Argument Over Religion—Murder

Near Lumberton on Tuesday morning Frank Pridden, 70 years old, began at the breakfast table an argument on religious matters with his employe, 30 year old Houston Williams. The argument continued as the two went to the field to work. Both men became angry, and the climax was reached when the younger man struck the older several times, killing him. Williams has been arrested and is in jail. Pridden's wife saw her husband killed.

Court Docket Next Week

The officers report that there about 35 cases to be tried at the next Recorder's court in Zebulon. Stealing, carrying concealed weapons, possession of liquor, disturbing public worship, resisting an officers, are among the charges.

High Point Mill Strike

Press reports today (Thursday) say the thousands of mill workers who have been on a strike now for some time will return to work. 3000 of them voted not to return to work or allow anyone else to enter the mills closed since July 18. They sang "God will take care of us," and "I shall not be moved."

So far no violence has been used, though definite threats have been made. The mills claim they have made all possible concessions. The strike came as the result of a proposed cut. In April the price paid for boarding hosiery was cut from $2.25 to $1.50 per hundred pairs. They have been offered $2.00 per hundred, but refused. They have turned down all proposals, holding out for their original demands although there was a large minority in favor of acceptance.

CLUB MEETS

The Wakefield Home Demonstration Club met on Wednesday p. m. with 14 members present and one visitor. Because of helping with the 4H Short Course Mrs. McInness was unable to be present, so there was no demonstration. Mrs. D. D. Chamblee had arranged a program of readings by Mrs. A. S. Bridges and Mrs. T. B. Davis. After a short business session the president, Mrs. Hoyle, called for a round table discussion of house-keeper's problems, which resulted in many helpful ideas being presented. Mrs. Mahlon Temple and Mrs. K. P. Leonard were elected to represent the club at the State College Short Course beginning Aug. 29.

The picture of Franklin D. Roosevelt was woven in the Textile School of North Carolina State College from a Jacquard design painted by N. R. Whitner, of Gastonia, a member of the 1932 graduating class, who was awarded the medal given by the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers to the most proficient Textile student in the class.

The weaving of this picture represents quite a bit of work on his part. A photograph was secured from the Governor's office in Albany and placed in a Saentis enlarging camera, which is a part of the equipment of the School used to enlarge and reproduce pictures of sketches upon design paper so that the outline can be traced, after which the design is painted and the correct shading added.

During the past four years Textile students of North Carolina State College have designed and woven pictures of the following governors: Albert C. Ritchie, Maryland; John G. Pollard, Virginia; O. Max Gardner, North Carolina; John G. Richards, South Carolina; L. G. Hardman, Georgia; Bibb Graves, Alabama.

The Textile School of North Carolina State College, Raleigh, N. C., will send a woven picture of Governor Roosevelt to any person requesting same, if a self-addressed, stamped envelop is enclosed with request.

The picture mentioned above may be seen with other samples of work done in the Textile department of State College in the front window of the Record office.

Rain At Last

News reports come telling of showers throughout North Carolina. In some places they were abundant, in others scarcely enough to satisfy the immediate needs of the thirsty vegetation—not enough to wet the earth's surface.

Near Hendersonville crops were damaged, fields flooded, buildings struck by lightning, power lines broken, and two children hurt. In Goldsboro hail fell.

Zebulon had a shower Wednesday evening that helped crops considerably, but even four or five times as much rain would scarcely have been sufficient. Much corn has been cut short half, and other crops are damaged past recovery.

FINAL EFFORT AT CORRECTION

Mr. Evans preached at Bethany church on What Christ Saw From the Cross. (If we don't get it right this time, his text will have to be whatever the linotype says it was.)

General News In Brief

REVENUE LOSSES

Washington, July.—Internal revenue collections for the fiscal year ended June 30 declined $873,000,000. Total Federal collections were $1,554,233,363—35 percent less than those of the fiscal year ending June 30 a year ago.

Thus it will be seen why the Congress has been in such a jam trying to balance the budget and to provide against further falling off of Federal income.

Only one State in the Union reported an increase. This was Nevada, which showed an advance of $271. Income taxes showed the greatest drop, 43 percent below collections of the previous fiscal year. The 1930-1931 yield was $1,860,040,497; that of 1931-1932, $1,056,879,000.

Returns from corporations slumped 38 percent, with a yield of $620,603,700 as against $1,026,392,699, while individual income taxes dropped 48 percent bringing in a total of $427,275,625.

Five States furnished 60 percent of the year's internal revenue. New York furnished $394,627,448; North Carolina, $231,139,541; Pennsylvania, $109,394,923; Illinois, $106,702,752; Virginia, $99,968,361. North Carolina was brought into second place by reason of its taxes on tobacco.

In the matter of income tax totals, the five leading states were New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan and Ohio.

BALLPLAYERS ARRESTED

Nineteen Ball-players, two umpires and the president of the Raleigh Baseball Club have been arrested for breaking the laws of the state as to observance of the Sabbath. The players all belong to the Raleigh and Winston-Salem teams, and have entered pleas of "not guilty." They have been granted an extension of time in which to prepare their cases and will be tried in August. Their lawyers claim that the law covering Sunday baseball is obsolete and has not been enforced for years.

If convicted the players would be subject to a fine of $100 each and the president of the club could be fined $25.00. Umpires rate in such fines as players, and would be liable $10.00 each.

RAIL USE OF TRUCKS

Railroads have been steadily expanding their use of motor trucks and buses to supplement their usual services, particularly on short-haul passenger and freight service. At the present time, 85 railroads are using trucks as a part of their shipping service, involving a total of 10,000 commercial vehicles.

Similarly, 80 steam railroads are now operating a fleet of 5,000 motor buses. In 1925, only 15 railroads were using trucks and their combined equipment consisted of 900 vehicles. In the same year, 300 buses were in use by 10 railroads.

GOVERNOR'S SON MARRIES

James Webb Gardner, son of the governor of North Carolina, was married last week in York, S. C., to Miss Iris Rollins of Mooresboro. After staying for a few days at the Governor's mansion in Raleigh, the young couple have gone for a few days at the Governor's Mansion in Raleigh, the young couple have gone to Shelby to live. They will occupy the Gardner home there.

OLYMPIC GAMES

The Olympic games, in which many nations will be represented in contests, will open in Los Angeles on Saturday. Five winners in a recent News and Observer subscription campaign left on Monday night to attend these games.

MANY ATTEND SUMMER SCHOOL

At the last session of the Wake Forest Summer School there was an enrollment of 486, the largest ever known there. Of those enrolled there were 444 from North Carolina, 80 of these being from Wake County.

CHARGE FOR FIRES

A city in California has adopted the plan of charging for the services of its fire department when a fire is caused by violation of its fire regulations. Records show that over half of the fires in the United States last year were intentionally set.

Mr. Medlin's son Owen, was also arrested about the same time charged with driving a car while under the influence of liquor, possession of liquor and disorderly conduct on the street.

Three Local Buildings Burn

Week before last, while O. D. Massey and his family were visiting in Zebulon, his pack house caught fire and was consumed. It was filled with oat hay, tobacco sticks and other farm supplies. The loss was several hundred dollars partly covered by insurance.

Last Friday night just as the people were gathering for a church service at the Wakefield colored Baptist church, Tom Ellis's home at the rear of the church was found to be on fire. The fire was consumed quickly. Part of the furnishings were saved.

Monday afternoon W. L. Wiggs' barn was burned. It caught from a wash fired by a fire under a wash pot in the back yard. The barn was a complete loss. With it was a wagon, truck, a lot of other farm implements, a quantity of corn and hay and a bale of cotton. The loss was over $1,000 above the insurance carried.

At one time it appeared Mr. Wiggs' residence would burn. The wind shifted or it doubtless would. The large shade trees protected it considerably from the heat and flames.

Holland's Magazine Lauds Stringfield

Capel Hill, July 25.—An account of the career and accomplishments of Lamar Stringfield, research assistant in the Institute of Folk Music at the University of North Carolina, at Capel Hill, appears in the August issue of Holland's Magazine.

Stringfield is the subject for "Modern Personalities," a regular feature of the magazine in which leading persons in the South are featured. The article praises Mr. Stringfield for originating the Institute of Folk Music. It also refers to one of three greatest American flutists. These three, it says, have been born within a few miles of the South, and they are: Henry Lanier, of Georgia; William Kincaid, first flutist with the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, and Lamar Stringfield.

H. H. Phifer is the author of the article.

... should be of special interest to Record readers, since Lamar Stringfield's parents, Rev. and Mrs. O. D. Stringfield, once lived in Wakefield. Stringfield was at the head of the Wakefield Academy faculty and with his wife lived in the house now occupied by Rev. A. A.
