A HODGE-PODGE LIST OF DISPARATE NOTES
Comet Note: Yadkin natives are hereby warned not to do anything rash if, in the middle of one of these clear, sunny days the sky suddenly turns a peculiar yellow, followed quickly by dusk, or almost total darkness, accompanied with a smell of burning oxygen. It will only mean that Cunningham's Comet has come between the earth and the sun. This "Yellow Day" is due at noon on January 19, the Astrologists say. As some of you jitterbugs will remember, the same thing happened in 1881, causing no end of confusion and scurrying about when the populace decided that the oxygen smell was brimstone burning, and lost no time making up for lost prayers.

Treasure Note: Any Yadkin county person receiving letters from Mexico requesting the receiver to help find a plot of buried treasure or otherwise claiming to have a "get rich quick" scheme should entirely disregard the missive or turn it over to Sheriff Inscore. Such letters have been received in Surry, Forsyth, and many other counties around here recently. The sender usually pretends to be locked in jail, and has from $100,000 up in a trunk supposed to be somewhere in the U. S. or Mexico. The writer then states that he has a friend, whom he has the utmost confidence in, and to contact him. Naturally, it will take six or seven hundred dollars to get the trunk out of hock or to pay storage fees, but after that he will gladly divide the money with you. So you are supposed to meet the friend in some obscure place, with the money, of course, at which time you will be lucky to get off with a tap from a blackjack and a couple of black eyes.

Foreign Language Note: Because of changing world conditions, there has been a movement on in North Carolina to change the teaching of French, Latin, and other foreign languages in schools to Spanish. Speaking from a purely personal standpoint, and remembering how we struggled through three years of Latin and French in school, we heartily endorse the movement, except that we add that they kick out Spanish too. Unless a student considers majoring in foreign languages or teaching them in college later in life, we consider it a waste of time to teach any foreign language to high school students. We know this is revolutionary, but we also add that in place of foreign languages, a class or two should be taught to prepare students, especially those who will terminate their education upon graduating from high school, to leave with at least a smattering of learning to enable them to cope with the cold, cruel business world (as our lady English professor used to tell us in college) and the little matter of making a living.

Humor Note: Sheriff A. L. In-

score tells the following joke on himself and Deputy Sheriff W. E. Wishon which happened the other day. Mr. Dock Knott walked into the Sheriff's office and sat down. "It's a nice day, isn't it?" he said to Deputy Sheriff Wishon. "Do you think we're going to have any snows this winter?"

"Yes," said Mr. Wishon, in a solemn tone of voice. "It's going to snow nine times this winter." Mr. Knott pondered over that one for a minute or two. He got up and walked out. Across the street he met Mr. Z. R. Cleary. "Who is that fool who stays in the Sheriff's office?" asked Mr. Knott.

"Which one?" asked Mr. Cleary. "There's two who stay in there."

One Kilowatt-Hour

We've all heard of kilowatt-hours—which are a measurement for a certain amount of electricity. But few realize just how much energy one kilowatt-hour represents.

In a recent laboratory test, a strong young ex-puglist was put to work driving a hand generator until exhaustion forced him to stop. He produced just a little over one per cent. of one kilowatt-hour. More than two hundred men took turns operating a bicycle-driven generator—and their combined efforts, kept up until they were too weary to go on, produced just ten cents worth of electricity!

A kilowatt-hour of electricity, purchased from a utility company, costs a fraction of one cent to five cents, depending upon your monthly consumption.
