CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS

DEDICATION SERVICE

A congregation that filled the auditorium of the Baptist church almost to capacity gathered for the dedication service last Sunday. Many friends from other churches were among the number.

A choir of children sang Lift Up Your Heads, O, Ye Gates as a prelude. Dr. Townsend preached on A Worthy Church, emphasizing the facts of Duty, Responsibility, and Opportunity. He declared the church should touch the whole life of the whole man; that a worthy church must have a worthy program; that the membership must be actively Christian, conscious of the church's mission and able through Christ to accomplish it.

Following the sermon Pastor Herring spoke briefly of the final payment on the church debt, culminating years of effort, and of loyalty of many who were faithful through all discouragements until the amount was raised. Treasurer John Kemp came to the front with a bundle of cancelled notes, which were burned. A short history of the church with names of pastors was given by Theo. B. Davis. John Broughton gave a roster of former leading members who have died. Mrs. J. A. Kemp, who has been a member of the organization for 63 years, was given special recognition. J. M. Whitley was mentioned as having been a member for more than 50 years. Special mention was also made of the "third John"—J. D. Horton—who so faithfully worked toward the reduction of the debt. Mrs. L. M. Massey sang a solo, The Holy City and the final prayer was led by the pastor.

The revival meeting at the Baptist church closed on Sunday night. There were 33 additions for baptism and by letter or relation. Dr. Townsend's sermons were heard by large congregations and were well received, both his personality and his message being liked here.

The ordinance of baptism will be administered by the pastor at the Baptist church at the close of the evening worship on the first Sunday in July. All candidates are requested to be ready on that date.

DAYS TO SHORTEN

With the official beginning of summer on June 21 comes the reminder that the length of days will begin to decrease until the latter part of December. The difference will not be noticeable for weeks, but the September equinox is the next fixed date for the seasons—which in these parts pay little attention to the calendar.

BASEBALL HERE SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

There will be ball games on the diamond Saturday and Sunday. On Saturday the home team will play Angier and on Sunday the home team will be with the Clayton play-

Manager Jones is encouraged by showing his boys have made progress and desires a continuance of interest and cooperation.

WAKE GOES WET

The majorities turned in against "liquor control" in Wake county on Tuesday were put in a total minority by the Raleigh vote. Wake county going for control by a majority of 1,300. All smaller towns in the county went dry, with the exception of Garner. Zebulon voted: For Stores, 220 — Against Stores, 269. Mitchell's Mill vote of 116 for and 43 against, the precinct going wet by a majority of 24.

It is expected that the Board of Commissioners will at once appoint a board of alcoholic control and that the first store will open inside a month.

The balloting is hailed by the county chairman of the wets as "a great victory for temperance".

Wake's voting places the county as the fifth to go for control and ties the result in the state to date. Ten counties having held elections this year. The others going wet are Durham, Dare, Washington and Johnston. Nash and Franklin had liquor stores before 1937, as did a number of other counties.

Postoffice Painted

The inside walls and ceiling of the rooms occupied by the postoffice are receiving new coats of paint in ivory and seal brown. This improvement is quite noticeable, and while it will probably add nothing to efficiency in the distribution of mail, does make for attractiveness and for comfort in that it lessens eye-strain through providing more light.

N. B. The front windows of the Record Shop have been washed.

HIKING TRIP

With Dr. J. F. Coltrane mainly responsible and with Mrs. Coltrane aiding and abetting, some two dozen boys in or near their teens enjoyed this week a hike to Clifton's Pond, fifteen miles away.

Plans had been made carefully, "rations" of bacon, bread, potatoes, eggs, and butter had been provided with a blanket for each boy and with a separate lunch packed for Tuesday. This impedimenta was loaded into the Coltrane car before the hikers left at 5:03 a. m. with Dr. Coltrane. Later in the morning Mrs. Coltrane drove to the pond to deliver the load and incidentally to pick up walkers who might have fallen by the wayside. Most of the boys made the distance under their own power, though some added hitch-hiking to hiking.

Late Tuesday afternoon, D. C. Pearce, G. K. Corbett, A. S. Hinton, C. E. Parker and M. T. Debnam, whose sons were in the party, went to the pond carrying lemons, ice and fish as an addition to the supper, which they helped consume. A. S. Hinton spent the night with the crowd.

The boys might have sung that line of hymn which goes "My rest is a stone" as they went to sleep upon—or among—rocks. But they were tired, full and happy, and they slept, not even the prize-fight via radio keeping them all awake to its finish.

The return to Zebulon was on Wednesday morning when the Debnam, Hinton and Corbett cars aided transportation.

Boys making the trip were: Jeff- (Continued on back page.)

YE Flap-doodle

By THE SWASH-BUCKLER

Browsing thru a pile of jokes clipped from a 1931 Ballyhoo I find the following.

First up is the one about the gent who, while in an inebriated state went into a barber shop to get a bottle of hair tonic. The barber informed him that the tonic would grow hair over-night.

Next morning the gentleman again visited the barber—

"Hey! That stuff you gave me to grow hair ish no good. Look at the bumps on my head."

"Oh, my goodness," replied the near-sighted barber, "I gave you a bottle of my new bust-developer."

And the gal who told her mother that a local boy had tried to put his arm around her three times the night before, and her mother commented— "Gosh, what an arm!"

Over in Wake Forest recently I saw one of the local young men and wishing to find out a few facts asked — "Are you a college man?" "Oh", no he replied, "A horse just stepped on my hat."

Overheard in Raleigh, corner of Fayetteville and Hargett—

"What kind of a dog is that?"

"He's a spaniel, ma'm."

"My, my, isn't it a good thing he isn't over there now?"

Red McCarthy's (Wake Forest) instructions for finding an intelligent girl—

"Tickle her under the chin. If she laughs, she's intelligent; if she don't, duck!"

And Little Audry laughed and laughed. She knew everyone was a danged fool for reading her jokes.

DOG STORY NUMBER 2

Pardon me, my friend, but is that a genuine blood-hound you have on your leash?"

"Sure—Oscar, come over here and bleed for the man!"

And the lady who telephoned the desk clerk in a leading Raleigh hotel — "There's a rat in my room!"

And the clerk replied—"O. K. lady. Make him come down and register."

Our idea of a difficult task is— Squeezing shaving cream back into the tube.

DOG JOKE(?) NUMBER 3

"There's no use trying to sell me that cheap dog for a watch dog."

"Why not?"

"Because a bargain dog never bites."

(Whew!)

"Pray let me kiss your hand," said he

With looks of burning love; "I can remove my veil," said she, "Much easier than my glove."

Sapcerely,
The Swashbuckler.

Information Wanted:

I am once more waging my annual campaign to induce folks to try eating beets with butter or gravy instead of vinegar and to cook all of the apples they use for sauce and run the mass through a colander to take out peel and seeds. Not much progress can be reported, however; Ephraim is joined to his idols. Query: Which is Ephraim?
