about five miles west of Statesville. He was taken to Charlotte and placed in jail for safe keeping.

Miss Vanderbilt Has Two Million a Year

Miss Cornelia Stuyvesant Vanderbilt, only daughter and heiress of the late George W. Vanderbilt, faces the problem of how to spend $2,000,000 a year, following her 21st birthday.

Dispatches from the Vanderbilt estate at Asheville, however indicate that Miss Cornelia is not of the temper to waste much thought over how to spend her money.

In the stately spaces of her father's famous Biltmore house, near Asheville, Miss Vanderbilt has been brought up with simplicity and regard for what her father called "the sensibleness of economy."

The ordinary procedure in such cases as Miss Vanderbilt's is to step over to the European market and pick out a good, durable, attractive title, the greatest procurable for the money available.

No such plan of campaign lies in the back of the mind of young Miss Vanderbilt's mind, however. Her mother, Mrs. Edith Stuyvesant Dresser Vanderbilt, has openly expressed her displeasure for "empty titled foreigners."

Miss Vanderbilt's 21st birthday was celebrated recently by all day rejoicing on the Biltmore estate. Tenants and servants united in the celebration of their young mistress' majority.

The fortune which became hers is estimated at $50,000,000, the income is approximately $2,000,000.

Rumor has it that Miss Cornelia's mother has three ardent admirers in the persons of Gen. John J. Pershing, Gen. Julian S. Carr and Governor Cameron Morrison.—Ex.
