WAR PLANNED ON THE CAT- TLE TICK

Concerted Effort by State, Local and Federal Forces, in the South

Washington, March 20.—A concerted campaign against the cattle tick in the South by federal, state and local authorities, which it is hoped will eliminate the pest from all the Atlantic states north of Florida, is about to be begun. Alabama will join in the fight with the expectation of ridding the state of the ticks that still are found in a few counties here.

Florida is to make a drive against the pest in the counties in the northwestern part of the state contiguous to Alabama, and, as the state eliminated the insect in seven counties last year, it is believed by department of agriculture authorities that the maintenance of the 52-mile long quarantine fence along the Georgia-Florida line will not be needed much longer. The fence was erected by Georgia after that state had freed itself of cattle ticks in order to prevent infested animals from Florida crossing the border.

North of Georgia the only tick infestation section is found in three counties in Virginia and two in South Carolina.

COLONEL COOLIDGE GAVE FARM TO SON

Family Homestead Transferred Three Weeks Before Death

Plymouth, Vt., March 19.—Three weeks before his death, Plymouth learned today Colonel John C. Coolidge transferred to his son, Calvin, the farm on which members of the Coolidge family have lived for generations. The farm consists of 225 acres with the white farmhouse which was the President's boyhood home.

Throughout the Colonel's lifetime the family property stood in the name of his father, Calvin G. Coolidge. The town records show that the transfer was made from the estate of C. G. Coolidge to the President.

The Colonel died ostensibly penniless, although a man of substance. Neighbors say that all property other than the land was made over to the President during his lifetime. Plymouth never knew the value of the Calvin G. Coolidge estate and the same secrecy has been maintained in the case of the Colonel's property. There was no will.

In addition to the homestead, the President owns the lime kiln lot in which is the Coolidge sugar orchard. This tract he inherited from his grandfather.

POPULATION OF MANY CAROLINA CITIES DOUBLED

Washington, March 18.—Special censuses showing increased populations for 13 cities in the south for various dates since the last federal decennial census was taken in 1920, were announced today by the commerce department.

Louisville, Ky., led the list with a population on December 10, 1925, of 305,935, a gain of 70,014 since January 1, 1920. Greensboro, N. C., however, made the largest percentage increase, more than doubling its population, which on April 13, 1923, was 43,525 compared with 19,861 in 1920. Shelby, N. C., also more than doubled, rising from 3,609 to 8,854 by September 1, 1925.

Durham, N. C., nearly doubled its population, there being 42,258 persons in that city on September 24, 1925, as against 21,719 in 1920. Other cities in the same state were: High Point, N. C., jumped from 14,279 by March 26, 1923; Lexington, from 5,254 to 8,519 by January 20, this year; Mount Airy, from 4,752 to 5,814 by December 10, 1923; Roxboro, from 1,651 to 3,235 by January 30, this year; Hendersonville, from 3,720 to 5,063 by October 13, 1924.

Fairfield, Ala., increased from 5,003 to 7,974 by January 9, 1924; Thomasville, Ga., from 8,196 to 10,301 by November 13, 1925, and Paris, Tenn., from 4,730 to 5,800 by February 8, this year.

The town of Bluefield, Va., was given a population of 4,339 as of December 1, 1925, as against 2,752 in 1920, but the new total included the population of territory which had been added to the town but was in litigation at that time.

SQUIRE MONEY TAKES ISSUE WITH WELFARE

To the Editor of The Journal:

I see in The Journal of March 12th an article headed: "One of the reasons why Mrs. Kate Burr Johnson would abolish North Carolina's chain gang system." After reading this article, I wish to express my opinion on same.

Our prisons, and the management of our prisoners, may not be the very best that they could be, but we must remember that a large number of our prisoners today have been behind the same bars before, and after knowing the conditions of the prisons, they choose to live such lives that they must be sent there time after time. Knowing this, do we favor turning the whole thing over to the officials of the Board of Charities and Public Welfare? They would soon give it up as an impossible job. They would find that it is much easier to stand off and criticize others, than to reach the goal that they had wanted someone else to reach.

In conclusion, let me say that we have hundreds of people who live in the country that do not fare as well as our prisoners do. I say, if the Board of Public Welfare and Charity want something to do, let them get out and work among these poor people, and let the chain gang system stay as it is.—J. C. Money, Yadkinville, N. C., March 15, 1926.
