MISS MYRTLE HUTCHENS
DIES AFTER TAKING POISON TABLETS

Miss Myrtle Hutchens, former Yadkinville girl, died at the Baptist hospital Wednesday of last week after she had suffered for three days from the effects of taking bichloride of mercury tablets, apparently with suicidal attempt.

Miss Hutchens, who was only 19 years old, had been a student nurse at the Baptist hospital for 17 months prior to her death and was held in the highest esteem by all her associates around the hospital. She was said to be very efficient in her work and a life of usefulness seemed to be in front of her. It is learned on good authority that Miss Hutchens had become despondent over a love affair and also because she had no funds to support herself and her sister who is in the Oxford orphanage. She remarked to one of her girl friends just before she took the poison tablets that she had been out riding with her boy friend and that they had quarreled.

The deceased was a daughter of Walt Dan Hutchens, who has been living in Indiana for some years. After the death of her mother Myrtle went to Oxford orphanage where she stayed until coming to the Baptist hospital to take training. She is survived by her father who arrived too late to see her alive, and by three sisters, Miss Blanche Hutchens, who is training for a nurse at Greenville, N. C., Mrs. Luther Hutchens of East Bend and Mrs. Simon Parker of Booneville.

Funeral and interment for Miss Hutchens was conducted at Pilot View Friends church, this county, Friday, and was conducted by Rev. Charles H. Hutchens and Rev. Mrs. Lucy Vestal. Rev. Dr. Linsford, Superintendent of the hospital made a short talk in which he told of the faithful work of the deceased and the high esteem in which she was held by her co-workers. A class of student nurses at the hospital attended in a body to pay their respects to their unfortunate friend.

FORD IS TURNING SHIPS INTO LAND MACHINES

Vessels of Wartime Merchant Marine Being Dismantled; Every Part Saved

A 1926 version of the business of turning swords into plowshares was disclosed in information made public by the Henry Ford interests in Detroit explaining how the nucleus of the Wartime Merchant Marine fleet is rapidly being fed into the Ford industry. Wartime ships are literally being transformed into automobiles, tractors and implements for use in the organization's various enterprises.

A crew of five hundred men, working at especially designed dismantling docks erected by this gigantic industrial concern which taboos waste, every other day wreck one of the 199 steel ships which the Ford interests purchased of the 800 originally built as the United States shipping boards merchant fleet. Thirty-five have already been dismantled and as the process is completed another crew of 300 men move the parts to allotted places where they meet a variety of needs.

Steel and metals are used to make automobile parts. Heavy booms and spars go to the lumber mills to become wheels and automobile bodies. Scrap wood and cork are ground for packing purposes. Piping faucets and plumbing fixtures are stored away for some future need. Stacks and air pipes are installed in various plants. Wooden deck materials are made into crates and boxes. Even nails are melted into pigs.

The ship's engines are sent to drive saw mills and generate power in the plants while one of them was sent to a Ford factory in France. Searchlights are sent to light Ford aviation fields, and ship ice plants find use in experimental laboratories.

A place for every part and parcel of these one-time ocean going vessels is found in some place in the Ford organization.

DR. PERISHO SPEAKS TO YADKIN TEACHERS

Dr. E. C. Perisho of Guilford College addressed the Yadkin county teacher's association at the school auditorium last Saturday. In his splendid address he stressed the importance of getting prepared for the work of teaching, and then cooperating with the people, in the various interests of the community.

While here Dr. Perisho was questioned concerning the boys who are at Guilford from Yadkinville. In reply he said, "They were a fine bunch of fellows and were doing good work in school. The following boys from in and around Yadkinville are at Guilford this year: Worth Mackie, Walter Davis, Charlie Gough, George Hinshaw, Milo Hoots and Perry Shermer.

Worth Mackie pays practically all his expenses in school by working evenings for the "Greensboro News." He also holds the responsible place of "Pastor at Archdale and Springfield churches—which the pastor is on vacation.

Dr. Perisho spoke at Union Cross church at 11 o'clock Sunday.

Among the many good things that he said was that science is revealing by the spade of the Archeologist that the narratives of the Bible are true.

