Yadkin county.

Mrs. Denny was born August 27, 1822. She enjoyed the best of health and a clear mind until a few months ago and it was interesting to hear her relate the events that occurred when she was a girl.

Mrs. Denny was buried in the cemetery at Asbury M. E. church Sunday afternoon. Rev. Marvin Lindley and Rev. L. A. Cohn, both of Winston-Salem, conducting the funeral services.

Mortgagee's Notice of Sale of Land

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a mortgage deed, executed to the undersigned by Wilson Reynolds and wife, Lizzie Reynolds, on the 12th day of April, 1920, and duly recorded in book 23, page 22, record of mortgages for Yadkin county, I will sell for cash at the court house door in Yadkinville, N. C., at public auction, on Saturday, February 21, 1925, at 1 o'clock, p. m., the following described land:

Bounded on the north by Robert Gentry lands, on the east by Wilson Reynolds lands, on the south by Henry L. G. lands, on the west by J. S. Logg lands, containing 7 acres, more or less, and known as the Wilson Reynolds home place.

This January 19, 1925.
W. S. Reynolds,
Mortgagee

This talk about a woman being the democratic nominee for governor of North Carolina in 1928 is all bosh. Too many lame ducks in N. C. for a woman to become governor.

Letter From an Indiana Subscriber

Dear Sirs:

I am a regular reader of the Yadkin Ripple and wish to hear from some of the people in old North Carolina.

I expect the people have forgotten the writer, but I will never forget the people of my old home state.

We are having regular winter weather here, the thermometer registering 18 below zero. It is fine sleighing here now and the young, middle aged and old are enjoying sleigh rides.

I expect to make a visit to North Carolina soon.

Warney Thomas, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bovender, died December 30th.

I am now in the very best of health, but am still walking on crutches.

I am the daughter of Mrs. J. B. Williams, of Yadkin county. Mrs. William Dinkins, 818 S. B. Street, Jan. 26, 1925. New Castle, Ind.

Eruptions From Popocatepetl Alarm Natives

Mexico City.—Popocatepetl, Mexico's great volcano, and known as "the smoking mountain" has begun to erupt again, and the people of the City of Mexico, which, accustomed to see a white peak towering above the clouds, now notes a black, steady stream of smoke forming curious figures in the sky. The inhabitants of the village of Tlaxcala are reported to have deserted their homes through fear.

The Indian witchmen in the village of Ameca-meca, which lies between the volcano and its twin Iztaccihuatl, the latter known as the "sleeping sister," are endeavoring to read in the figures made by the column of fire, the warning of the gods, for Ameca-meca has been destroyed four times by the god of the smoking mountain, and there is a prophecy that a savior child is to be born of Popocatepetl and Iztaccihuatl.

Scientific observers, however, say that continuous explosions occurring in Popocatepetl, at the rate of about a dozen a minute, do not result in disastrous eruptions. Explorers just returned from far up the slopes of the mountain say they were unable to ascend beyond the snow line.

Smoke Spreads Over 100 Miles.—The smoke arising in a huge column from the crater has spread 100 miles from its source. Powderlike ashes are falling about the mountain, indicating only sulphur deposits are burning.

One of Mexico's leading artists, Doctor Alt, is interpreting the movements of the columns of smoke and fire, which he styles "the anguish of my brother Popo." But he insists that the residents of Mexico have nothing to fear from the volcano's convulsions, and that greater dangers exist for them in their midst, such as politics, epidemics and the "right to direct action."

Doctor Alt spent three years living a hermit's life on the edge of the crater, with snow and ice on one side, and fire and lava on the other. He says the mountain is one of the possessions of his life.

Recently, at the first sign of trouble within the volcano, Doctor Alt was off from Mexico City with his pack, in an endeavor to see the activity of the volcano.

Indians Practice Witchcraft.—For some weeks the press of Mexico City has been occupied with the activities of Popocatepetl. The country around the slopes of the volcano, and even villages some kilometers distant, have been covered with a fine yellow ash, but the old-time Indians took no notice of this, being accustomed to such a slight inconvenience, but when the recent subterranean rumblings began to become prominent, even these old warriors became frightened and now are practicing all their witchcraft in order to appease the god and so save the country from the destruction they believe is imminent.

