ZEBULON, NORTH CAROLINA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER SIXTH, 1936

NUMBER 18

This, That And The Other.

MRS. THEO. B. DAVIS

I am all tangled up in what I usually call my mind, and can't seem to add up all the arguments and find the right answer. Much as I hate to be a thrower of cold water or a smotherer in wet blankets, the time has come when I am almost forced to the conclusion that the whole thing is too much for me.

I'm talking about joining things Not the church, but other organizations. And not merely social clubs, but the Parent-Teacher Association, the Woman's Club and its departments, the Daughters of the Confederacy, the Eastern Star, the Rebekahs—or Rachels, or whatever they are—and so on and on and on. They are all good, worth more or less to the individual according to age, preference and other things.

Let's begin with the church—as I believe everyone should. Teach a class in Sunday school or attend regularly; go at least once a month to Workers Council or Teachers Meeting; average at least six preaching services a month (four at your own church and the morning services at another on the other two Sundays if you belong to a half-time church); go to prayer-meeting at least once in a while; attend a class meeting occasionally; go to the missionary society and circle; that is enough to take a woman away from her home fairly often. But she needs contacts and ideas not to be had from these meetings, important as they are. All right.

Take one meeting a month at which she may study some phase of housekeeping, or as we put it now, homemaking. Also one meeting to study literature, and one general meeting of a club at which some other practical or cultural program is put on. Include one P. T. A. meeting, which all should attend who have children in school or who can find time to go, and don't forget to count the P. T. A. study class at which you may learn how to solve some of your problems in bringing up your youngsters. Add all these and what do you get? Tired!

If we didn't have to change our dresses to go to things it wouldn't take quite so much time. And we have to find some one to look after the children while we go out to try to learn how to raise 'em right; and at times on coming home, we find things in such a mess we forget our newly-acquired knowledge and fall back on our old ways of hurrying and worrying.

It may be that the mothers who most need the programs we arrange on family problems are too busy to attend the meetings. Pity knows I never could have them all in when my children were small. And my husband was extra good about letting them hang around where he was working or I couldn't have done as much going as I did.

We who plan meetings ought to be sure we have something that will repay a busy mother for leaving her work and her babies and having to rush back to do the night's work. Often I've felt they were cheated by having to sit and listen

Regular preaching services will be held at the Methodist church here next Sunday morning and evening at 11:00 and 7:30.

The last session of the quarterly conference will be held on Wednesday night of next week, Nov. 11th, in the Zebulon church. This is of special importance since the annual conference will be held on November 19th and all church reports must be in hand before that time.

Pastor Herring with J. T. Robertson, A. C. Dawson, C. B. Eddins and Mesdames T. M. Conn and Philip Massey attended the sessions of the Raleigh Association last week representing the local church.

At the close of the service of worship last Sunday night at the Baptist church Rev. Theo. Davis baptized four candidates into the fellowship of the Zebulon church and two into that of Social Plain.

Next Monday is Missionary Society Day in Zebulon. Let all members take note.

The Johnston Association met this week on Wednesday and Thursday with the Lee's Chapel church. It was attended by four pastors from here: Revs. A. A. Pippin, R. H. Herring, A. D. Parrish and Theo Davis.

Baptist women in particular and the cause of missions sustained a great loss in the death last Saturday of Miss Elsie Hunter of Raleigh. For years she had been treasurer of the State W. M. U. She was the sister of Mrs. G. E. Isaacs, who formerly lived in Zebulon and used to visit here.

Wreck in Zebulon

On last Saturday a car in which were Negroes returning from Wilson ran from the highway against a tree, ramming the engine back against the front seat. Two men, Media Moore of near Zebulon and Tom Williams of Raleigh, were so badly injured that they died soon after being rushed to the hospital. The driver, Paul Dunn, is being held. A fourth occupant of the car, who said he was a hith-hiker, was unhurt and ran from the scene of the accident as rapidly as possible.

There is a variation in stories told about the accident. One says a passing car sideswiped the one driven by Dunn. Another states that too rapid traveling on a curve was the cause. The wreck occurred beyond Privette's station near the eastern edge of town.