Many valuable excavations have of late been made in Palestine, Egypt and at Abrahams early home that have confirmed Biblical accounts.

NEW CHEVROLET COMPANY ORGANIZED

The Mocksville Enterprise: Mr. H. R. Martin, of Wilkes county and Ex-Sheriff, George F. Winecoff, of this city, are the new managers of the Chevrolet Company here. After the reorganization this company is one of the strongest in the city, having added several thousand dollars to its capital.

Mr. Winecoff is one of Davie's most prominent men and it is useless to say that he will make Chevrolet's hum in this section. Read their ad in this issue and call on them when in need of anything in their line.

THE FAKE ADVERTISER

Hereafter, when a newspaper or magazine carries an advertisement of a tonic that will grow hair on a billiard ball or a salve that will cure tuberculosis in thirty days, it will be struck by the vengeance of the Federal Trade Commission. This body, according to one of its members, is launching a drastic campaign against all publications that carry fraudulent advertising.

Reputable newspapers and magazines scrutinize with the greatest possible care all advertising matter submitted to them. There are, however, mushroom publications which suddenly spring up and flourish for a short space on advertising patronage which the better members of their business refuse. They do not enjoy long lives, however, because the fraudulent advertisements in the end drive away the readers by destroying their confidence.

But as soon as one of them has gone the way of the transgressor, another turns up to take its place. It is a fact, despite the constant endeavors of the honest advertisers and publishers, that the crooked advertiser can always find space for his matter. Millions of dollars are taken from the public every year by these published promises which the publishers must have known to be impossible when they agreed to spread them before the public eye.

The campaign of the Federal Trade commission, if it is drastic enough and if it lasts long enough, will serve the public well. The desirable thing is to have the day drawn when the public may and will have absolute confidence in every advertisement published in the United States.

From May 15 until September 15, farmers of Henderson county sold over $14,000 worth of produce on the curb market at Hendersonville.

MRS. SARAH JANE LEGANS

Mrs. Sarah Jane Legans, aged 80 years, died at the home of her son, Mr. Frank Legans, near Courtney Sunday, and was buried at Deep Creek Baptist church Monday.

Mrs. Legans was one of the oldest and most highly respected ladies of the neighborhood. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Mr. S. S. May. A large crowd attended the funeral.

TARHEEL FARMERS MUST STUDY MARKET REPORTS

Raleigh, Oct. 13.—Faced with a price below the cost of production and one of the largest crops of cotton ever produced in the South, it is time that farmers of the State gave more attention to market reports and arranged their production to meet the situation.

This is the opinion of Dr. C. W. Foster, head of the department of agricultural economics at State College. Early in 1926, Dr. Foster's department issued an outlook for the cotton crop for this year in which it was pointed out that the American cotton crop for this year would likely be as large if not larger than in 1925. Two seasons previous, said the report, the production of cotton had exceeded consumption and cotton stocks had increased. The domestic and foreign demand would not materially increase in 1926 but would likely decrease and production costs would be about the same as in 1925. These predictions based on a survey of the situation in the entire Nation and on facts established by many years of observation and research have proven to be true this fall.

Dr. Forster states that the chief advantage had by the cotton farmer is his control over the supply of cotton. This control comes through the control over acreage. It has been proven that 54 per cent of the actual supply of cotton may be attributed to changes in acreage and 46 percent to weather conditions. It is evident therefore that cotton farmers can, if they wish, exercise control over the supply and hence over the price. Dr. Forster does not believe in the efficacy of campaigns for the reduction of acreage. They have been failures, he states, but if farmers were conscious of the fact that the acreage intended for cotton was going to be materially increased, they could revise their plans and cut down their acreage. Where the farmer has no idea before planting just what the acreage will likely be, he has no basis for intelligent adjustment of his acreage.

HON. JOHNSON J. HAYES
COMING TO YADKINVILLE

Announcement is made that Hon. Johnson J. Hayes of Wilkesboro will address the voters and citizens of Yadkin county at a big rally to be held here on Saturday, Oct. 23, at 2 o'clock, p. m.

Mr. Hayes is the Republican nominee for United States Senator and has been making a strenuous campaign throughout the state. It is the plan of Yadkin Republicans to have a band here to make music for the occasion and have a regular old time rally. Further plans will be announced next week.