Survey Shows Saturday Night Bath Is No Myth

New York.—About 1,000,000 new bathtubs were made in the year 1924. Since for the average bath in a tub between 40 and 60 gallons of water are used, the tide of soapuds rises high. And it is at its flood on Saturday nights.

This is proven by accurate measure of the additional amount of gas consumed in the cities to heat the water to between 140 to 150 degrees. It requires from two to three cubic feet of gas to raise a gallon of water 100 degrees.

The per capita consumption of water in American cities is 200 to 300 per cent greater than in European cities, and on Saturday nights this percentage is doubled. The ordinary householder in this country uses about 7,500 gallons of water a month.

Representatives of the largest soap producers in this country assert that every family (averaging 3 persons) in the United States consumes at least 80 pounds of soaps during the year.

Fish Are Shoveled From River During Smelt Run

Kelso, Wash.—Smelt started running into the Cowlitz river from the Columbia recently. Catching these miniature fish is now the event of the winter, farmers shoveling them up by the scooped, filling barrels and boxes; women using lace curtain nets at the end of portiere poles; boys and girls with father's auto cover for a seine and the professional fisher with his iron thread net.

These fish, about seven to nine inches long, run in schools, often filling the river from bank to bank. They are en route upstream to spawn after which the smelt return to the ocean and, like the fur seal, spend a long period far from human eyes.

First Indian to Hold University Museum Post

Kesh-Ke-Kosh, whose white name is Pun Whistler, is the first Indian to hold an important university museum post. He has been appointed assistant in the department of general ethnology at the University of Pennsylvania and is to overhaul and rearrange the Indian collection there. Kesh-Ke-Kosh is a descendant of the Sac and Fox tribe of Oklahoma. His name means "the leaf that has been cleft." He became interested in ethnology while studying a history of his own tribe.

Gastonia School Destroyed by Fire

The South Gastonia graded school building, a new two story structure, was destroyed by fire at a late hour last Wednesday night. The fire is supposed to have originated from defective wiring. The loss is estimated at $50,000 with $40,000 insurance.

Greensboro Theater Destroyed by Blaze

Greensboro had a disastrous fire early Thursday morning when the Orpheum theater was destroyed by fire. The fire was discovered at 1:30 and had gained great headway before firemen reached the scene. The fire raged for an hour and a half before it was extinguished. Several stores adjoining the theater suffered great damage from fire, water and smoke. The loss is estimated at $100,000. Origin of fire unknown.

United States Senate

The United States Senate voted to establish a new Federal court district in North Carolina to be known as the central district.

Said mortgage deed after due notice having been made in the public sale of the same on January 8, 1925.
T. S. Hutchens,
Mortgagee

Washington City, Jan. 31.—

Henry W. Faison, former soldier and a son a former member of the house from North Carolina, asked the supreme court of the District of Columbia today to annul his marriage to Annie Nelson, a 37 year old negro, a cook in a house where he boarded.

Faison said that for six months the woman had procured for him large quantities of intoxicating liquors and for a week prior to the marriage had persuaded him to drink about a quart a day. Faison said he became "overcome" on January 16, losing all his faculties, and recovered three days later to find himself married to the negro woman.

He says the woman obtained the marriage license herself and represented him as colored. He has since been placed in a hospital by the veteran's bureau.

Explosion Explodes In Salisbury Home

Salisbury, Jan. 29.—The explosion of a kitchen range today at the home of Julius Kirk, in this city, wrecked the kitchen and gave Mrs. Kirk, who was in the kitchen, a narrow escape from serious injury. The explosion was heard throughout the neighborhood and was of such force to break out window panes, tear away facings and break crockery ware in the kitchen.

Mortgagee's Notice of Sale of Land

Under and by virtue of the authority contained in a mortgage deed executed by D. F. Dalton and A. D. Stimpson on the 5th day of December, 1916, to secure the payment of a note, which mortgage deed is recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Yadkin county in book 29, page 28, and default having been made in the payments, the undersigned mortgagee will expose for sale and will sell at the court house door in Yadkinville, North Carolina, on the 14th day of March, 1925, at 12 o'clock noon, for cash, to the highest bidder, the following described real estate:

Lying and being in Yadkin county, Little Yadkin township, and described and defined as follows, to-wit: Lying and being the south end of lot No. 2 in the division of the lands of the late Gabriel Black, and bounded as follows:
