OUR PRESIDENT!

Whether it was our will or not, Mr. Roosevelt will be our next President. As we said last week, we believe it will be the best for the country that a different party has come into power. No doubt more or less corruption had crept into the government. The party in power had in some measure lost its sense of responsibility to the people. Big business, we are told, had gotten a strangle-hold on the national life.

Now the party who claimed they could make things better, could lift the depression off the country, has its chance. With a President, Senate, and House all overwhelmingly Democratic, there will be no excuse whatever because of obstruction by the opposition. Not long ago Mr. Hoover said in speech over the radio that almost every proposal he made for relief was obstructed and defeated by a Democratic House. The Democrats will have no such excuse.

So, here's to our President! Regardless of his political affiliations, he is my, your, everybody's President. And each citizen should give his loyal support as he takes hold of the helm of the ship of State to steer it through four years of every sort of weather. Just being a good citizen is far more important than that of being a good Democrat or a good Republican.

YOUR SUBSCRIPTION

The editor wants to speak this personal word to his subscribers. We made an announcement in last week's RECORD about the payment of subscriptions, offering to take "most any old thing" in payment. So far we have not even got a "rag" to show for our request.

Subscriber, please look at your label on this paper. If you find after your name "Jan. 1932", then that means that you owe us for this year's subscription $1.50. We want to keep sending you the paper, but cannot unless you pay "in kind" or cash. We have carried your name all the year. You have received the RECORD each week. We hope you have enjoyed reading it. May we not hear from you with a load of wood, a bag of potatoes, some chickens, molasses hay, clean rags, or pure cash. Again we thank you.

CURB MARKET IN PROSPECT

Sometime ago we mentioned the matter of establishing a curb market in Zebulon for the accommodation of the community and the farmers from the country. Mayor Massey was heartily in sympathy with the movement. Mr. Sexton, the town clerk, also favored the movement, and went so far as to see about securing a building. But nothing further at the time was done.

Now the Woman's Club has taken hold of this proposition. It is their intention to secure a suitable place and make arrangements for opening the market soon. There are three or four vacant buildings in town that might be secured without cost till the owner could find a permanent occupant. We understand that there is at least one that may be had without rent till a renter is found. If such a building could be secured, and then fitted with stalls or shelves, and a rest room for women from the country, we believe it would be a great help to the business life of Zebulon. There the house wives might find vegetables for dinner fresh from the country, and get eggs and meats and other things usually sold on a curb market. It would in no wise hurt the trade of the local business men. For the money realized by those marketing would be spent in the local stores and the merchants would be saved the trouble of having to find purchasers for produce bought. Then, too, the dealer in produce and poultry products could go to the curb market and buy in quantity just what he needed any day to fill out his stock.

We hope the ladies of the Club will see this undertaking to a finish. There will be little cost to anyone and the benefits derived will be great to all concerned. The RECORD will give support to the movement in every possible way through its columns.

Holloway's Hits

By James Holloway.

Regardless of the result of the National election on November the 8th, the Democrats of the nation cannot be deprived of the thrill of an anticipated victory. With only ten more days to go, every sign points to a great Democratic victory. "When the Gods wish to destroy, they first make mad" is an old axiom which applies with peculiar and appropriate force to the Republicans from President Hoover down. Never before in the political history of this country has a President of the United States displayed such undignified annoyance towards his opponent as President Hoover has shown in his recent speeches. He has not restrained himself from uttering that short ugly word of three letters in his passionate denunciation of statements made by his honorable opponent and other prominent Democratic statesmen. His public demeanor is that of a desperate man, who seems too bewildered to uphold the dignity of the great office he now holds when faced with certain defeat. In his Indianapolis speech the press reports made mention of his seeming annoyance at a fly that continued to buzz around his head while he was speaking. The President made several ineffective passes at the troublesome insect but the fly refused to leave. It is a well known fact that flies are always the first to discover death, they are first on the scene after the demise of any living thing. It is simply impossible to fool a fly. That Indianapolis fly evidently knew that Mr. Hoover's political demise was very near and he proposed to be on the spot when that event took place.

The coming week will witness great political activity all over America although it is extremely doubtful that all the speaking and writing will change many votes, the people have already made the decision and indications point to their determination to turn their thumbs down on Mr. Hoover and give the Democrats a chance to do something. If the Democrats fail to bring the relief the country expects from them, they will be banished for all future time from the National government at the election four years from now. The people are not voting for Governor Roosevelt on personal grounds, he is simply the only available means of defeating Mr. Hoover. The Democratic Presidential candidate has not captured the imagination of a majority of the voters in his campaign for election. He is on trial before the country and many votes will be cast for him by people who look with suspicion and doubt on his purpose or ability to solve the mighty problems which will confront the next President. The present national campaign has an analogy to the senatorial campaign here in North Carolina two years ago, when Senator Simmons was defeated by Josiah William Bailey. Democrats of North Carolina voted against Senator Simmons who mortally hated Bailey and his large majority was in no sense a personal victory but an indignant protest against the Senator from Newbern. We certainly hope them a happy life.

Mrs. Inez and Audrey Pippin, of Bunn, was a Saturday night guest of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Mitchell. Mrs. Perry Mitchell, of near Mitchell's Mill, is a visitor of her son, C. W. Mitchell, and granddaughter, Mrs. Gladys Arnold.

The state democratic campaign continues to drag along some distance ahead of the Republican campaign. The Democrats will carry the state from Governor and United States Senator down to township constable. Even the Sinking Fund wreckers here in Wake County will be elected. The state Republican organization is bankrupt in both principle and leadership. With the possible exception of Jake Newell, their senatorial candidate, and Clifford Frazier, their candidate for Governor, the balance of the nominees on the state ticket are totally unknown to the voters throughout the state. Jake Newell will lose to Bob Reynolds by at least 150,000 majority. Clifford Frazier will not be as badly beaten by Ehringhaus but his defeat is certain.

Most of the Democratic activity in this campaign is confined to the women and the young Democratic organizations throughout the state. They have been tireless in their efforts to arouse the voters and whatever the size of the majority may be on election day will be largely attributable to the work they have done and are now doing. The old line politicians are encouraging them to work without pay or money, but after the election the rewards that come their way will be very slim. Every possible piece of political patronage has already been catalogued by the Democratic bosses and already advocated to certain favorite henchmen. This includes both state and federal patronage. Hon. Herbert Gully is reported to have informed certain aswill dispense all the patronage coming from Federal sources to North Carolina. He modified his statement to the extent "We" may allow Bob Reynolds to control the federal patronage for his home town and County. Watch for the terrible scramble after November the 8th for political repercussion for many years to come. It is a safe prediction that the mad scramble for office after the election of Mr. Roosevelt will hasten the inevitable defeat of the Democratic party in North Carolina a few years from now. It is disgusting to observe Republicans in their frantic efforts to connect with the public payroll but it is both shameful and disgraceful to see Democrats striving by any means, be it fair or foul, to land a public job.

This will be the last appearance of this department before the National election takes place. The voters of Wake County are being urged to vote a straight Democratic ticket from President to Township Constable without protest on November the 8th. Four candidates have been nominated by the Democrats of Wake for the next General Assembly. Do you know what any one or all of your legislative candidates stand for, Mr. Voter? You should know as it most vitally concerns each one of you. Are they going to represent or will they follow the lead of their predecessors and vote for special legislation favorable to the few at the expense of the many? It will be too late after they are elected to secure a solemn promise from them to represent you rather than some special interest. See your legislative candidate before the election and be sure to have a distinct understanding with him before you give him your support at the ballot box.