ROBERT L. GORDON DIES IN NEW CASTLE PENN.

Robert L. Gordon, aged 66 years, died at his home in New Castle, Pennsylvania, last week and the body was brought to Yadkin county for burial. The funeral and interment was at Deep Creek Baptist church Monday and was attended by a large crowd of friends who knew the deceased many years ago when he lived in this section.

Mr. Gordon is survived by a number of children, most of whom came all the way from their Northern home to attend the funeral. The services at the church were conducted by Rev. J. G. Allgood and Rev. R. E. Ward.

MRS. W. N. HORN DIES AT EAST BEND

Following a brief illness, Mrs. W. N. Horn, 60, died at her home at East Bend Sunday afternoon at 12:15 o'clock.

She was taken ill last Thursday, but her condition did not become serious until Saturday afternoon. Death was unexpected.

Mrs. Horn was a native of Forsyth County, but had spent practically all her life at East Bend. She was a member of the Moravian church at Bethania.

In addition to the husband, she is survived by six sons, G. V., and P. L. Horn, of Winston-Salem; E. F. Horn, of Troy, Alabama; E. P. Horn, of Athens, Alabama and C. D. and Frank Horn, of East Bend; and by two daughters, Miss Jessie Horn, of East Bend and Mrs. Joe L. Bonney, of Pineville, Ky. A brother, E. M. Vogler and a sister, Mrs. W. G. Leake, both of East Bend, also survive.

The funeral was conducted yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Baptist church, and interment was in the church graveyard.

WHY WE YAWN

Popular Science Monthly. Anything will start a yawn. An earnest monotonous talker; seeing somebody else do it; excessive nervousness; love; too much concentrated attention or not enough of it. We yawn when we are bored, but we yawn when we are excited, too; we yawn when we are sleepy and when we've had too much sleep; when we are enjoying the best of health, or when we are sick or about to be. And strangest of all, we may yawn when we are about to die. Underneath all of these things, the primary purpose of the yawn is to supply the imperative demands of our bodies for more air and hurry up about it!

Henderson county farmers sold over 1,800 bushels of rye for seed during one week in late September.

NOTICE OF SALE

By virtue of power invested in me by an order of the Clerk of the Superior Court, of Yadkin County, North Carolina on the 4th day of Sept. 1926 according to the Statute made and provided Section 2583 Consolidated Statute, and by virtue of the power and authority contained in a certain Deed of Trust executed by John H. Mackie and wife, Nancy Mackie to Chickamauga Trust Company, trustee for the State Life Insurance Co., of Indiana on the 1st day of March, 1927 for $4,000 and interest on same at the rate of 5 1-2 cent per annum payable annually which same $4000.00 and interest from March 1st, 1922 is still due and unpaid, and the said State Life Insurance Company having transferred their interest in said note and deed of trust to John T. Benbow and the said Chickamauga Trust Company as trustee having resigned and the said Clerk having appointed me a trustee to carry out said trust which deed of trust is duly recorded in the register of deeds office in Yadkinville, N. C., Yadkin County, N. C. I will on the 11th day of Oct., 1926, Monday at 1 o'clock p. m., sell the following described tract of land to the highest bidder at public auction at the Court House door in Yadkinville, Yadkin County, N. C. Beginning at a dogwood and pointers, Mrs. Hauser's corner and runs south 130 East 5 chs and 53 links to a large white oak. F. W. HANES, Trustee. 9 16 4t.

MAY NOT PAY MORE THAN 10 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR

The Wachovia Bank and Trust company receivers of the defunct Merchants Bank and Trust company, report that they have collected $133,061 of the failed bank's assets or approximately 10 per cent of the money owned by the bank.

If the court should order a dividend which is altogether unlikely the depositors would get but 10 cents on the dollar of their hardearned cash.

More than $50,000 of the above sum was collected from an assessment on the stockholders and this was paid under protest. Should the courts decide in favor of the stockholders so protesting, this money would have to be paid back to them.

In the meantime Solicitor Graves or the corporation commission so far as can be learned have made no move whatever toward a criminal prosecution or investigation of those responsible for the failure of the bank.
