and Home Made Ice Cream

After the egg rolling contest or egg hunt there is nothing quite as delightful as a big freezer brimming with home made ice cream.

Mrs. Donald Stallings (Pauline) is one of those housekeepers who love to try out new recipes. She gave us her latest lemon pie, and we like it very much. If you object to the taste given by using flour or cornstarch for thickening the custard, try this.

Pauline said she got the recipe from Mrs. Avon Privette, to whom it had been given by Mrs. W. R. Collie of Kinston.

Beat the yolks of three eggs with one cupful of sugar until light, then add the juice of one lemon. To this add a cupful of loaf bread soaked in all the water it will absorb, and cook the mixture slowly until it is thick, when a lump of butter is to be stirred in. Just let your taste and the amount of butter you have on hand decide the size of the lump. Bake the crust of the pie before pouring in the filling. Top with a meringue made of the whites of the three eggs beaten with six tablespoonsful of sugar, added a spoonful at a time. Bake in a very slow oven until meringue browns. Use more lemon if you prefer. This is the sort of pie you like to have when company comes or when you tell your husband you need a new hat.

After reading this column last week, Mrs. Murray out at Union Hope sent me word that she had found a corncomb makes a fairly good currycomb when one does a cow a good turn by scratching her neck or her head. And so does a rough piece of pine bark.

But if you want to see real gratitude, scratch a pig.

CHURCH NEWS

The Circles of the Baptist W. M. S. met on Monday, the Northside group with Mrs. C. V. Whitley, the Central with Mrs. E. C. Daniel, the Southside with Mrs. Fred Hales. Since this is the last meeting for the quarter, all circle treasurers are asked to take to Mrs. E. C. Daniel the collections for the three months of this year.

A missionary program will be given at the Baptist church next Sunday morning and a special offering will be taken for Home Missions.

The W. M. S. of the Methodist Church met on Monday p. m. in the parsonage. Mrs. C. E. Flowers presided in the absence of Mrs. Campen, and also directed the program. Educational Advantages of Scarratt College were discussed by Mesdames A. R. House, Guy Massey, M. J. Sexton, and J. W. Bradley.

The Raleigh Sunday School Association will hold a meeting with the church at Cary on next Sunday afternoon. Rev. T. S. Lawrence is pastor and will preside over the meeting. It is hoped that the Zebulon church may be well represented.

Church School, 10 A. M., Dr. J. F. Coletrane, Supt. Everybody be on time rain or shine — Wanted 160 present.

Opportunity to be given for Christening babies at 11. Easter sermon and appropriate music. Members to be received.

Mrs. W. C. Campen and Mrs. G. Barbee spent the weekend with friends in Pamlico County.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

Wakelon's 55 juniors entertained the 43 members of the senior class at a banquet on Friday night of last week. Additional guests were faculty members, members of the school board and their wives, and room representatives of the P. -T. A., who brought the number present to 130. Under the supervision of Mrs. J. W. Valentine, Misses Mary Palmer and Esther Lee Cox of Wakelon's high school faculty, the occasion was most enjoyable.

A booklet entitled "Memories" held the class rolls of seniors and juniors with the date; names of faculty members; the menu, which was given in nautical terms; the evening's program; and blank pages for autographs and memories.

The program portrayed a ship with officers and crew and the decorations in red and white emphasized the idea. Margaret Watson as captain welcomed the guests. The junior class song was given by the crew. Evelyn Carroll as first mate toasted the seniors, the response being made by Mike Eddins. Thomas Bell, second mate, toasted the school board and Dr. Massey responded. A quartet of cabin boys sang. Bruce Williams, boatswain, toasted the faculty to which Mr. Moser replied. Cornelia Herring, steward, gave a toast to grade-parents with Mrs. C. M. Watson responding. The toast to cooks was by Ercell Littleton as sea-cook. A group of sailors danced. Anne Hicks gave a reading and the last number was Shipmates Forever by mermaids.

After this the guests were invited to the gymnasium where dancing was enjoyed. Here decorations again were carried out in red and white.

EASTER EGG HUNT

There will be an Easter Egg Hunt at the church playground, Friday, March 26, at 4:00 o'clock for all children.

Children are requested to bring eggs. The mothers are invited also.

Mrs. Hunter Bell, Playground Director.

An ad in a daily of last Sunday stated that two men were wanted to do "thirty days work between the ages of thirty and forty-five." Sounds like a nice job for those who care to work only two days a year.

PLAN PLAY NIGHT

At a meeting of the local Recreation Committee here on Wednesday night Miss Louise Dickinson, District Supervisor, and Miss Catherine Donlon, Wake County Supervisor were present.

Since the treasury is empty and funds are needed for purchasing equipment for the playground, plans were made for Play Night in the gymnasium at Wakelon on Thursday night, April 1.

A basketball game will be one feature of the entertainment. In addition a game will be played by business men of the community—whose business is NOT Basketball. Other stunts will be presented and Miss Donlon promises to bring down the Dixie Hot Shots from Raleigh. The Hot Shots are boys from the Caraleigh Recreation Center and their performance has won much praise.

YE Flap-doodle

By THE SWASHBUCKLER

Since I've been riding a bicycle to and from work, when the weather permits, people have again begun shaking their heads and tapping them gently with a forefinger. Up to the present I thought they were tipping their hats, but recently I've noticed that some of them don't have on hats. I just want to thank those doing this for their courtesy. I may not have seen some of them, but I'm sure they realize that riding a bicycle is hard work, and the effort it takes to say "howdy" if transferred into energy and conveyed to my pedal appendages would furnish the necessary locomotion to carry me a block, more or less.

However, I am forced to believe that Brown person of the banking service doesn't exactly smile, he laughs out loud. I don't mind it though, because I think he's just jealous of my new red bicycle. Yah! Yah!

Did you ever notice how people give the wrong impression with things they say? They mean well, but they just slip up and say the wrong thing. For instance—

I went into a drug store recently and asked for a certain brand of pills and while the druggist was wrapping them he commented — "These surely are good pills—my sister took them till she died".

Of course the pills didn't kill her, and I knew what he meant—but the way it sounded.

While my wife was recuperating from double pneumonia in Mary Elizabeth Hospital last year, one of the local ministers would ask concerning her condition each day. After every conversation, he would end with—"Well, I hope she gets well". Of course I understood, but it was amusing.

Mrs. C. T. Williams was taken to the hospital with pneumonia a few years ago, and Mr. Williams gave the hospital my father's telephone number which they were to call in case Mrs. Williams became worse. Mr. Williams was up early one morning and glancing up the road, saw Dad's car coming at a fast clip toward him. The car came on into the yard and pulled up beside Bro. Tommie.

Everyone knows how slowly my father talks when he tries and he dragged out—"Well, I've got some news for you. (without smiling). Mr. Williams' heart stopped momentarily and he gulped "What is it?" "The hospital phoned and said your wife is, that is— your wife— er, they said for you to come after her. She's well enough to come home."

Mr. Williams still contends that "the Preacher shouldn't have done me like that".

Sincerely,
The Swashbuckler.

Negroes Held in Murder Case

Moss and Dolly Worley, are in jail in Raleigh with the killing of the husband, Walter Worley. It is claimed that Dolly tried for weeks to kill her husband with a logging crew and had been told by fellow-workers that his wife and Moss were too intimate, but is said to have replied that "Dolly wouldn't play like that." Finally, finding Moss in his home, Worley became angered and the killing is held to be the result. Moss contends that the woman did the stabbing, while she declared the assailant was an unidentified man on the highway.