As stated in the beginning, it is hard to know just what should be done about it. To go or not to go, that is the question. Whether 'twere better to leave our duties in orer to study about them, or to stay at home and try to work out our own salvation. And each must decide for herself—or let her husband do the deciding for her.

Public Character

Representing the law of county and state in our midst is the subject of this week's Public Character. He is a member of the local Council of the Junior Order. Succeeding his father in the office which he holds, he is known as both zealous and efficient in the discharge of his duties. While it is probable that no one is less in need of an introduction, we take pleasure in presenting

Local Returns

Election Day passed off quietly in this precinct. With G. C. Massey casting the first vote there was balloting until late in the afternoon with the usual rush of late comers.

A partial digest of the votes cast shows that 907 were cast for Roosevelt and 37 for Landon. Little River did its part for a continuance of the national New Deal.

Harold Cooley received 901 votes, the highest number cast for any state candidate for office, his opponent, Ferree, getting 28, the lowest number recorded. J. W. Bailey received 847 votes to his opponent's 43.

Hoey had nearly six times the vote of Grissom with 777 to 131. For lieutenant governor Horton had 837 votes, and the Republican candidate had 51. Armstrong, judge in the 15th district, received the smallest vote of any state Democratic candidate, 836. The fact that this was only 65 less than the number received by Cooley indicates that most Little River Democrats

P. T. A.

The meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association for November will be held at 7:30 on Monday night of next week instead of Tuesday night. The change was made necessary by a conflict in dates of scheduled events at Wakejon.

State Supt. Clyde Erwin will be present with a message appropriate to the time and a full attendance is desired. The enrollment is still short of the goal for the year. Parents are urged to become members and all others interested are invited.

Mrs. Lester Green, chmn., asks that all room representatives meet on Monday night thirty minutes before the time set for the P. T. A. This will be an important session as well as the first of the year for these representatives.

The Study Class of the P. T. A. met on Monday P. M. in the Baptist church. The day's lesson was taught by Mrs. F. E. Bunn, who added to the text found in the book experiences and incidents from her own life as parent and teacher. A pleasing, though impromptu, feature of the meeting was that informal discussion of problems was spontaneous during the progress of the study, making this one of the most helpful sessions the class has had. The subject, Heredity and Environment, held interest for all.

Mesdames Herring, Victoria Gill, M. T. Debnam and Newell, assisted by Misses Elizabeth Pearce and Cornelia Herring, served refreshments.

AN OPEN LETTER—
To The President—
Dear Mr. President:

By now you are probably over the celebration of your election. You have come to the place where the real headaches begin. We, the people who elected you, have profited during the passing administration and are gladly willing to try again with you at the wheel.

We know not what you have planned. We only trust that you will rectify old mistakes and avoid new ones. We have the ultimate faith in you that it is necessary to success, we have shown it by the landslide voting of last Tuesday.

Mr. President, I am only one of the millions of voters, but I ask for all, don't let us down.

To Mr. Landon—
Dear Mr. Landon:

You have sent your congratulations to the new president. You have admitted defeat in a manly style. We admire you for it.

Please, Mr. Landon, don't knock the new administration like a poor sport. Fall in line like all good Americans should and help us make this the best four years ever used to regain a footing on the corner that prosperity has been around. Help us to see prosperity on every hand, as, with proper cooperation, we will, don't let us down.

To The World—
Dear World:

You have seen what the American people have done in one day. You know our strength as was sampled in the World War. You know that on every hand war clouds loom with the exception of American continents. You know that you can force us into war, or keep us out. We are expecting you to give us no cause for entry. Don't let us down.

To God—
Dear All-Father:

We are embarking on another journey that will lead us up or down. We have placed at our head one who we believe is one of thine. One to whom we have given almost undivided support. Lead him as he should be led, and we feel that he will follow. Help us to help him in everything that is right. Bless us as a nation and as individuals as you have done in the past for all of which we are duly grateful. Help us not to let thee down. We ask in thy name, Amen.

P. S. Bless the Republicans and the Literary Digest too, they need it.

Most sincerely,
The Swashbuckler.
